BLANQUET FORCES LAND IN MEXICO FOR REVOLUTION

Join Diaz Army of 40,000, Scattered in Fifteen States, Who Are Fighting Carranza.

WASHINGTON IS INFORMED

HOLD PORTS ON GULF COAST

Gen. Blanquet, Leaving New York in January, Organized Expedition in West Indies.

General Aurelio Blanquet, who is today the best known of living Mexican soldiers, formerly the trusted friend of Porfirio Diaz and organizer of the old Federal Guard of Mexico City, and who as a Sergeant commanded the squad that executed sentence on the Emperor Maximilian, and more recently was Minister of War in the Cabinet of Victoriano Huerta, has landed in Mexico and joined the forces of Felix Diaz. General Blanquet's representatives in New York announced yesterday that his landing in the State of Vera Cruz was for the definite purpose of aiding the movement now under way to overthrow Venustiano Carranza and to place in power a Government that will be "pro-Ally" in its sympathies and will promulgate and enforce laws that will guarantee to all persons in Mexico the rights of life and property.

General Blanquet's American representatives have headquarters at 320 Broadway and it was there that Roberto Gayon, personal representative of the General, announced yesterday afternoon General Blanquet's safe arrival on Mexican soil. Blanquet, accompanied by six trusted friends, all of them followers of the late Porfirio Diaz, landed on what is known as the Sotavento Coast, a barren strip of sand about half way between Vera Cruz and Tampico. Twenty-four hours after he landed General Blanquet arrived at the headquarters of Felix Diaz, who is the head of the new revolutionary movement, and immediately began, it was announced, the reorganization of the fighting units under Diaz's command. The Diaz forces, it was stated, now number about 40,000 well armed and equipped men, who are scattered in detachments of from a few hundred to several thousand men in fifteen of the twenty-seven States of Mexico, the number now with Diaz and Blanquet being estimated at between 10,000 and 15,000.

Many Elements in Movement.

The Diaz-Blanquet movement in Mexico is considered by well-informed Mexicans to be the best organized and equipped movement of the kind that has grown up since the overthrow of Porfirio Diaz by Francisco Madero in 1911. It combines the strength and following of three of the most powerful elements in the life of the disturbed country to the south of the Rio Grande. These elements are the followers of the late General Diaz and his nephew, the head of the present movement, who are known as Diazistas; a majority of the Maderistas, who are the followers of the late President Madero, and a considerable part of the Zapata faction. Many other elements, not so numerous in personnel or so well known, are also a part of the Diaz-Blanquet movement.

General Blanquet sailed from New York for a port in the West Indies on Jan. 8 last. He was provided with proper passports and credentials, and his departure was known only to a few of his intimate friends, among them Mr. Gayon and Pedro del Villar, the latter one of the principal representatives of the movement in this city. Before he sailed General Blanquet announced that he was embarking on an adventure which he intended to fight through to victory or death.

"Gayon," he said, as he bade his friend good-bye, "when next I see you it will be either in Mexico or in eternity—let us hope in Mexico."

General Blanquet was accompanied by General Juan Montano, who is to be his Chief of Staff; Brig. Gen. Enrique Gonzales, a member of one of the wealthiest families of Mexico, who is to be his artillery chief; Colonel Luis Acosta, Captain Guillermo Rosas, and two aids. All of these officers, with the exception of the aids, were important commanders under Blanquet during the period that Blanquet was in command of the troops in the Federal District of Mexico in the last days of the Porfirio Diaz régime.

Expedition Reaches Mexico.

On their arrival in the West Indies General Blanquet and his staff proceeded to an unfrequented port where on March 14 they embarked on a 100-ton sailing ship that had been chartered to take them to the Vera Cruz coast. They arrived at the appointed place on the Mexican coast the first part of this week. There they were met by a guard sent by Felix Diaz and were escorted to Texpalaxco, the headquarters of the Diaz forces.

The new Diaz-Blanquet army is being organized into seven divisions, under command of General of Division Pedro Gabay, R. F. Cejudo, Louis M. Barron, Constantino Galan, Joaquin J. Castro, Gabriel A. Carballo, and Albino R. Carrillo. All of these officers are graduates of the old Military School of Mexico City, and, with the exception of Carballo, all were Colonels in the old Fed-

Reports Bavaria Seeking an Alliance with Russia

BERLIN, April 3, (via Copenhagen.)—The Bavarian Government has begun negotiations for the conclusion of an alliance with Russia, according to advices from Munich.

The Bavarian Volkszeitung explains that the Government's action is due to the fact that the food supply from the Entente is insufficient and inadequately assured, whereas grain is obtainable from Russia.

The Tageszeitung reports that the Hungarian dictator, Bela Kun, arrived in Munich yesterday, accompanied by a large suite. This report has not been confirmed.

4-BILLION-DOLLAR CONGRESS AHEAD

Strict Economy Necessary to Hold Down to That, Says Representative Good.

FACING NEW PEACE BASIS

Interest on National Debt of $24,000,000,000 Equal to Pre-War Expenses.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Representative James W. Good of Iowa, who will be Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the next Congress, estimates the total war appropriations of Congress at $47,110,935,260.79. He says strict economy will be necessary in the next Congress in order to keep expenditures within estimated revenues, but predicts that the Government never will return to the pre-war basis of expenditures.

A statement issued by Mr. Good today reads in part:

"The failure of Congress to pass eight great supply bills, carrying over $3,470,000,000, makes an accurate statement at this time respecting appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, impossible. It will be necessary to convene Congress in extra session to pass the appropriation bills that failed.

Status of Appropriations.

"The following statement of appropriations made and of appropriation bills which failed of enactment, but which passed the House, indicates the requirements of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, and for deficiencies for the present fiscal year:

APPROPRIATION LAWS ENACTED.

Diplomatic and Consular	$9,843,661.67
Fortification	11,214,291.00
Legislative, &c.	97,940,431.77
Pension	215,030,000.00
Second deficiency fiscal year 1919	292,714,084.71
Postal	531,466,149.00
Rivers and harbors	33,378,364.00
Military Academy	2,277,932.20

Note.—Postal item does not include $78,000,000 carried for road construction for the fiscal year 1921.

APPROPRIATIONS IN MISCELLANEOUS ACTS.

Revenue act	$7,525,000.00
Bureau of Mines, testing of lignites	100,000.00
Relief in Europe	100,000,000.00
Coos Bay wagon road lands	246,463.07
Hospitals, public health service	9,835,333.00
Probation system, District of Columbia	8,000.00
Wheat guarantee	1,000,000,000.00
Private acts	640.40

PERMANENT ANNUAL AND INDEFINITE APPROPRIATIONS, (ESTIMATED.)

Miscellaneous permanents and indefinites	$77,266,880.00
Expenses floating Lib. Loans	8,000,000.00
Increased compensation	25,000,000.00
Interest	1,000,000,000.00
Bond redemption fund, (estimated)	964,020,000.00

STATUS OF APPROPRIATION BILLS WHICH FAILED OF ENACTMENT.

Agriculture (passed H. of R.)	$31,673,022.00
Army, (passed H. of R.)	1,070,529,088.56
Dist. of Col., (passed H. of R.)	14,093,701.00
Navy, (passed H. of R.)	720,793,000.33
Sundry civil, (passed H. of R.)	851,171,849.25
Third deficiency fiscal year 1919, (passed H. of R.)	26,937,265.03
Indian (conference)	11,006,507.03
Railroad appropriation, (passed H. of R.)	750,000,000.00
Total	$3,476,264,523.20
Grand total	$7,862,129,754.02

Appropriation necessary to meet a present deficiency in "General Appropriations Quartermaster Corps," $829,375,295.10.

Additional expenditures under previous appropriations necessary to discharge war contracts and expenditures in making loans already authorized to Allies, (estimated,) $1,500,000,000.00.

Total, $10,191,565,049.12.

In addition, allowance must be made for increases by the Senate to the bills which failed, and also for such additional appropriations as may be initiated during the first session of the Sixty-sixth Congress.

"The appropriations to supply deficiencies in the various departments are chargeable against the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, and when deducted from the total of the appropriations it will be found that the total revenue will fall short of meeting the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, by approximately $3,500,000,000. Part of this deficit will no doubt be made up from war salvage receipts. The balance must be met by the sale of bonds.

War Appropriations.

"Considerable speculation has been indulged in as to the total of appropriations available during the war and to June 30, 1920. These appropriations may be generally stated as follows:

Appropriations, 64th Congress, second session, (available for expenditure in fiscal year 1918, estimated)	$1,700,000,000.00
Appropriations, 65th Congress, first session	16,914,957,301.53
Appropriations, 65th Congress, second session	27,092,094,720.75
Appropriations, 65th Congress, third session, (present status)	7,862,129,754.02
Total appropriations	$53,569,181,776.30
Amount repealed	7,287,621,810.61
Amount repealed in the appropriation "general appropriations Quartermaster Corps," in which the War Department was in error in estimating its requirements, and which must be appropriated for at the first session of the 66th Congress	829,375,295.10
Balance	6,458,246,515.51
Net appropriations available during the war and for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920	47,110,935,160.79

British Supports Will Follow American Engineers Sent to Murmansk.

STRONG ACTION DEMANDED

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 3.—The veil was lifted for the public this afternoon from what for some time past has been known to be the very serious situation in North Russia. American forces, it was stated, had sailed for the Murmansk peninsula, and British reinforcements were to follow. The object is the relief of the allied contingents known as the Archangel force, which the Bolsheviki have been attacking for some time past, and against which Trotzky is gathering strong armies in the hope of compelling surrender while the port of Archangel still remains icebound.

Until the Summer thaws set in relief can only reach Archangel from the Murman coast with a partly constructed single-track railroad. The distance between the two points is nearly 400 miles, and most of the country is an ice-locked desert.

The military view is that the relief of Archangel is every whit as important as was the relief of Kut. It is hoped that General Ironside, whose command at Archangel is about equivalent to a division, will be more fortunate than was General Townshend at Kut, where the attempted relief came too late.

Blame Lloyd George and Wilson.

Today's news brought the long simmering controversy as to the alleged attitude toward Russia to a head. Advocates of forcible measures naturally take the "we told you so" attitude and lay the blame for the critical situation now developing on those who sought to parley with the Bolsheviki, among whom the most conspicuous place is given to Lloyd George and President Wilson.

The Westminster Gazette, which is strongly opposed to anything approaching intervention in Russia, today admits that "the present lack of policy of the Allies merely irritates our enemies without satisfying our friends."

Reports which had been current for some days that President Wilson had sent a special mission to Russia and that the two delegates whom he selected, William Bullitt and Lincoln Steffens, had returned to Paris and made a report, evoked the question in the House of Commons yesterday whether any allied mission had recently returned from Bolshevist Russia with offers of peace from Lenine's Government. Cecil Harmsworth, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, professed ignorance of any allied mission having been recently in Bolshevist Russia other than a small British Red Cross mission. This answer did not satisfy the inquirer, who gave notice of further questions.

Publicity to the reports concerning the American Mission was first given in an article by George Lansbury in the new labor paper, The Daily Herald, and in the Paris correspondence of The Daily News. Lansbury suggested that the Bullitt and Steffens report to Wilson contained "proposals for an honorable understanding with the present rulers of Russia" and to a large extent exonerated the Bolsheviki of charges of outrage and massacre, described the present Russian administration as "clean and uncorrupt" and declared that the task of reorganizing industries was proceeding everywhere.

Lansbury made a special point in regard to "the tales of nationalization of women being pure and simple lies," and continued:

"Peace can be had now if the Allies will withdraw their troops and leave the Russians free to settle their own affairs. If other nations, border

Red Army, Fleeing from Siberians, Is Breaking Up; Caucasus Freed of Reds from Black Sea to Caspian

LONDON, April 3, (Associated Press.)—Dispatches from Omsk report that during the last few days the Bolsheviki have been retiring on the Orenburg front so rapidly that the Siberian armies in pursuit are unable to keep in touch. Bolshevist desertions continue. As an example, fifty miles south of Ufa a whole regiment of Bolshevist cavalry joined Kolchak's forces and turned their weapons on their former comrades.

The Bolsheviki had accumulated at Orenburg more than 3,000,000 hundredweight of grain which they had seized in the Cossack villages. They are trying under the greatest difficulties to transport this grain to Samara and are evacuating Orenburg.

The Northern Caucasus from the Black Sea to the Caspian Sea has been entirely cleared of the Bolsheviki as the result of the successful campaign of the army of General Denikine in that region in January and February, according to an official report issued here. The anti-Bolshevist leaders, fighting having ceased, are forming new forces of Cossacks and other natives.

The report says that the capture of Vladikavkaz on Jan. 28 by the troops under General Shkuro completed the campaign against the Bolsheviki, in which 50,000 prisoners, more than 2,000 guns, 350 machine guns, 100 locomotives, and thousands of railway cars were taken.

Failure of the offensive in the direction of Tukkum, in Courland, west of Riga, is admitted by the Russian Soviet Government in a wireless message received here today.

The message adds that fighting is in progress in the direction of Mitau, southwest of Riga, and in the region of Pskov, northeast of Riga.

PARIS, April 3, (Associated Press.)—Advices to the French Foreign Office indicate that the forces in Ukraine under Petlura are within thirty miles of Kiev, threatening the recapture of the city from the Bolsheviki.

BIG FOUR TAKE UP FIUME

Chances Momentarily Favor Jugoslavs, Just as They Do Germans as to Danzig.

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 3.—It is now practically settled that the first money to be paid by Germany in reparation will be received by Belgium. King Albert, on behalf of his country, has been asking for priority for a long time, on the ground that Belgium is in a worse economic plight because of the war than any other country, and absolutely helpless to begin her own reconstruction and rehabilitation without cash.

Her plea is considered reasonable by America and England, and now M. Klotz, the French Minister of Finance, agrees to priority for Belgium on a limited first payment, provided certain other concessions are made to France. The sum proposed to give Belgium at the outset on account of her total claim is 2,500,000,000 francs.

Other matters having come to a temporary standstill, Premier Lloyd George casually threw the Italian-Jugoslav dispute into discussion by the Big Four this morning, whereupon there were but three left to talk, Premier Orlando retiring. Messrs. Wilson, Lloyd George, and Clemenceau then devoted the day to considering the ins and outs, listening to Trumbitch's argument for Jugoslavia about Fiume and other phases in this Adriatic problem. There is no safety in commenting on the ultimate outcome of this question, but its condition may be reported from day to day, and tonight the odds are on Jugoslavia in the contest for Fiume.

There is some analogy between this case and that of Danzig. Fiume is admittedly Italian, but surrounded by a Slav population. Danzig is a German town, with a Polish population in the nearby Baltic regions. The Big Four is trying to formulate a plan by which to solve the questions of the Baltic and Adriatic ports in the same way. And, without pretending to say what the situation will be next week, the case at this moment seems to be going in favor of Germany in the north and the Jugoslavs in the south.

TROOPS CONTROL GERMAN STRIKES

Order in Stuttgart and Ruhr, but Copenhagen Hears More Men Are Out.

WORKERS AT KRUPP'S QUIT

150,000 Said to Have Joined Berlin Metal Trades Strike—Threat to Flood Mines.

BERLIN, April 2, (Associated Press.)—The strikes at Stuttgart and in the Ruhr district seem to have been checked by the energetic action of the Government in promptly using troops, martial law, and other effective means.

Official reports from Stuttgart, summarizing the situation there, say that serious violence is reported only from Esslingen, where the Spartacides seized weapons and automobiles, but surrendered them after negotiations. The large number of nonresidents among the strikers was one of the features of the uprising, going to prove that the movement was purely a political effort of the Radicals and Independents to overthrow the Government.

The strikers at Stuttgart assembled frequently yesterday despite the martial law regulations, but were dispersed. The leaders were arrested by the troops, and the Government was master of the situation by nightfall. The troops behaved splendidly, though some of them received rough treatment.

In the Ruhr district for a time the strike was extended by several thousand men, but the danger of a general strike subsided. The mines where the Spartacides control are still closed, but in those sections where the union miners and the Majority Socialists prevail the men refused to close down. Many decided to await developments, in the meantime continuing work.

The situation at Frankfort is quiet again. The number of dead in the riot there has reached sixteen, but this number will probably be augmented, as some of the wounded cannot hope to live. The funeral of the four women who were killed took place this morning. The damage from plundering is estimated to aggregate several million marks.

The opening gun in a new general attack on the Government and the majority party was fired by the Independents today in an appeal addressed by the Central Committee of Hugo Haase's party to members throughout the country, urging them to organize meetings for protesting against the anti-labor policy of the present Government.

The Independents charge the Scheidemann Ministry with supporting an auxiliary military rule and organizing strikebreakers. The appeal asserts that "never before, even under the reactionary régime of the Kaiserdom, have workers been treated so contemptuously."

Report Ruhr Strike Spreading.

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—Dispatches received here say that the strike in the Ruhr district of Germany has unexpectedly spread extensively, that it now includes the Krupp works and that 120,000 persons are involved.

The dispatch adds that the workers in the Hamborn district of Rhenish Prussia were expected to join in the strike today.

FINISH LEAGUE DRAFT TODAY

Newly Revised Document Now Comprises 27 Articles.

KING ALBERT SEES HOUSE

SWISS ON LIKE ERRAND

Alternate Seats Now Proposed, One at Geneva, the Other at Brussels.

PARIS, April 3, (Associated Press.)—The League of Nations' Drafting Committee has completed fifteen articles of the League of Nations covenant, which now contains twenty-seven articles. It is not known what the additional article is.

The committee probably will finish its draft tomorrow. The draft will be in French and English in parallel columns. A full meeting of the League Commission will be held probably Saturday to consider the revised covenant, which doubtless will undergo further changes before it is submitted to the representatives of the five big nations.

The revision thus far does not contain mention of the Monroe Doctrine or the proposed Japanese amendments. These questions will not be disposed of until the next meeting of the League Commission.

King Albert of Belgium figured prominently during today's conferences. The Belgian monarch called on Colonel House at 11 o'clock in the morning and later saw President Wilson before the arrival of David Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, and Signor Orlando.

The call of King Albert on Colonel House was a decided novelty, for which veterans of royal procedure said there was no precedent. The King wore the uniform of Commander in Chief of the Belgian Army and was accompanied by a staff officer. He was met at the entrance of the residence of Colonel House by the Colonel himself, who escorted him to his private office, where a series of conferences constantly is going on.

It is understood that King Albert drew attention during his talk with Colonel House to Belgium's vital interests in frontier and other questions which are now reaching a culminating stage, and also bespoke his interest in having Brussels chosen as the seat of the League of Nations.

The conference between King Albert and President Wilson is described as having been most cordial. Belgian questions are said to have been discussed in a most satisfactory spirit on both sides. It was arranged that King Albert would meet the Council of Four tomorrow for a presentation of Belgian reparation and territorial claims.

A Swiss delegation, which called on Colonel House after King Albert had departed, is understood to have made offers on behalf of Geneva as the seat of the League, which offset the Brussels offer of the Royal Palace. The Swiss offer included a tender of an extensive domain a short distance from Geneva bordering the lake.

There is a possibility that the League will have two seats, one at Geneva and the other at Brussels. This plan is being considered.

Although a majority of the delegates apparently favor Geneva, King Albert's strong appeal in behalf of Brussels is influencing sentiment, and the palaces offered by both the Swiss and the Belgians may both be accepted and alternate meetings arranged.

PADEREWSKI OFF TO PARIS.

Will Plead with Allies for Teschen Coal Fields for Poland.

WARSAW, April 1, (Associated Press.)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish Premier, left here tonight for Paris, where he will appear before the Peace Conference for the purpose of urging greater speed in the settlement of Poland's troubles.

Paderewski was accompanied by his wife and several friends, and will probably stop at Cracow and join the inter-allied mission under J. J. Noulens, the French Ambassador to Russia, which is also returning to Paris, for the journey through Austria and Switzerland.

It is understood that Paderewski will tell the conference that Poland must have the rich coal fields in the Teschen district and will also lay down a concrete plan for financial assistance for Poland.

Battle with Reds in Prussia; Hindenburg Mobilizing Silesia

LONDON, April 3.—German troops are resisting a Bolshevist offensive in East Prussia, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch dated Wednesday, in Berlin, transmitting reports received there.

GENEVA, April 3.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, with a large staff, has arrived at Gliwice, Northern Silesia, and, contrary to the terms of the armistice, has ordered a general mobilization in that region, according to dispatches to the Journal de Genève.

The Polish agency at Lausanne states that the Germans are systematically destroying the industries of upper Silesia and taking everything away from the factories.

ERZBERGER MOVED BY TALK WITH FOCH

SESSION OF 40 MINUTES

Head of German Armistice Commission Goes to Confer with Colleagues.

SPA, April 3.—Marshal Foch arrived in Spa at 8:20 o'clock this morning and immediately informed Mathias Erzberger, head of the German Armistice Commission, that he would confer with him in his private car at 9:30 o'clock.

The conference took place at the appointed time in the presence of Major Gen. Weygand, assistant to Marshal Foch, and a French interpreter, and lasted forty minutes.

Marshal Foch laid before Erzberger the decisions of the Entente. Erzberger after the conference hurriedly returned to his train. He appeared deeply moved.

After a conference of an hour with General von Hammerstein, a member of the German Armistice Commission, and his technical advisers, Erzberger returned to the hotel where the German members of the Armistice Commission are lodged.

The populace acclaimed Marshal Foch on his arrival in Spa. During the day the Marshal visited General Nudant, his representative in Spa.

Erzberger arrived here yesterday, accompanied by technical and other advisers, including the Chief Burgomaster of Danzig. Before leaving Berlin Erzberger had a final consultation with representatives of all parties, at which agreement was reached as to the attitude to be adopted in negotiations with allied representatives here. It seems that the sentiment of the Germans was favorable to a settlement of the Danzig controversy.

LONDON TIMES ATTACKS LEADERS

Correspondents in Paris Are Savagely Critical of Course of the Big Four.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 3.—Strong opinions have been published by the Paris correspondents of The London Times on the delay in the conclusion of peace. "It is impossible to record any real progress toward peace," says one. Members of the Council of Four are spoken of as "wasting their time in a vain attempt to reconcile the program and Bolshevist proclivities of some of their number with the requirements of a sound and lasting peace," as lacking vision and courage, as unworthily representing their peoples, and as mistaking interested sentimentality for foresight and obstinacy for courage. The Times also threatens that the "whole truth about them and their doings" may soon be told unless they mend their ways.

A "shameful deal" with the Bolsheviki is referred to by The Times as having been stopped for the time being, "but by no means killed," and currency is given to a rumor "to the effect that an arrangement has already been made between a large American financial house and two German banks—one of which was said to be the firm of Warburg of Hamburg—to finance a scheme for the exploitation of Russia, the actual work of exploitation being intrusted to German engineers."

The Times also quotes President Wilson as having once said that the allied treatment of Russia would be the acid test of allied conduct, and, declaring that the President does not like to be reminded of his own declarations, adds the comment that the treatment of Russia will indeed be the acid test of the President's own statesmanship and sincerity and of those of the allied leaders "at present associated with him in delaying the making of a just and lasting peace."

BIG FOUR IN BAD TANGLE

FRENCH DEMANDS SWEEPING

Not Satisfied with Fullest Military Protection on Border, Says American Expert.

WILSON MAKES CONCESSIONS

But Halts at Giving Up Principles—Committee Named to Find "Middle Ground."

PARIS, April 3, (Associated Press.)—President Wilson and Premiers Lloyd George, Clemenceau, and Orlando continued their discussion at President Wilson's residence today. Other Peace Conference organizations also met. All the conferences tended to unravel the tangled issues still standing in the way of peace.

The meetings proceeded amid another wave of apprehension spreading through the conference over lack of any tangible results after the Council of Four had labored continuously for ten days. This was accompanied by well-founded reports from those in close touch with the Council of Four showing that the situation, while not desperate, was at least serious, because of radical differences on some fundamentals in the settlement of Germany's western boundary and the Franco-German and eastern Polish frontiers.

Glimpse Behind the Scenes.

One of the American experts, who is constantly being consulted on various questions before the council, gives the following glimpse of what is going on behind the scenes:

"The situation is extremely difficult, particularly as regards the western frontier of Germany. President Wilson, in a conciliatory spirit, has been willing to do almost anything to assure French security short of the stultification of engagements made at the time of the armistice.

"The French have been assured of every military protection along the Rhine and for fifty kilometers east of that river, even to the extent of considering that any military activity in that section shall be looked upon as a hostile act. But this is not considered enough, and additional claims lead to the conviction that they are open to construction as meaning something more than military security and verging on territorial control.

"The President is not willing to go that far in creating more Alsace-Lorraine situations, and it is this stand against these claims which is causing the delays until some middle ground is found."

Concerning reparations, it was added that there were good prospects for an early agreement. This will not specify the total amount, but will leave it to a commission to work out details of reparation through a period of years. The priority of Belgium and France in the division of the German indemnity also is said to be nearing agreement.

It was stated after adjournment of the council that reparations and the Polish frontiers were considered in the morning and that some progress was made.

M. Trumbitch, the Jugoslav Minister of Foreign Affairs, was heard on the Jugoslav claims in the Adriatic in the afternoon, bringing up the issue with Italy before the Council of Four for the first time. Premier Orlando of Italy was not present at this session, as he did not desire to sit as a judge in a case in which Italy was so vitally interested.

"Middle Ground" Committee.

As a means of finding the "middle ground" on the Rhine controversy, the Super Council of Four created a consulting body, consisting of Andre Tardieu, French; Charles H. Haskins, American, and Viscount Morley, British. They labored until 2 o'clock this morning and then called on Colonel Edward M. House. To intimates they were not optimistic on the progress being made.

Another member of President Wilson's entourage said that the real issue was whether President Wilson's principle of self-determination was to be upheld. The President, he said, did not regard this as a principle which should be applied when favorable to the Entente and not applied in all cases alike. Just now, it was asserted, the issues over Danzig, the Saar Valley, and the region west of the Rhine brought up this principle of self-determination mination, as it was not clear that the transfer of territorial control of these localities would be in accordance with the wishes and determination of their peoples.

Information from French sources earlier in the day was to the effect that the Council of Four had virtually decided that the left bank of the Rhine should be neutralized until Germany had paid the indemnities fixed by the Peace Conference. It is understood that French and Belgian troops will hold this territory, the United States claiming it to be impossible to leave American troops in Europe after the signature of the peace treaty, and England having insufficient effective troops to maintain garrisons along the Rhine. It is surmised that the visit of King Albert was not unconnected with the share that Belgian troops will be asked to undertake in this territory.

One of the happenings in Peace Conference circles yesterday the Matin and the Journal unite today in alluding to as a "great event." The Council of Four actually issued a communiqué, the newspapers point out, but, it is added, "it was only to tell us that General Smuts is going to investigate Hungary."

The Smuts appointment is one which these two and most of the other newspapers condemn, instancing as a bad omen the manner in which General Smuts conducted the negotiations in Switzerland early in 1918 with Count Mensdorff-Pouilly-Dietrichstein, the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador at London at the outbreak of the war, in which it has been charged by Paris newspapers that the bluntness of General Smuts choked off possible negotiations by Austria-Hungary for a separate peace.

The commentators see in the announcement of the Smuts mission yet another procrastination by the Peace Conference. This step is called all the more disappointing because of the hope raised by the recent summoning into conference of General Mangin, a man of action, who, it is reported, now is going back to his headquarters on the Rhine.

Prediction by Pichon.

"I have always thought, and think more than ever today, that the peace preliminaries to be imposed upon Germany will be ready before Easter, unless something unexpected arises," said Stephen Pichon, Foreign Minister, yesterday in reply to questioners at a banquet given by French Republican journalists, according to Le Matin.

Several members of the French peace delegation assure Le Matin that French ideas on the peace treaty and other matters are gaining ground, and that an understanding has been almost, if not altogether, reached.

Regarding the financial demands to be made, L'Echo de Paris says that the Council of Four believes that Germany will be able to pay immediately 6,000,000,000 francs in money of various kinds. Deliveries of raw materials and manufactured goods from Germany, it says, will reach an undetermined sum, which some optimists estimate will amount to 30,000,000,000 francs.

May Omit Reparation and Frontiers.

Copyright, 1919, by The Chicago Tribune.

PARIS, April 3.—Reparations and frontiers, two of the most important factors in making peace will not be included in the treaty according to latest developments. The amount of reparations and the new boundaries for Germany will be left for adjustment after peace is concluded by a commission named by the Peace Conference in the future.

It may be years before the questions are finally settled, and then there always will be the danger that Germany will refuse to accept the findings. Since the world will be at peace, there will be no chance of the Allies reopening the war to insist that Germany pay another billion to Belgium or award the Saar mines to France.

The decision not to solve the questions of reparations and frontiers previous to the signing of peace is indicated in the conference's realization that the treaty must be signed at once and that even these two grave questions do not warrant delaying peace.

VIENNA YEARNS FOR PEACE.

Would Welcome Re-establishment of Order by Any Party.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, April 2, (via Geneva.)—The general situation in Vienna is characterized by radicalist tendencies getting stronger among all classes, and not only among the workers, who would welcome the re-establishment of order of any kind, Socialist or otherwise, that would put an end to the present insecurity and bring about the moral regeneration that would enable the people to resume habits of work.

A better food supply will make it possible to choose less radical ways.

WANTS PEACE SIGNED FIRST.

League Can Wait, Says Cardinal Gibbons, Alarmed Over Bolshevism.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, April 3.—Cardinal Gibbons, who is in New Orleans visiting his brother, John T. Gibbons, in an interview obtained by The Baltimore American's correspondent in that city, said:

"The peace treaty is today the biggest and most important task confronting the world. Once the peace treaty has been signed, then the League of Nations or any other proposition can be taken up. I am of the belief that the peace treaty should come first, and that the League of Nations should not interfere with it or in any way delay its being signed.

"At present I am not going to make a statement on the League of Nations, except to say that speed should be used by the Allies in getting the covenant of peace signed. Every day's delay is serious, as it strengthens the position of the enemy, since it gives him a chance to ask for delay on his part. A delay also makes for confusion and a prolongation of the negotiations, and may result in a rejection of some of the terms by the enemy.

"The reason I say that the signing of peace is more important than the League of Nations is because of the great unrest now going on in Europe. Bolshevism is spreading there rapidly. If peace is signed this can be stamped out."

German Outbreaks Less Widespread Than the Plotters Had Expected.

SABOTAGE MARKS STRIKES

Turmoil Is Confined Chiefly to Ruhr Basin, Stuttgart, and Frankfort.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 1. (Night.)—Although the situation throughout the Ruhr industrial region appears to have improved during the day, Stuttgart and Frankfort-on-Main still present a state of affairs which causes very considerable anxiety.

This constantly recurring unrest and lawlessness is an evidence which ought not to be passed by of the generally unsatisfactory condition in Germany.

Bursts of rioting and striking are just what the extremists really want to bring their plans to fruition.

When one place after another throws law and order to the winds, the stability of the Government cannot but become seriously undermined, and must eventually tend to hasten that general collapse which it is hard to persuade one's self is not about to break upon the whole country.

It is satisfactory to some extent to note that the call of the Ruhr region Communists for a general strike has not met with great success. Apart from the Dortmund, Bochum, and Witten districts, where strikes, more or less complete, have been going on for some time, few mines throughout the region have been brought to a standstill. It is noteworthy that in Hamborn, where the Spartacides thought they had their stronghold, their appeal had by no means been generally obeyed, and all mines are practically fully at work.

But while the Spartacides have not met with any great success, and while the strike has not developed as seriously as was thought would be the case, the situation at Stuttgart and Frankfort-on-Main presents potentialities of an alarming nature.

Aim at Wurttemberg Overturn.

Stuttgart awoke this morning to find itself under martial law, and in the course of the day the strike leaders there proclaimed a general strike for the whole of Württemberg. Midday saw a stiff fight between Government troops with machine guns and armored motor cars, and a large strike demonstration in one of the main streets of the city. Three persons were killed and many wounded before the crowd dispersed.

The middle classes are also on a strike, it now appears. This is in the nature of a counterstrike, and is intended to be a demonstration in favor of the Government. This move, it has been decided, will be taken up over the whole country. Shopkeepers, State, and municipal officials, doctors, chemists, and people in other "free occupations" are participating in this action.

The only two newspapers which appeared today in Stuttgart are the organs of the Majority and Minority Socialist Parties. The extremists wish to overthrow the Württemberg Government. Württemberg, they assert, is the centre of communism in Germany, and they wish to set an example which they hope will be followed all over Germany.

In Frankfort, however, the disturbance cannot be said to have any political character. The disorder there was caused by an element of the lowest class, though some better dressed people appear to have taken the opportunity to get something for nothing. All parties, even including the Communists, appeal for a restoration and preservation of law and order. In one part of the city every food shop was thoroughly plundered, and it would appear that it was mainly the food scarcity among a certain class of people which called forth the disturbances. But shops which sell hats and clothes, boots and firearms, also received the attention of the mob.

Many Arrests at Frankfort.

The house of the Chief Burgomaster was plundered today. A woman went there to ask for food, and when it was refused her she created a disturbance. A crowd gathered, stormed the dwelling, and found that the Burgomaster had been careful to provide himself with large amounts of foods. One hundred pounds of smoked meat, 120 eggs, three large jars of fat, a great quantity of flour, and other foodstuffs were discovered and seized by the crowd.

A good deal of street fighting has taken place during the day, and the total casualties are said to amount to about twenty killed and more than 400 wounded. The police arrested 500 plunderers. A mob which plundered the Frankfurter Hof Hotel obtained $6,000 from the hotel safe, stole great quantities of wine, and altogether did damage to the extent of $100,000. During the fighting some of the Marine Guards refused to fire on the mob, and threw away their arms. These weapons were picked up by the rioters, who used them to return the fire of those Guards who obeyed orders.

All these occurrences have naturally caused some repercussion here in Berlin. A member of the Government says that the authorities are ready for all eventualities and are prepared to act with the utmost severity in case of disorders.

Workers' Extraordinary Demands.

March 31.—The labor situation in Germany has again become extremely serious. The strike movement in the Ruhr industrial region to which I have referred in previous messages presents features probably without parallel in industrial history.

An industrial executive, consisting of six Communists and three Independent Socialists, called a conference, which was attended by two-thirds of the miners of the region, and that conference today decided that a general strike should begin tomorrow.

A series of most extraordinary demands was put forward. The resolution of the conference calls for a six-hour day and a 25 per cent. increase in wages. Workers' Councils must be recognized, and all political prisoners are to be released. Revolutionary work guards are to be formed and the volunteer corps must disband.

A political and economic alliance with the Russian Soviet Government is proposed, while it is also demanded that the police in the Ruhr region and throughout the country must be disarmed.

The form of the strike is more prominent than the economic demands. It is beyond a doubt that Spartacide activity has brought about the strike action which seriously threatens Germany's coal output. It is mainly with its coal that the country will pay for the necessary foodstuffs, so that the strike action in such an important industrial region will have the effect of delaying imports.

Syndicalist Move at Essen.

A telegram from Essen says that a general syndicalist miners' union has been formed there to take the place of the old trade unions.

The first act of the new organization was to send a telegram to the new Hungarian Government promising to do everything possible to bring about a Soviet Government in Germany.

Sabotage is reported from several places. A Dortmund message declares that the miners there are already working only six hours daily, while at great steel and iron works of Messies Hoesch, one of the largest furnaces, has been destroyed and it will take several months to repair it. Work is stopped at that foundry.

In Berlin, too, a somewhat serious situation has arisen owing to the arrest of Daumig, one of the Presidents of the Berlin Executive of the Workers' Councils, who is charged with complicity in the January troubles.

Soviet Elections in Ruhr Region.

The results of the elections for new Workers' Councils in the Ruhr industrial region is worthy of notice. Results from Elberfeld, Barmen, Hagen, Haspe, Essen, and Mülheim show that fifty Majority Socialists, seventy-five Independent Socialists, and ninety-five middle class candidates have been returned.

The situation in Bavaria also is causing considerable uneasiness. During the last two weeks the new Communist Party has been carrying on a vigorous campaign. Its meetings during the last few days have been attended by 8,000 to 10,000 persons and the opposition seems to be meagre and powerless.

The dismissal of 4,000 persons from a branch of the Krupp Works in Munich has had a very bad effect and no one would be surprised if within the next week or two Bavaria followed Hungary's example.

Relations between the Munich and Berlin Governments are strained. The former forbids the use of hoardings and newspapers for advertisements calling for the formation of the national defense corps. This action is regarded as a proclamation of Bavaria's military entity. The Munich Government no longer recognizes the Berlin Government as the national administration.

BEGBIE AND THE EX-KAISER.

The Younger Count Bentinck Denies His Guest Gave an 'Interview.'

LONDON, April 3, (Associated Press.)—The articles in the London Chronicle by Harold Begbie describing his visit to Amerongen, quoting the former German Kaiser's alleged state of mind, charging Russia with responsibility for the war and asserting his own innocence of any guilt, have attracted wide attention. The London bureau of the Associated Press today received the following telegram:

AMERONGEN, April 3.—Harold Begbie has not had an interview with the former Emperor. His written questions remained unanswered. He did not receive any authorization to publish the Emperor's views, and no statement was given to him. He never saw the Emperor; neither did he enter the castle gates.

CARLOS BENTINCK.

Count Carlos Bentinck is a son of Count Godard Bentinck, who is serving as host to the former Kaiser at the request of the Dutch Government and is said to manage the establishment during its occupancy by the fugitive.

Harold Begbie's account of the ex-Kaiser's opinions, cabled from Amerongen and published in THE NEW YORK TIMES last Sunday, was not given in the form of an "interview," although that term has been used to describe it in much of the comment it has evoked.

SAYS JAPAN HAS EQUALITY.

Only as to Domestic Affairs Are Reservations Sought, Says Hitchcock.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Commenting on the statement made yesterday by Baron Makino, head of the Japanese Peace Commission, in voicing Japan's demand for racial equality, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, retiring Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today issued this statement:

"The Japanese demand for racial equality and insistence that all discriminations against races be discontinued are based more on national pride than on national interest. In all international matters the Japanese have equality of treatment. In the League itself Japan is named as one of the five great nations of the world as a permanent member of the Executive Council. Only when it comes to domestic matters do the nations belonging to the League reserve the right to make discrimination between races. This includes, of course, immigration, and in some States it is covered by laws relating to marriage between certain races, as well as the right to acquire real estate. These discriminations may hurt Japanese pride, but they do not affect the interests of Japan as a nation.

"We cannot agree to abandon our right to make these discriminations. They come under the head of domestic affairs. They are not international. They are, or we think they are, for the purpose of preserving our race purity and our industrial standards. Japan is free to do the same in her country. Every nation ought to be."

BETS SUIT ON PEACE LEAGUE.

Secretary Lane Holds Not 30 Senators Will Oppose Ratification.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, has bet a suit of clothes that not thirty Senators will vote against ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations. The wager was made with a St. Paul man whose name is withheld.

"When such a conservative, thoughtful man as George W. Wickersham, former Attorney General, comes back from Paris, after observing the Peace Conference, and declares that a League of Nations is imperative," said Mr. Lane, "you can count upon it that other men as thoughtful and conservative will come to the same view.

"Mr. Wickersham went to Paris somewhat inclined to oppose the League of Nations. His conversion will result in the support of the League by a majority of the Republican Senators, I feel assured. His experience and the advantages he had in getting a close-up view of the peace proceedings, together with his thorough knowledge of international law, gives great weight to Mr. Wickersham's opinion. I predict that his conversion will be followed by the conversion of many of the men who signed the 'round robin.'"

PROPOSES SOLUTION OF LEAGUE PROBLEM

Barrett, at Luncheon, Suggests That the Covenant Recognize the Pan American Union.

TO KEEP MONROE DOCTRINE

Alternative Proposal Made That Covenant Should Not Prevent Expansion of the Union's Power.

Addressing a group of men and women interested in furtherance of friendly relations between the United States and Latin-American countries, John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union, at a luncheon at Del Pezzo's restaurant, 211 West Thirty-fourth Street, yesterday made a suggestion for the solution of the problem of the League of Nations so far as it relates to the Monroe Doctrine.

Mr. Barrett's proposal which, he said, was presented to the American peace delegation before it left this country, was that the proposed covenant of the League of Nations should be amended so that the League would recognize the Pan American Union, or by amendment raise no bar preventing the enlargement of the scope and power of the organization to deal with disputes between American nations. Mr. Barrett said in part:

"Speaking unofficially and in no way committing the opinion of the members of the Governing Board of the Pan American Union, consisting of the Secretary of State and the Latin-American diplomatic representatives, I hold that there is a simple but acceptable solution of the League of Nations' problem which relates to the Monroe Doctrine and purely American questions.

"If the proposed constitution of the World League were so amended that it would either provide for the recognition of the International Union of American Republics, the present long established and successfully working American League of Nations, or not prevent the enlargement of its scope and power to deal with disputes between American nations, without the interference of the Old World Governments, there would be removed one of the most serious objections advanced against the present pact.

"This suggestion it was my privilege to present to the United States representatives at the Peace Conference when they left for Paris and it has been laid before the President. I have discussed it with ex-President Taft and ex-Justice Hughes, both of whom think favorably of it. It is in line with what they and Mr. Root have both said publicly concerning amendments to deal with American questions. Such an American League would not weaken the World League and might have a relation thereto somewhat similar to that of a State Legislature to a National Congress. The proposition can be summed up as follows:

"First—The twenty-one American republics have, in the International Union of American Republics, known as the Pan-American Union, a practical and successfully working, although limited and voluntary American League of Nations. It has a Supreme Council of the American Governments in the form of its Governing Board, which meets regularly every month in the Pan-American Building, its noble and useful plant, and discusses Pan-American problems of peace, intercourse, and commerce.

"Second—This American League of Nations was originally organized thirty years ago at the first Pan-American Conference, presided over by James G. Blaine, then Secretary of State of the United States.

"Third—The American Governments think so well of this International Union or League that they have unanimously voted to continue and support it at three successive Pan-American conferences as follows: At Mexico in 1901, at Rio Janiero in 1906, and at Buenos Aires in 1910. The fifth Pan-American Conference will meet at Santiago, Chile, probably within the next year. The great question before it will be the enlargement of the scope and responsibility of the Pan-American Union in relation to the peace of the Western Hemisphere, and possibly to the World League of Nations, if that is created."

EGYPT WAS AFLAME IN A FEW HOURS

Recent Uprising Spread Like Revolt of 1882—Railways Destroyed and Wires Cut.

LONDON, April 3.—A delayed Reuter dispatch from Cairo under date of March 24, reviewing the uprising, says that within a short time Egypt was aflame from Alexandria to Assouan. The depredations and excesses recorded must have struck horror into the heart of every civilized being. Owing to the prompt military measures, however, the disturbances in Cairo and Alexandria were not nearly so serious as elsewhere.

The situation was rendered very difficult by the cutting of railways and telegraph lines.

"Within a few hours," says the correspondent, "we saw the Egypt of 1882 again before us. But, whereas at that time the rioters were unorganized, there certainly seems to be organization behind the present movement. We have seen the telegraphs cut at the most vital points and railways destroyed by men evidently knowing their work. The tram railway employes, native lawyers, and others simultaneously ceased working. All efforts were employed to paralyze everything."

GERMANS FIND FRYATT EXECUTION LAWFUL

Berlin Commission Expresses Regret, However, at Haste in Carrying Out Sentence.

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—The commission investigating the execution of Captain Charles Fryatt by the Germans in 1916 has decided that the shooting of the sea Captain did not violate international law.

The commission, however, expressed regret at the rapidity with which the sentence of death was carried out, according to advices received from Berlin, where the investigation was held.

RESUME CHAMBERLAIN TRIAL

Court-Martial Admits Photographs of U. S. Aviator's Writing.

LONDON, April 3.—The court-martial of Captain Edmund G. Chamberlain of San Antonio, Texas, on reconvening today announced that it had decided to admit in evidence the photographic documents offered by the prosecution at yesterday's session. These documents, which had been prepared by William Webb of the British War Office, were enlarged reproductions of the handwriting of Captain Chamberlain, of typewritten copies of reports alleged to have been made by him regarding his reputed air exploits, and the supposed signatures of British officers on the reports, which it is charged by the prosecution that Captain Chamberlain wrote.

At the request of the defense the court postponed the further examination of Webb until it could secure the services of a handwriting expert. In asking for the delay, Donald Harper of Captain Chamberlain's counsel, stated that although the books containing the documents bore the date of Feb. 4 the defense had been given no inkling of the intention of the prosecution to call expert witnesses, and argued that it would be unfair to the accused to go into technical testimony without giving him the benefit of expert counsel. Mr. Harper said he purposed securing the foremost expert in London.

The court had expected to adjourn today to reassemble in Paris about April 9, but unless the handwriting experts are taken to France the hearing may be continued here indefinitely.

Miss Lillian Vaucours, a sister of Major Vaucours, whose squadron Captain Chamberlain was reported to have said he visited on his trip to the British front last Summer, read an account in a morning newspaper of the court-martial proceedings in which her brother's name was mentioned, and was so agitated that she came to the United States Naval Headquarters here to learn what the proceedings were all about. The prosecution introduced her as a witness today, and she testified that Major Vaucours's signature, appearing on the alleged Chamberlain reports, was not in her brother's handwriting. At Monday's session of the court official records of the Royal Air Force had been introduced to show that Major Vaucours was killed in action in Italy a fortnight prior to the time of Chamberlain's alleged exploits.

TROOPS CONTROL GERMAN STRIKES

Many Berlin Metal Workers Out.

LONDON, April 3.—Metal workers to the number of 150,000 had gone on strike in Berlin up to Wednesday evening, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the German capital says.

Dispatches received in Basle place the number of strikers in the Dortmund district at 56,000.

Two delegations representing strikers in the Ruhr industrial region were at Weimar yesterday to discuss the situation with Herr Bauer, the German Minister of Labor. After the conference the delegations went to Berlin to see other members of the German Cabinet.

SCHEIDEMANN'S HOLD GRAVELY THREATENED

German Chancellor's Fall May Bring Independent Socialists to Power.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, April 1.—Political differences in Germany have of late been of rather a sharp nature, and there is talk now of a Ministerial crisis. The Cabinet has summoned party leaders to a conference, to be held on Wednesday.

Commenting on this impending conference, the Lokal-Anzeiger refers to the "Scheidemann crisis," arising from the Chancellor's "parliamentary, political, and personal defeat at Weimar," and, further, of a more serious crisis arising from the marked tendency showing itself in great labor centres to steer a radical course. One must therefore be prepared, says the paper, for a Cabinet crisis, which will find its solution in the Independent Socialists assuming the government of the country.

The Zwölf Uhr Blatt, after calling Herr Scheidemann's position hopeless, discusses the radical tendencies manifesting themselves among the working classes, and finds them to be the result of the weak attitude of the Government toward the military authorities.

Herr Noske is involved in the Scheidemann crisis, owing to his unpopularity among the working classes because of his sharp measures against the Spartacides.

Only Reliance on Noske Army.

PARIS, April 3, (Associated Press.)—Competent German and foreign observers are chary of making any definite prediction of what will come out of the welter of political and economic disorders and developments in revolutionary Germany. To borrow an epigram of Count von Bernstorff, "Nothing in Germany now is certain except the uncertainty of the morrow."

The former Berlin correspondent of The Associated Press, returning to Paris after six weeks devoted to a study of conditions in Germany, left that country with the distinct impression that the tenure of the present Coalition Government was by no means secure, although it is for the moment in control of the situation; that there is no alternative except a radical Socialist administration, with a strong drift toward a Soviet republic, if the present Government fails; that, although the great mass of people are opposed to a Bolshevist Government, they can count only upon the comparatively small force of Noske volunteer troops to keep down this insurrectionary movement, the masses at present being politically too apathetic to give more than passive support in an emergency; that, while the Noske troops have been able to handle the Spartacide insurgents so long as they could take sectional uprisings in turn, success would be difficult if the Spartacides and their Independent Socialist allies should be able to stage a really general strike and insurrection.

If the Spartacide leadership is not able to organize such a widespread movement, the Government probably will be able to maintain itself until peace is signed.

As to the peace treaty, the members of the Government and their publicists are annnouncing firmly, perhaps sincerely, that no preliminary treaty not in accord with their interpretation of President Wilson's armistice terms will be signed, particularly if it involves the alenation of what is called purely German territory.

This announcement probably is correct so far as the cession of the Saar district, the political alienation of the west bank of the Rhine outside of Alsace-Lorraine and, perhaps, the incorporation of Danzig in Poland are concerned, but the pressure of public opinion, which would not easily understand or accept any failure to obtain peace, and the desperate food situation probably will force the Government to modify this recalcitrant attitude in case of need and sign any terms of peace presented by the Allies except those mentioned above.

This pressure has already shown its effect in the renewal of the armistice in March, when the Government had actually determined to refuse to sign the conditions of renewal. The Government was forced to reverse its decision upon hearing from the representatives in the National Assembly who were in closer touch with the people.

Cabinet Distrusted but Tolerated.

The fate of the present Government rests largely upon two counteracting factors, the ultimate result of whose action it is difficult to foresee. On the one hand the Government is itself by no means strong or effective, and is establishing itself more and more by the mere fact of its continued existence. It is developing a certain inertia of possession as the people come to regard it more as a regular establishment and less as an experiment or a government of expediency.

On the other hand, each of the successive local strike uprisings strains the ability of the Government to restore order. The dependable troops whom Noske has at his disposal to quell Spartacide attempts at revolt number perhaps 50,000 to 60,000 men in all. This number is far too small to garrison all the centres of disorder simultaneously, and the Minister of Defense has been compelled to shift the troops from one scene of disorder to another, keeping them almost constantly on the move.

About 30,000 of these troops are reported to have been concentrated in the Berlin district to put down the insurrection in March, the men being withdrawn at considerable risk from other danger points. The troops are still in Berlin, but any of them must be withdrawn if, or when, the insurrectionary movement breaks out elsewhere.

The Government itself is not able to finance even this small army, and seeks volunteer contributions from industrial and financial concerns. The owners of Berlin factories, for instance, passed the hat some time ago, and in one afternoon raised a fund of 5,000,000 marks for the troops. Big Berlin banks produced an equal contribution. This was only one of similar installments raised at various times and places.

Th Republican Guards and other popular military organizations, although nominally supporting the Government, are rather a menace than an asset, as they are poorly disciplined and largely infected with Spartacide ideals. Considerable numbers of them may be counted upon to go over, with their arms to the insurrectionary movement which may develop.

These organizations are very jealous of the Noske units and the antagonism led the Republican Guards to join the Berlin uprising last month. During the outbreak Minister Noske announced his intention of disbanding the entire force, but ultimately went only half way in carrying out his decision.

Strikes Forced by Minority.

The majority of the German workingmen, particularly the married men, wish to work, although higher wages are being constantly demanded to meet the rising cost of food. An energetic Spartacide minority and the younger irrepressibles are constantly causing trouble and preaching the Bolshevist doctrine of reiterated political strikes to dispossess factory owners and overthrow the present Government.

Factory owners and others in close touch with industrial conditions regard the distribution of American food supplies at reasonable prices as the only possibility of mastering the strike movement and stimulating production. With the workmen able to buy with their wages the necessary food, they may be able to shake off the influence of the radicals.

Leading German manufacturers, particularly in the electrical and machinery lines, assured the correspondent that they would have no difficulty in doing a profitable business even under the present wage scales if the food and fuel difficulty were solved.

TROOPS MOVE ON FRANKFORT.

Force Opposite Coblenz Bridgehead Leaves to Quell Disorder.

COBLENZ, April 3, (Associated Press.)—German troops opposite the Coblenz bridgehead began moving early today toward Frankfort, where a Spartacide revolt has been causing disorder.

Before entering Frankfort, which is in the neutral zone beyond the French bridgehead based on Mayence, the German military authorities had to obtain permission from the French Tenth Army.

According to information reaching American headquarters here, the trouble in Frankfort became serious on Tuesday. The workmen formed groups in the streets, and eventually a mob of more than 10,000 began parading. The mob stormed a large warehouse, and the members helped themselves to the food stored there. Hundreds filled baskets and sacks with food of various kinds.

Street fighting followed an attempt by the local authorities to gain control of the situation. The German troops opposite the American bridgehead were then called on for help.

PARIS, April 3.—Herr Mangold, the chief Burgomaster of Saarebrücken in occupied Germany southwest of Treves, has been removed from office by order of Marshal Foch.

CEASES RATIONING EGGS.

Germany Abolishes Card System—Lower Prices Expected Soon.

BERLIN, April 1, (Associated Press.)—Although the rationing of eggs in Germany ceases today by official decree, the card system by which the purchaser theoretically could obtain an egg occasionally being abolished, it is not expected that the visible supply will increase soon.

Eggs ostensibly have been costing 7½ cents a piece, which is the official maximum price, but with the increase in underground methods of disposing of food they have almost disappeared from the market, although easily obtainable at from 30 to 35 cents each from private sources. Many eggs have been withheld for the making of Easter cakes, but it is expected by the optimistic that they will be somewhat less scarce and less costly after the Easter season.

SOCIALIZING MUNICH PRESS.

Only Communist Papers to Have Freedom Under New Ruling.

MUNICH, April 2, (Associated Press.)—Munich newspapers were told today that they had three choices if they wished to continue operations—the adoption of syndicalism, communism, or State ownership. This announcement was made by the newly-appointed economic ministry official, Dr. Neurath, who was named at the instance of the Minister of the Interior to handle the socialization of the press.

Dr. Neurath has announced that he will make energetic use of the powers conferred upon him by the Diet. He says that papers shall henceforth belong to the employes, the city, or the State, and must decide for one of the three courses.

The bourgeois newspapers will have only limited political freedom and will not have the right to make political utterances. They will be allowed to publish only educational and diverting articles. The communist parties will have the right to political freedom of the press.

Editors have not ventured to answer the announcement of Dr. Neurath, since the pressure exerted upon them effectually prevents public utterance.

BAKER MAKES REPLY TO CHAMBERLAIN

Calls His Speech 'Intemperate'—Never Had a Helpful Suggestion from Senator.

CAUSTIC ON ANSELL SNARL

Deplores "Welter of Abuse"—Refuses to Say Whether Officer Will Be Court-Martialed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Commenting today on Senator Chamberlain's criticism of the War Department in a Natchez speech Tuesday night, Secretary Baker said today:

"My attention has been called to a newspaper account of a very intemperate speech by Senator Chamberlain. I have been Secretary of war for three years. During that time I have received the most cordial and helpful co-operation from the members of the Senate Military Committee and the committee as a whole. From Senator Chamberlain I do not recall that I have ever received a suggestion which was helpful or seemed intended to be helpful. I am perfectly willing to let the people of the country decide between what the War Department has done in three years and what Senator Chamberlain has said in three years."

Publication today of Lieut. Col. Samuel T. Ansell's letter to Secretary Baker attacking the Secretary and Major Gen. Crowder for their attitude on the existing system of courts-martial and assailing Inspector General Chamberlain, added fuel to the flames of the controversy over the court-martial question. When asked what comment he had to make upon the letter, which he had refused to make public and returned to Colonel Ansell, Secretary Baker said:

"The important part of this matter is the question of military justice. Upon that subject the committee of the American Bar Association and various other agencies are at work. My very earnest desire is to have every defect of the system discovered and remedied.

"The welter of abuse, accusation, and violent language about personal differences between officers can only be properly inquired into through the regularly established agencies of the army, and I can make no comment upon those features until I have received the report of the Inspector General."

Secretary Baker was asked if the Inspector General's investigation was likely to be followed by a court-martial.

"I cannot say anything about that," he replied.

The Secretary, in response to another inquiry, said that Colonel Ansell was still Chairman of the Clemency Board. This body, created following Colonel Ansell's charges that the administration of the court-martial system had been extremely unjust to enlisted men, is reducing sentences by the hundreds.

It was developed today that the investigation being conducted by General Chamberlain is confined to the charges impugning each other's conduct and integrity, which have been exchanged by General Crowder and Colonel Ansell. An investigation of a high officer's conduct by the Inspector General is the usual course taken by the Secretary of War to determine whether court-martial proceedings should be instituted.

Chamberlain Denies Failure to Help.

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 3.—"But for the things I have said in the last three years, the Secretary of War would have accomplished nothing in the last three years," Senator Chamberlain of Oregon said here tonight in reply to the statement made today by Secretary Baker that he "could not recall a single instance in which he had received a helpful suggestion" from the Senator.

"Mr. Baker has steadily followed the suggestions made by the Chairman and members of the Military Affairs Committee," Senator Chamberlain continued, "but claimed them all as his own after he had been driven to their adoption.

"The latest illustration of this is to be found in the fact that after the court-martial system had been denounced by me on Dec. 30, and after it had been defended by him, he announced after his return from the West that the system was to be revised, and the faults complained of corrected. As soon as this has been done he will claim that he took the initiative. I join with him in expressing a willingness to submit it to the American people as to whether they will approve of his Prussianizing the army or my efforts to democratize it."

SIEGEL TELLS OF INJUSTICE.

Congressman to Ask Baker to Investigate Sentences of Soldiers.

When Secretary of War Baker goes to Europe next week to make a visit of inspection to camps of the American Expeditionary Force, he will carry data gathered by Congressman Isaac Siegel of New York in regard to alleged acts of injustice committed under the army court-martial system.

Congressman Siegel said yesterday that since he had taken up the cause of reform in courts-martial he had received hundreds of letters from soldiers and their relatives complaining on that score. Some of the men are still in France, and he will ask the Secretary to investigate their cases while on the trip.

One of the cases which has been brought to the attention of the Congressman was described in a letter sent to him from California by I. J. Aschheim, who had received it from a soldier in France. This letter tells a story of a private who had become separated from his company while looking for his pack and who was unable to find where the company was until after a long interval, in which he performed other army service. He adds:

"A general court-martial followed on January 21, 1919. Two charges were preferred against me, namely, violation of Article of War 58 (desertion) and violation of Article of War 75 (misconduct before the enemy.) I pleaded not guilty to both charges.

"At the trial I was not questioned. Two witnesses of my company, who were on the same detail, Corporal Doddard and Corporal Dalton, testified that my pack was lost and that they saw me looking for it when they left. * * * The decision in my case may not be rendered for two or three weeks.

The letter was signed by Louis Lieberman, Secretary, Miami Lodge 826, I. O. B. B., and dated Jan. 22. It was followed by another dated Feb. 6, from the same soldier, who described how he had been sentenced to serve ten years in the military prison at St. Sulpice, France. He sent likewise a number of names of men in Los Angeles, his home, who could testify to his character.

"That letter is only a sample," said Congressman Siegel, "of some of the mail I get. Take that young fellow's case. He left a law practice to volunteer his services, and through some sort of mistake, if what he says is true, they have sentenced him to serve ten years in prison.

"Another case which seems to me to be particularly unjust is that of a soldier at Camp Funston. This man had some sort of trouble with his Captain, who ordered him not to leave the company street. He disobeyed, and being caught in the street of another company was sentenced to serve thirty years in prison."

The Congressman said that his investigations showed that in addition to injustice he found that the military code was actually cruel in some of its provisions.

"For example," he said, "take the case I have been examining of twelve boys at the Fort Leavenworth Prison. An orderly there was killed. Eleven of those boys are to be executed for the crime and another sentenced for life."

CARSON URGES DELAY IN IRISH HOME RULE

Sinn Fein Accused of Cruel and Wanton Oppression in Commons Debate.

LONDON, April 3.—The House of Commons debated the Irish question this evening. Liberal members endeavoring to elicit some indication of the Government's policy. The most notable point in the debate was reached when Sir Edward Carson urged a postponement of the question until the end of the war, and declared that at present he regarded reconstruction in Ireland, with education, health, housing, and similar matters, as far more important than "the raising of old controversies over home rule."

Joseph Devlin, a Nationalist leader, said he thought Sir Edward's speech was "the most powerful indictment of British rule in Ireland."

Captain William Archer Redmond of Waterford said:

"Ireland is almost on the verge of a revolution and the Government is responsible. Let the Government say frankly whether it intends to repeal the Home Rule Act."

Sir James Ian Macpherson, making his maiden address as Chief Secretary for Ireland, replied to the criticisms made by members of the House. After indicating that measures were projected to improve educational facilities and housing, he said:

"The political unrest in Ireland is unabated and outrages of the most cruel and unforgivable kind are occurring. That is why it is necessary to have military forces there to maintain order. Ireland is one of the most prosperous countries in the world, but she must be freed from the shackles of terrorism. The menace of Sinn Feinism, with its cruel and wanton oppression, is an enemy of constitutionalism and progress. There can be no self-determination on constitutional lines under Sinn Fein rule."

FOUR AIRMEN KILLED FLYING NEAR TREVES

Two New Yorkers Among Victims When Four Machines Were Sent to Earth.

Copyright 1919 by The Chicago Tribune Co.

TREVES, April 3.—Two American airplanes crashed in air and, as they fell, sent two others tumbling down yesterday near the town of Wittlich. Three officers and an enlisted man were killed, and one officer and one man injured.

The four killed were:

NICHOLS, Lieut. BRAYTON, 38 Cedar Street, Worcester, Mass.
COE, Lieut. RODERICK D., Nesbitt, Miss.
FOVOLK, Lieut. CHARLES, 1,454 Amsterdam Avenue, New York.
SOLERNO, Private JOHN J., 434 Pearl Street, New York.

The injured were:

MORRIS, Lieut. W. C., 97 South Main Street, Concord, N. J.; slight.
CARSON, Sergt. WILLIAM P., Burton, W. Va.; skull fractured.

All were members of the 166th Aero Squadron, now at the Treves aerodrome. Their machines were two-seater De Haviland fours.

In formation flight, seven planes had taken off over Wittlich as their objective. The formation was flying close together at a low altitude. Suddenly one "zoomed" to pass over the leader from the rear. His wing caught the tail of the machine ahead. Both wing and tail were torn off, and the two machines fell.

FOOD INCREASED IN COBLENZ REGION

Rations Equal to Those of Our Troops to be Supplied for Every Person.

DEALERS' PROFITS TO BE CUT

Lower Prices Expected Owing to the Big Addition to the Supply.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COBLENZ, April 3.—The Germans in the territory occupied by the American Third Army are to have food a-plenty. From April 15 there will be distributed 850,000 rations a day; this means that there will be made available for every German man, woman, and child in the American area food equivalent to that supplied to the American fighting man. This food ration is slightly more than two pounds. In addition to this allowance, the Germans in this area will still have their own food supply. This presages such an abundance of food in the district that a conference will be held looking to arranging for export of food from the American occupied territory to other and less fortunate parts of Germany.

It was first proposed to distribute in this area 150,000 rations daily, and plans for the food determination were worked out on this basis. The new order naming 850,000 rations a day came as something of a surprise to not only the Germans but also the American officers preparing the food plans. The first of the 150,000 ration allowance had arrived here, but distribution had not begun when the change of plans was ordered.

The dispatch of all this food into this region presents interesting problems. To a German a mark means something like 25 cents and his prices are made on that basis. But in American eyes the mark is worth about 9 cents. The ration will be priced in dollars, translated into marks, which means that the rations will be high-priced to Germans. The question arises: Will the poorer Germans be able to pay the price the way it will probably work out? The opinion of the officers handling the problem is that these Germans who cannot afford to pay the price set for American rations will be able to buy German food cheaper because the lessening of demand after the distribution of the American rations will result in lower prices.

The feeding of the Germans in this territory is part of the general plan of feeding Germany. In this territory American officers will exercise a limited jurisdiction.

There is no information available here as to how the food will be distributed in Germany, or whether the United States will do more than turn it over to the Germans at the ports, leaving Bavaria to do what she can to get food from Hamburg or other ports.

The food that is being distributed in the Third Army area is going through German food merchants. It is turned over to wholesalers at Coblenz or Trier, who sell it to the retailers. It must be sold at a price equivalent to the cost in Coblenz or Trier plus 15 per cent. profit, distributed between the wholesaler and retailers. Under the plan for the distribution of the 150,000 rations daily, dealers were to have had 20 per cent. profit, but this has been cut 5 per cent. by the larger business which these dealers will get in selling the increased amount of food.

TROOPS OF ALLIES GO ON IN HUNGARY

French and Rumanians to Occupy New Line Fixed by Paris Conference.

THE PEOPLE WELCOME THEM

Smuts's Mission May Suffice and Mangin May Not Now Go, the View in Paris.

BERNE, April 3, (Associated Press.)—The Rumanian armies, in co-operation with the French forces at Arad, (Hungary, 145 miles southeast of Budapest,) have received orders to occupy the new line of demarkation as fixed by the Paris Conference, according to an announcement issued by the Rumanian Press Bureau.

The allied armies have been received enthusiastically by the various populations, who are living in constant fear of a Bolshevist invasion.

PARIS, April 3.—The departure of General Smuts, member of the British League of Nations Commission, for Budapest, instead of General Mangin, of the French army, who was first suggested as the allied representative to investigate certain problems in Hungary arising from the armistice, is regarded as an indication that talking, rather than fighting, will take place in Hungary, where the situation is believed by the allied officials to have improved greatly.

The Rumanian victory over the Bolsheviki on the Bessarabian border, and the fact that Odessa is being revictualed and is not being evacuated by the Allies lessen the chance for a Russian Bolshevist union with the extremists of Hungary, who are evincing a pronounced inclination for good relations with the Entente.

ASSEMBLY FOR HUNGARY.

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—The new Government in Hungary has definitely promulgated a system of government by village, town, district, and county councils, and a National Assembly of Councils, a dispatch from Budapest says. The representatives to the National Assembly will be elected by the town and county councils.

The last day on which elections can be held for the councils has been fixed for April 14. All men and women who have reached the age of eighteen will be permitted to vote with the exception of those who employ wage-earners for profit or who live on unearned income, or are merchants, priests, monks, common criminals, or lunatics.

BUDAPEST, April 1.—(Associated Press.)—Communist Budapest is orderly and the Government is putting forth every effort to stabilize conditions. There are pessimists, however, who declare the Government will endure less than a month, it being pointed out that its success will be partially dependent upon the success of the Russian Bolshevist army in establishing a corridor from Kiev to Budapest by way of Bessarabia and Bukowina.

Bele Kun, the Foreign Minister, receives hundreds of telegrams of an official nature every day, among them being messages from Nikolai Lenine, the Russian Bolshevist Premier. He receives newspaper men freely, but has ordered that their dispatches be censored for the purpose of cutting down the material to be sent over already crowded wires as well as to eliminate objectionable features.

Kun, who was formerly a secretary to Lenine, is most anxious to deny reports relative to the communization of women in Hungary, which he declares to be "preposterous." He also denies rumors of assassinations and disorders.

Of the twenty-four members of the Government, nineteen are Jews.

Owing to action by the Hungarian Government the prices of food have dropped considerably. Food Commissioner Erdlyi is warring on food speculators and seizing hidden stocks. The wine shops remain closed.

Denial is made of the statement that it is purposed to use churches as music halls. Nevertheless, there no longer will be a state-supported religion. Priests will be compelled to work for their living. It is declared again that foreign property will be protected and foreign industries encouraged.

It seems apparent that an effort is to be made not to follow the mistakes made by the Moscow Soviet Government.

When Bela Kun, the Foreign Minister, insisted on entering into cordial relations with Lenine, the Russian Bolshevist Premier, he was warned in an open Cabinet session by Minister of Education Kiunfi that Kiunfi still had enough power to hang him.

It has been insisted that the communism in Hungary is aimed only at the aristocrats and capitalism, and not at the middle classes, as in Russia.

Hungary has put doctors, bank directors and skilled laborers in the first class of citizens who are entitled to the most consideration.

The new Cabinet includes Herr Kiunfi and Alexander Gorbai, who is now President, and also Herr Boehm, who is Commissioner of Socialization. Boehm is a former War Minister. These men are regarded as conservatives. They wish to fix the limit of individual fortunes at $20,000, and would deal with the Entente rather than with the Russian Lenine. They are undecided about the public debt. However, there is an inclination to repudiate it, according to Dr. Alexis Bolgar, who once lived in the United States, and now is the Hungarian representative in Vienna.

The Peace Conference delegates at Budapest have received definite assurance that the new Hungarian Government does not intend to apply to Americans the order for the sequestration of the property of foreigners.

Reports from the delegates indicate that the new Government is consolidating its position and that order prevails. The authorities are endeavoring to impress upon the foreign representatives that the Government will not adopt the methods of terrorism of the Bolsheviki.

The Government appears more concerned with freedom of intercourse than with the question of boundaries.

CRISIS IN NORTH RUSSIA

States, such as Finland, Esthonia, Lithuania, and Ukraine, be given absolute right to choose their own form of government Russia will agree to pay the French and other international debts."

Also Thinks Agreement Possible.

The Daily News correspondent in Paris carried these statements still further by saying that a fresh effort to come to terms with the Bolsheviki was practicable. It was admitted, according to this correspondent, that the existing policy of the Allies in regard to Russia was bankrupt; that the one effect of the intervention so far sanctioned had been to throw into the arms of the Bolsheviki those sections of the population which would otherwise have been Lenine's most resolute opponents, and that "in British and American quarters in Paris much weight was given to these considerations, and it was at the same time fully realized that there could be no League of Nations worthy of the name so long as Germany and Russia stand outside the society of peoples."

The Daily News correspondent went on to tell how the possibility of arriving at a political understanding with Lenine was being studied, and that if such an arrangement could be reached a concurrent attempt would be made to fight Bolshevism with the economic weapon; in other words, that food should be supplied to Russia on "stringent guarantees as to conditions of distribution."

In well informed circles in London little stock was placed in these reports, which were described as the reflection of well-meant efforts to find a solution of the difficult problem.

Regarding Messrs. Bullitt and Steffens, authorities on Russia here ask two questions about their investigations, and on the answers to these will depend their opinion as to the value of these envoys' report. Do they understand the Russian language? and Were they permitted to go where they liked, or were they shown around?

The point of the second question lies in the way the Bolsheviki are known to be treating British prisoners of war. Officers are confined in convict prisons, but privates are lodged in special camps, and are frequently conducted on little trips to see places where Bolshevism is working well. Thereby it is hoped they will become converted and ultimately will act as missionaries for the cause.

As for the statement ascribed to the two investigators, that Lenine and Trotzky are ready to make peace, it is pointed out here that it has been known for a long time that the Bolsheviki were anxious to come to terms with the Entente, but, unfortunately, the speech of Zinovieff, President of the Bolshevist Northern Commune in Petrograd, is also on record, in which he declared that any peace the Bolsheviki made now would be treated by them as a mere scrap of paper.

In some quarters there is an idea that some later statements coming in from Paris today regarding the imminent publication of "a report on Russia drawn up by officials who have just returned and very informative on essential points" is due to confusion between unofficial reports received by President Wilson from his personal delegates and a White Book on Bolshevism which the British Foreign Office made public today.

This White Book contains a collection of reports on Bolshevism in Russia which constitute a terrible arraignment of the principles and methods of Bolshevist rule. It describes the appalling incidents by which it has been accompanied, the economic consequences which have flowed from it and the almost incalculable misery it has produced.

Meanwhile the serious developments at Archangel put a new aspect on the situation and to a certain extent strengthen the hands of the militarists, who argue that to bandy words with Lenine while Trotzky is preparing to drive the allied expedition into the ice floes of the White Sea is the height of political folly.

Shackleton Tells of Archangel Peril.

LONDON, April 3, (Associated Press.)—Sir Ernest Shackleton, Director of Equipment and Transport of the Northern Russian Expeditionary Forces, has just returned from Murmansk and Archangel. He declares in an interview that both fronts are in danger, and that the Bolshevist peril is a very real one because the Entente forces are outnumbered by disciplined and well-armed and well-equipped troops in close touch with the Allies' extended, but by no means strong, front.

"We must avoid the possibility of another Khartum," says Sir Ernest. He urges the need of sending reinforcements immediately. These, he asserts, can reach Murmansk from England in less than a week.

He is credited with stirring British officials into a keener realization of the seriousness of the position in Russia.

The American forces mentioned in the special London dispatch as having sailed for Murmansk are doubtless the detachments of engineers which it was announced some time ago were being sent to that region.

ALLIED FRONT HOLDS AGAINST RED DRIVES

Americans, British, French, and Russians, Tired and Outnumbered, Win Battles in Snow.

ARCHANGEL, April 1, (Associated Press.)—Repeated Bolshevist attacks along the front line and both the right and left flank positions controlling Odozerskaia were repulsed today by allied forces. The Americans, French, British, and Russians who, either separately or together, are holding positions throughout this territory, which is a little over 100 miles south of Archangel, have everywhere held their lines intact.

The Bolsheviki, in spite of their heavy losses yesterday, attacked the railroad front south of Odozerskaia at 10 o'clock this morning, but they failed. Allied forces east of Bolshoia Ozera, where Americans, Russians, and British are fighting, were under attack all day yesterday at a point about fifteen miles west of Odozerskaia, and four separate assaults were made there again early this morning. All broke down under the allied fire. According to Bolshevist prisoners, the enemy is somewhat demoralized because of his heavy losses during the last two days.

In the Seletzkoe sector, forty miles east of Odozerskaia, the allied advanced posts were attacked by a strong enemy patrol this morning, but the Bolsheviki were driven back by machine-gun fire, losing two killed and a number wounded. Seletzkoe protects the allied flank along the Odozerskaia front and the right flank of the allied river front positions.

On the Onega River west of Bolshoia Ozere, the enemy yesterday shelled the village of Kleshevo, which is held by a Russo-British garrison. In this territory enemy outposts were driven back at Piluk, and the Allies captured two prisoners. The allied troops are tired and outnumbered, but are fighting a stubborn defensive battle in the snow, which is rapidly showing signs of a thaw under the warm sunshine. The days are now longer than the nights in this region.

The engineers, who sailed with Brig. Gen. Wilds P. Richardson, U. S. A., who has been appointed to command the American Expeditionary Force in North Russia, are to be employed, it is understood, in repairing and improving the roads from the American front back to the sea.

SHIP REACHES ARCHANGEL.

Gets Through Ice with Munitions and Red Cross Supplies.

ECONOMIA, Russia, April 1, (Associated Press.)—One of the most herculean tasks in the supply of the North Russian expeditionary force with much needed war material was accomplished today with the arrival at Economia, which is the Winter port of Archangel, of the largest vessel which ever passed successfully through the thick ice floes of the White Sea.

Escorted by three ice breakers a 5,000-ton British freight vessel has arrived here, only slightly damaged, after a difficult three weeks' voyage from Murmansk. Several times the vessel was hemmed in where the ice drifts piled high. At one point it was stuck in the ice floes for nearly a week, but the ice breakers finally succeeded in smashing a path ahead for it.

In addition to war material the ship carried a considerable cargo of American Red Cross supplies.

Callous Feet

Those who have suffered the discomfort of calluses on the bottom of their feet are unusually pleased in discovering the Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoe.

Such calluses are caused by the constant contact of sensitive feet with hard, unconforming shoe-soles. They are frequently more crippling than "flat-feet."

These shoes will not only prevent the forming of sole-calluses, but they are of tremendous COMFORT and benefit to people who have already acquired such afflictions. You can buy such shoes at either of our two stores.

BLANQUET FORCES LAND IN MEXICO

eral Army of the Diaz régime. Carballo is a naval officer, and commanded one of the Mexican gunboats that cruised off Vera Cruz during the occupation of that city by the American forces in April, 1914.

Other prominent Mexican military men identified with the new movement are Rafael Navarrete, who commanded at Tampico in 1914, and is generally credited with being the person most responsible for the failure of the Carranzistas to accomplish the confiscation of the foreign oil interests in the Tampico district; Rodrigo Ibarra, a Zapata chieftain; Gerardo Reyes, Arturo Arellano, A. B. Reyes, and Augustin Luna of the old Madero army, and Alfonso Calderon, Gilberto Alarcon, Hilario Murillo, and Manuel A. Paz of the Diazista forces.

"The purpose of General Blanquet's return to Mexico, and that is the purpose of the whole movement," said Mr. Gayon yesterday, "is four-fold—first, the reorganization into a compact, efficient fighting force of the various units now enlisted under the Diaz banner, the overthrow of the Carranzista Government, the re-establishment of the Constitution of 1857, which Carranza, with the aid of his pro-German friends, has abrogated, and the revocation of the confiscatory decrees of the Carranza Government.

"The whole movement is in the open and we have already informed Acting Secretary of State Polk of General Blanquet's safe arrival in Mexico and acquainted him with the true purposes of his mission. The boat on which General Blanquet and his party made the journey to Vera Cruz was the Providencia, a small sailing ship which I may add narrowly missed being captured by the Carranza gunboat Zaragossa. The sloop carried some ammunition, but just enough for defensive purposes. Our forces in Mexico are amply supplied with rifles and ammunition and an adequate supply will be maintained. I am not in a position to state the situation as to artillery.

To Ask Recognition as Belligerents.

"General Diaz has organized his forces in the face of terrible odds. But he and General Blanquet have an army in being now, and that army is growing every day. The total strength of the forces in the fifteen States in which we are operating is about 40,000 men, of whom the largest force is in Vera Cruz. The States are Vera Cruz, Chiapas, Tabasco, Oaxaca, Guerrero, Michoacan, Jalisco, Guanajuato, Puebla, Hidalgo, San Luis Potosi, Tamaulipas, Nueva Leon, Coahuila, Chihuahua, and the Territory of Tepic. We are seeking the recognition of our belligerency by the United States, England, France, and the other allied nations. In due course of time we expect to merit and receive that recognition."

"Is General Obregon, who was Madero's Secretary of War and afterward one of Carranza's principal lieutenants, in this movement?" Mr. Gayon was asked.

"If he is, it is not on our side. There are no Carranzistas or Villistas associated with us. The whole Carranza régime is tainted with pro-Germanism, and Obregon, like his chief, was and is pro-German. One of the greatest crimes perpetrated by Carranza was his linking up of the Mexican people with the Germans. It was a deep-laid conspiracy entered into between Carranza and Berlin to stir up ancient hatreds, to the exclusive benefit of the German Government and the Carranzista faction. German money has figured in every one of Carranza's conspiracies, and proof of this fact is on file in every allied chancellery in the world.

"Another phase of the Carranza-German plots was the oil land case. It is well known that 75 per cent. of the oil used by the allied fleets was drawn from wells in the Tampico district. The plot that Carranza concocted with representatives of the German Government, had it materialized, would have resulted in the destruction of those wells, and this plot went so far as to call for the actual burning of the wells as a last resort.

Say Mexico Faces Bolshevism.

"And, furthermore, under Carranza at least a part of Mexico is today facing Bolshevism. This fact has been officially reported to Washington, and I think was referred to during the recent Senate inquiry. The Carranzistas seize and dispose of private property regardless of law or constitutional restrictions. They have flooded the country with worthless paper money, and the despotism of the régime has reached that point that its Consuls hesitate to give passports to bona fide Mexican citizens in foreign countries, either to return to their own country or to visit other foreign countries. Included in this number are great numbers of Mexico's best-educated and ablest citizens, who are held in exile by the tyranny of the Carranza Government.

"The banks have been robbed, their concessions declared void, while in numerous instances the most important and the richest of our ore mines have been flooded or destroyed by other means. Railroads are in the hands of the Carranza hordes, and industry has almost been stamped out. It is to right some of these wrongs that the new movement has been organized, under Generals Diaz and Blanquet."

The appeal of the revolutionary force is addressed to the following:

The members of the extinct National Army and Navy, without any exception.

The groups in arms against the Carrancismo, whatever their political origins or affiliations may be.

The great masses that form the proletariat of the countryside.

The working classes and those in need.

The land owners.

Those interested in the oil wealth of the country.

The miners, bankers, manufacturers, and merchants.

The Mexican citizens and foreigners exiled from our country.

The clergy.

The foreigners who have interests in our country.

And finally, for special reasons, the Governments of the allied nations in the war they wage in the interests of liberty and humanity against the Central Powers.

General Blanquet, who is 71 years old, arrived in New York from exile in Spain four years ago, and made his home in Brooklyn at that time. When he arrived from Spain in July, 1914, he was asked by THE TIMES if he contemplated returning to Mexico to take part in any revolutionary movements for the overthrow of the Carranza régime. His answer was, "Some day, perhaps, when peace is restored in Europe."

TWO REVOLTS IN MEXICO.

Uprisings North and South Promise Sharp Fighting by June.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—State Department officials have been unofficially advised of the fact that General Aurelio Blanquet, former Minister of War under General Victoriano Huerta, and one of the best known of the older officers of the army of the old Diaz régime, has landed on the coast of Vera Cruz, south of the City of Vera Cruz, and has joined the forces of General Felix Diaz, who has been in the lower part of the State of Oaxaca for nearly two years.

Important developments are expected to occur in the Mexican situation inside of the next few months as a result of the Blanquet-Diaz movement and other known elements in the situation, not the least of which is the Villista revival. Men in the closest touch with the situation assert that by June the situation in Mexico will be of the liveliest possible character, and that ominous trouble looms ahead for General Venustiano Carranza, the President of the Mexican Republic, whose term will expire in another year.

As viewed by men in the best position to know the inner details of the situation, Carranza has made "a blundering failure" of the Mexican problem and will soon find himself between the cross-fire of what promises to be an important military movement in the south, supported by men of the old régime, and that of the radical elements in Chihuahua and the north associated with Villa.

The Carranza army, it is known, has in it many officers who were ex-Federals, mostly younger or middle-aged men. There is believed to be a strong possibility of the older Federal officers, who are expected to be identified with the Blanquet and Diaz movement, deserting the Carranza Government.

President Carranza is not regarded by those who have closely followed the history of Mexican events since the overthrow of Madero as being a strong military leader, and with a strong movement south of his capital headed by former Federal officers, under the direction of Diaz and Blanquet, and Villista activities in the north, it is predicted by men qualified to speak knowingly of Mexican affairs that Carranza will face a most difficult problem in the immediate future.

By June both the anti-Carranza movements will be well under way, it was asserted tonight, and if Carranza is overthrown, and the Blanquet-Diaz forces are able to take control of the Government in Mexico City, it is probable this would be followed by a struggle between the ex-Federal leaders of that Government and the revolutionary activities of Villa in the north.

Says Mexico Will Nip Revolt.

WASHINGTON, April 3, (Associated Press.)—Ambassador Bonillas said today that the Government of Mexico was fully capable of dealing with the revolutionists.

"The Mexican Government would rather have these and other revolutionists in Mexico than out of it," said the Ambassador. "When they are out of the country they are constantly plotting and trying to get assistance for their schemes. Once they get into Mexico, however, the Government is able to deal with them in an appropriate manner."

The Ambassador said he had received no advices recently from Mexico on the subject of revolutionists. He seemed inclined to doubt that the revolutionists had landed near Vera Cruz. He had heard from unofficial sources that it was likely the revolutionists had landed at some other place and that the announcement regarding the Vera Cruz coast was a blind to protect their whereabouts.

MEXICAN CONGRESS IS CALLED.

Carranza Will Ask 10,000,000 Pesos to Control Railways.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—President Carranza has asked the extra session of the Mexican Congress, which has been called to meet May 1, to authorize the construction by the Federal Government of three railway lines and the acquisition of another railway system, it was learned today from official sources. The Congress will be asked to appropriate 10,000,000 pesos for the purchase of all or a majority of the stock of the Yucatan Railway System, now owned by the Hennequen Association.

One of the new lines will link this system with the Territory of Quintanaroo, running from Peto, Yucatan, to Bacalar and Santa Cruz. The line was contemplated by Porfirio Diaz and surveys were made under his orders.

Another line, the plan for which dates back to the Diaz Administration, is proposed to run from Santa Lucrecia, in the State of Vera Cruz, on the Tehuantepec line, purchased a short time ago from the Pearson interests, to Campeche.

The third proposed line will run from some point on the Southern Pacific of Mexico, between Magdalena and Hermosillo, to Ensenada, the capital of Lower California. This road will enable Mexico to transport troops by rail from Central Mexico to Lower California without entering the United States.

These railroad projects are believed by officials here to be a part of President Carranza's program to secure for the Government the entire transportation machinery of Mexico.

FOREIGN LAND OWNERS LIMITED BY MEXICANS

Gen. Aguirre Says Constitution Prohibits Acquisition of Large Tracts in Lower California.

MEXICO CITY, April 2, (Associated Press.)—"In Lower California there are various foreign enterprises, among which are one or two Japanese, to which have been given concessions for the exploitation of certain natural resources in various places, but none of them has been permitted, nor will be premitted, to acquire tracts of land, because the Constitution prohibits this definitely," was a statement made today by General Amado Aguirre, Under Secretary of Agriculture and Development.

"Naturally there has been a respect for those companies holding concessions which have always complied with the stipulations of their contracts, but some companies, among them the Mexico Land Company, have had their contracts nullified for not having complied with all their provisions. These concessions will be duly and legally liquidated. Those interests which have large holdings will be obliged to divide them, and nobody will be given more than 2,500 acres."

General Aguirre declared the Government had not and would not allow foreign interests to obtain lands in Lower California, and pointed out that Article XXVII. of the Constitution prohibits foreigners from holding lands within sixty miles from a frontier and thirty miles from a sea coast. He said that under these provisions, because of the geographical situation of Lower California, it would be virtually impossible for foreign interests to obtain any considerable tract, even in the interior, because of the narrowness of the peninsula.

Regarding concessions held by foreigners, the Under Secretary stated that among those holding fishing rights were both Japanese and Norwegians, but he made it plain that no foreign interests held rights to land along the coasts.

SENATOR PHELAN SEES FRUITS OF PROTESTS

Californian Comments on Baron Makino's Paris Statement on Japan's Demands.

By U. S. Senator JAMES D. PHELAN.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The following is a reply to the statement telegraphed from Paris yesterday by Baron Makino, which I feel requires an answer.

"The first fruits of the American and Australian protests seem to be conceded by Baron Makino in his statement, which is published today as a telegram from Paris. He says:

"'Japan does not wish to force her laborers as immigrants on any associate countries, and recognizes that this question is one for each nation to deal with itself.'

"This is a wise and logical conclusion because Japan has exercised its right to bar Chinese laborers from the island empire. If the Baron took any other position of course Japan would have to open her doors to the Chinese who are content to work for about one-eighth the wages that are paid to Japanese laborers in Japan; so Japan is maintaining Japanese standards in the Orient, just as we are seeking to maintain American standards, but he still contends for "equal and just treatment," apparently outside of the question of immigration, and by that he doubtless means that the Japanese in this country be given the privilege of owning and leasing land, of naturalization, of the elective franchise, and intermarriage, and he adds, which is a hopeful sign, 'while we feel very keenly on this point our precise position must not be misunderstood nor misrepresented.'"

"That is to say that if America and Australia persist in their position he might still accept it. He says furthermore than 'We are too proud to accept a place of admitted inferiority.'

"This confuses the issue because the question of inferiority is not involved. The Japanese are racially different. By the laws of nature they cannot improve the Japanese stock nor the white stock by intermarriage. The evils of both races are developed in the offspring. This is a well known physiological fact. It has been well said that a democracy is impossible without equality and that equality is not possible where the people cannot freely intermarry and produce a homogeneous race. A permanently foreign element in the composition of a state disorders it, just as a foreign substance in the human economy. Social danger is as great as the military danger of having a large body of foreigners who do not participate in the Government and who perhaps owe allegiance to another Government.

"California is best entitled to speak on this subject because she has had the experience. It is well known that the Japanese, on account of their skill as agriculturalists, their industry, their unceasing hours of labor and their lower modes of living, can, and do drive the Americans off the soil because Americans, upholding our high standards of civilization and all those things which enter into home life and social obligations, cannot come down to the Japanese level. They have something more to live for than unceasing work because they hold other things higher than maximum production and minimum cost.

"The Japanese are masterful people and want to own and dominate. They are not content to work for wages. If they work for others besides themselves they can be easily controlled because there will be no incentive to work more than the regular hours of labor, and the white workers would then have an opportunity of cultivating the soil.

"The farmer of this generation, sorely tempted by attractive prices, by selling and leasing the land to the Japanese are digging the graves of the next generation. Should the California land law be enforced prohibiting the Japanese from owning land, and Senator Inman's bill be passed depriving them of the right of leasing land, those here now would be compelled to work for wages, and that would preserve the American farmer and give him men to cultivate his orchards and his fields.

"All that Baron Makino can ask of the League of Nations is to allow Japan to develop his country on its own lines and protect its native population, and that no nation should be allowed to commit any act of aggression against it. But the equality of Japan as a nation among nations cannot be construed as entitling her to disturb the economic and political system of other nations. As to these domestic questions, Baron Makino must concede that the right inheres in the nation itself.

"We do not want the German theory of the 'survival of the fittest' and fierce competition of endurance to disturb the standards which have been maintained in America for the benefit of men who work, who don't want to breed Bolshevism. If we do not maintain the high standard of citizenship upon which rests the superstructure of our democratic institutions the Government would topple and fall. So it is not a question of equality of treatment to Japan.

"It is a question with us of maintaining standards and self-preservation. Frankly, we are afraid of Japanese competition. While farmers are willing to give those who are legally here employment for wages, the States does not want any further immigration and does not want Japanese to displace our own people in the possession of the soil and assume the rôle of masters.

"When Commodore Perry opened Japan he did not know what was in it. It has proved, indeed, a Pandora's box of international trouble."

WOULD DISARM GERMANY.

Pichon's Reply to New Proposal is Cheered by Paris Deputies.

PARIS, April 3.—In the Chamber of Deputies today Maurice Raynaud, former Minister of the Colonies, requested the discussion of a proposal to invite the Government to endeavor to obtain the disarmament of Germany.

M. Pichon, Foreign Minister, asserted that the request of the Deputy, under parliamentary procedure, was not permissible, although the Government considered this step advisable, and was determined if possible to secure the disarmament of Germany, in order that that country might not again start an enterprise such as that for which she had been entirely responsible, and which had cost so much to humanity.

M. Pichon added that the Government could only request that the Deputies place entire trust in it, and that it would do all it could for the triumph of the principles of the Deputy's proposal.

The speech of the Foreign Minister was greeted with cheering. M. Raynaud expressed satisfaction at the declaration of the Minister, and the incident ended.

More Credits for France and Italy.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Credits of $85,000,000 to France and $25,000,000 to Italy were announced today by the Treasury. The total advanced to the Allies is $9,008,999,340.75, of which France has received $2,702,477,800, and Italy $1,521,500,000.

What the Fighting Men Suffered.

In a new series of articles—"Behind the Scenes of War"—running in the Sunday edition of The New York Times Philip Gibbs, war correspondent, is telling about the men who led British armies, interpreting their doings with a frankness hitherto impossible on account of the censorship. SAYS SOLDIERS NEED RIGHT START IN LIFE

Col. Roosevelt Asks Chamber of Commerce to Direct Them Into Proper Channels.

BUSINESS MEN URGE THRIFT

Declare America Must Supply Equipment to Develop Backward Countries.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who was the guest of honor at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York yesterday, appealed to the members to aid in turning the energies of the American soldiers back into the right channels as they return to civil life.

"These young men," he said, "are the men who will run the country in the future. They will return much improved for their experiences, and they will be impressionable. They will be receptive to new ideas, and they will find it difficult to get back to their old duties.

"After our civil war we had frontiers which provided ground for the restless spirits, but we have no frontiers now. The country will have to take up these men and that is your problem. The war has had a tremendous effect on them and it has made them Americans. In my headquarters, for example, my liaison officer was Karl Cramer, there was a Sergeant Murphy, and an Orderly Velocco. Then there was Kilinski, a Pole; Glover, of Irish extraction; LeBeauf, French, and Brenner, a Jewish newsboy from Boston. And I might also tell you that we had two Chinese from San Francisco, and they were good cooks. All of those boys considered themselves Americans. Americans, and nothing else.

Another effect of the war was its democraticizing effect in the shuffling of men of all classes in all ranks. One of my splendid officers was a waiter from out West, and one private turned out to be the City Editor of The Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Colonel Roosevelt recounted the events which lead up to the battle of Soissons and described the opening of that battle, at the same time paying a tribute to his men. He recited one incident to show the spirit of the American troops. One day he said one company was under artillery fire and could not use their rifles because of shrubbery. They were about 150 yards away from the Germans. He heard rifle shooting coming from the direction of the company, a rabbit had been scared up and the Americans were amusing themselves firing at it.

The Chamber adopted several reports, among them one prepared by the Committee on Finance and Currency which urged the need for thrift at the present time. Albert H. Wiggin, Chairman of the Board of the Chase National Bank, is Acting Chairman of the committee. The report read in part:

The United States is one of the most advanced countries of the world in the development of industrial equipment and industrial methods. Its capacity for the production of steel and machinery is approximately as great as that of all the rest of the world. There are other countries with great undeveloped resources of natural wealth, and with industrious and willing inhabitants, but lacking modern equipment and the capital to procure it. We have it within our means by supplying these undeveloped people with equipment to help them to a more abundant production of the comforts of life and higher levels of existence, at the same time creating employment for our industries. They will be able to pay us ultimately out of the resources which we help them to develop, but we must first provide them with the means of creating new wealth. This is the service of an advanced country to a backward country, the service which England, Holland, Belgium, and France rendered to the United States in its earlier years, and for which they have been well repaid since. It is one of the purposes for which we should provide an investment fund. It means doing our part in advancing the civilization of the world.

The enormous exports of American products in the last four years; aggregating $21,421,000,000, as compared with $9,090,000,000 in the preceding four years, have created a permanent body of indebtedness owing by the nations of Europe to this country, upon which the annual interest charge alone will amount to a sum equal to our entire foreign trade balance before the war. The difficulty which these nations will experience in finding means of payment is likely to seriously interfere with sales of our products in their markets. Europe is temporarily unable to pay either in gold or goods, and yet it is in the highest degree mutually desirable that Europe shall be able to buy what it requires for the rehabilitation of its industries and that our industries shall be able to sell freely abroad while passing through the period of readjustment.

THOMPSON ADMITS HE TOLD BRIBE STORY

Niagara Senator Promises Full Disclosure to the Judiciary Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 3.—Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara, Chairman of the Senate Public Service Committee, today admitted to the Senate Judiciary Committee that he told representatives of two New York city newspapers the story of a $500,000 fund available to aid in the passage of the Carson-Martin bill, which would empower the Public Service Commission to increase street railway fares to 7 or 8 cents regardless of franchise or other local agreements existing between the companies and municipalities.

Senator Thompson told the committee that he would like time to prepare a statement, and that he would disclose the whole story, which is said to involve an ex-Governor of the State as the man who offered Thompson the bribe and also a promise of the support of influential corporations if he cared to seek the Governorship. The committee adjourned to give Senator Thompson time to prepare his statement. He has been directed to submit it on Tuesday.

Correspondents connected with the newspapers which printed the story of the alleged bribe appeared before the committee. One submitted copies of his paper containing the story. The other respectfully declined to give the committee any information either now or at a later date. Both refused to disclose who was referred to as an "ex-Governor of the State" in the articles. Senator Thompson in his statement said: "All ex-Governors had better be eliminated for the present."

Senator Thompson reminded the committee that he had already asked the Senate for an investigation of the traction lobby, and said that the story of the alleged bribe really began last year, when an attempt was made by the traction interests to force the passage of the Wicks-Martin bill giving the Public Service Commission power to abrogate the provisions of the 80-cent gas rate and permit higher rates in New York City.

EXETER TO HONOR FIGHTERS

Alumni and Students Who Have Seen Service Dine Tonight.

A dinner will be given tonight at the McAlpin to all Exeter men, graduates and undergraduates, who have served in the military or naval forces. They have been invited to be the guests of the New York Philips Exeter Alumni Association. The dinner will be a victory celebration in honor of more than two thousand Exeter men who have served under the colors. A number of men who won citations and medals will be called on for five-minute speeches.

The cheering which will welcome the fighters, and which will also be reminiscent of their football days, will be led by Captain D. Scarf of the United States Navy, a former Exeter cheer leader. A special musical program has been prepared, and Kirk Towns, baritone, will sing, accompanied by Glad Forster, the composer.

Speakers will include Senator James A. Tufts, Louis Perry, Principal of Exeter; John P. Gavit, and Coliss Lamont, Charlie Brickley and Hugh ("Cupid") Black, former football Captains of Harvard and Yale, respectively, will be present.

SUNDAY MOVIES ADVANCED.

Passed by State Senate—Majority Expected in Assembly.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 3.—The bill permitting Sunday movies under local option conditions was passed by the Senate today. It is on the order for final passage in the Assembly tomorrow, and while the majority will be small it is expected to pass.

There was no debate. Six Republicans voted with the Democrats for the measure. They were Senators Abeles of the Bronx, Graves of Erie, Lockwood of Kings, G. F. Thompson of Niagara, Walters of Onondaga, and Whitley of Monroe.

ARMY HEADS FROWN ON PARADE OF 77TH

Division's Home Auxiliary Is Aroused by Notice from Adjutant General Harris.

PROTESTS ABANDONMENT

Dr. Manning Issues Statement Declaring Men Deserve Welcome Allowed to 27th.

The 77th Division, composed almost entirely of men from this city and vicinity, will not be permitted to parade up Fifth Avenue as did the 27th, if the present policy of the War Department, as indicated in a letter from the Adjutant General to the Home Auxiliary Association of the 77th Division, is carried out. Giving as a reason the congested port and camp conditions, Major Gen. P. C. Harris has advised the association that it was impracticable to give encouragement to the proposed parade in view of the fact that the realization of the plan seemed uncertain. He said that there was no doubt that individual units of the division would be able to parade when they arrived from France.

The correspondence with the Adjutant General on this subject was embodied in a statement issued yesterday by members of the Home Auxiliary Association. The statement, which was given out by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, Chairman of the association, was signed by the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, Cleveland H. Dodge, S. R. Bertron, Stephen H. Olin, Julian T. Davies and himself.

Dr. Manning said that the association should not be confused with the 77th Division Association, which was made up of the officers and men within its own organization, the Home Auxiliary Association being composed of the relatives and friends of the men of all the units in the division.

The statement in full reads as follows:

"At the request of members of the Home Auxiliary Association of the 77th Division a letter was written on March 24 to the Secretary of War asking for assurance that the division will be allowed to parade as a unit on its return from France, and stating fully the important reasons for permitting this division to parade. A letter from the Adjutant General acknowledging this letter to the Secretary of War advises us that there is little likelihood that this parade will be permitted. The following sentences are quoted from the letter of the Adjutant General: 'At this time no assurance can be given that what you desire can be accomplished.

"'That complete units of this division such as one or more regiments will be able to parade in New York there is no doubt. The conditions existing at the time of the arrival of this division at New York may preclude any other arrangement than the parade of one or two regiments as they arrive.

Sees Difficulties Growing.

"'With increased shipments from France, and the necessity of more prompt clearing out of the camps at or near the ports, the difficulties increase and the probabilities of the parade of a division in New York City, whose port handles 75 per cent. of all the shipments from France, are lessened. I regret that it is impracticable to give more encouragement to the plan you have in mind, as it is believed to be a wiser policy to hold out no hopes whose realization at the proper time is a matter of doubt.'

"In the judgment of those whose names are signed to this letter the press and people of New York should express themselves upon this matter. Nothing need be allowed and nothing should be allowed to prevent the 77th from parading on its return.

"The 77th Division shares with the 27th the special pride and affection of the people of this city. Both of these divisions belong to us in a special sense. But this is even more true of the 77th than of the 27th. The 27th was formed from the National Guard and represents the entire state. The 77th Division, which was trained at Camp Upton, is New York's own. It bears the name of the Metropolitan Division. Its special insignia is the Statue of Liberty, which stands in our harbor. It was made up originally of the men drafted from New York and its vicinity. These men, who have done their part so magnificently, are from all parts of our city. A great number of them are from the crowded East Side district where so many of our foreign born people live. It would be unfortunate indeed if they should not be allowed to receive the welcome which the city owes to them and wishes to give them. Never in their lives will they have another such moment, nor the city another such opportunity to show them what it thinks of them. It is experiences of this sort which make Americans.

"It was right and proper for the city to receive and welcome the whole 27th Division in its great parade which stirred all our hearts and will be remembered by all who witnessed it as long as they live. It is equally right and proper that the whole 77th Division should be so welcomed by the city when it returns. Nothing less than this will be just to the brave officers and men of the 77th Division, and to their families and friends. We publish this statement as to the present uncertainty in regard to the parade because we believe that New York will not be willing that there shall be any discrimination between her two splendid home divisions. With all respect for the War Department, we fear that they may not fully appreciate the human aspect of this question, the immense power of an event of this sort to stir the patriotism and the loyal spirit of our people.

Wants Problem Overcome.

"The letter of the Adjutant General states that the conditions existing at the time of the arrival of this division at New York may preclude any other arrangement than the parade of one or two regiments. The condition existing at the time of the arrival of the 77th at the Argonne Forest were such as to preclude any advance against the enemy. The 77th ignored the conditions and drove right through the forest.

"Whatever the difficulties in the way of this parade, they should be overcome in the same spirit as that in which our men did their part at the front."

In discussing the parade situation and the statement issued by the Home Auxiliary, Dr. Manning said that the returned officers of the division who were still in the service were in no position to voice their sentiments on the subject, deeply aggrieved as they were. It, therefore, became the duty of the Home Auxiliary, free from any military restraint, to take up the cudgels in behalf of the division and demand a right that was theirs—namely, the privilege of marching up Fifth Avenue so their loved ones could see them.

Asks Community to Speak.

"This statement is given out entirely independent of them and comes from the Home Auxiliary Association," Dr. Manning said. "It is time for the people of New York to know what the situation is. My judgment is that unless the community expresses its feeling with all possible clearness, there will be no parade for the 77th Division. From my contact with the families of the officers and men I know what their feeling is on the question, and I can say they will be most bitterly disappointed and deeply hurt if the parade is not permitted to take place.

"From information which has come to me directly, I can say also that should there be no parade this will be the greatest possible disappointment to the officers and men of the division overseas. They are counting upon this event confidently and with eager anticipation. I happen to know that they are at this moment drilling in France with this in mind, and are holding two reviews each week for the very purpose of being ready for the parade.

"While it has been said that our soldiers did not want to parade this was not true of the men of the 77th. The feeling among them is unanimously in favor of the idea. The men say that they want to march up Fifth Avenue with their helmets and packs so that their friends and relatives could see them as they appeared in France.

"I hope there will be a strong and general expression in the matter. Unless there is such expression it seems unlikely that the boys will march. Since the letter from the Adjutant General has been received announcement has been made by the War Department that all troops would be demobilized within forty-eight hours after arrival. This makes the official divisional parade seem more unlikely unless the authorities at Washington can be persuaded to change their attitude."

Members of the advance party sent by Major Gen. Robert Aexander, commanding officer of the 77th Division, to cooperate with local organizations in arranging a reception for the 31,000 members, were clearly upset by the turn of affairs, but would make no comment. There was a general apathy about the headquarters in the Biltmore yesterday, and no plans were announced during the day. Quantities of letters from friends and relatives of the men asking information about the parade were received, but no attempt to answer the inquiries were made until something more definite could be learned.

TROOPS TO VISIT ITALY.

Rome Hears That 1,000 Americans Will Be Sent Daily.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, April 3.—The American Government, in accord with the American Supreme Command in France, has agreed that 1,000 troops daily shall leave for Italy, where they will remain several weeks to enable the American boys to visit Rome and other principal cities of the Kingdom. In this way all of the American Army in France may be able to visit Italy.

The news was received here with great satisfaction, as the troops already here have endeared themselves to the popualtion by their enthusiastic admiration of Italy. This, it is hoped, will further bind together the two nations.

GOLDEN RULE HIS REMEDY.

J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., Says Its Practice Will Bring Industrial Peace.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, April 3.—In an interview in The Yale Daily News John D. Rockefeller, Jr., states his belief that industrial peace will not come until capital and labor put into operation the Golden Rule.

"Bolshevism is not likely to take serious proportions or spread in the United States when the wage earners know that capital is treating labor fairly," Mr. Rockefeller went on.

"Labor and capital are partners. Their interests are common interests. Neither can get on without the other. Labor must look to capital to supply the tools, machinery and working capital, without which it cannot make its contribution to industry, and capital is equally powerless to turn a wheel in industry without labor. Neither can attain the fullest permanent measure of success unless the other does also and the unnatural conditions, namely, the absence of contract between owner and employe, must be made as nearly normal as possible by the establishment of personal relations between the owners, represented by the officers and the employes, representing certain of their fellow workers whom they themselves have chosen.

"The soundest industrial policy is that which has constantly in mind the welfare of the employes as well as the making of profit and which, when human considerations demand it, subordinates profits to welfare. It is therefore the duty of every one intrusted with industrial leadership to do all in his power to improve the conditions under which men work and live. The day has passed when the conception of industry as chiefly a revenue-producing process can be maintained. In the light of the present, every thoughtful man must concede that the purpose of industry is quite as much the advancement of social well-being as the accumulation of wealth. It remains none the less true that to be successful industry must not only serve the community and the workers adequately, but must also realize a just return on the capital invested."

Union Asks Withdrawal of Troops.

LONDON, April 3.—A resolution demanding the withdrawal of all British troops from Russia, the raising of the blockade, the withdrawal of the military bill from Parliament, and the liberation of conscientious objectors was adopted today by the Trades Union Congress, which also favored incorporating the covenant of the League of Nations in the peace treaty.

Cotton Acreage Heavily Cut.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 3.—Acreage of planting in the cotton belt has been reduced 31.08 per cent., according to a report of the State Organization, made today to a convention of nearly one thousand South Carolina planters. Governor Cooper and others made addresses urging reduction of acreage.

LAUDS RAINBOW DIVISION.

Its Record Is Cause for Pride to All, Says Pershing.

Copyright by Chicago Tribune.

COBLENZ, Germany, April 3.—On the eve of its departure for America, the Rainbow Division has flung forth a challenge to all other units in the United States Army overseas. The Officer's Intelligence Summary, issued today by Colonel William N. Hughes, Chief of Staff, contains a history of the organization which concludes with the declaration:

"The 42d Division proudly asserts that it has spent more days in the face of the enemy, gained more ground against the enemy and marched further in its operations than any other division in the American Expeditionary Forces. It has been opposed by the best divisions in the German Army and has made its record at their expense."

Almost simultaneously the division has received from General Pershing commendation of "its splendid record," and assurance of his pride in it.

"The share which the 42d Division has had in the success of our armies," wrote the Commander in Chief, "should arouse pride in its achievements among all ranks."

It's Your Victory

WE Americans won a victory last November---a victory that nobody expected us to win for at least another six months---and probably twelve.

We won it because we were turning out guns and ships and TNT and steel and wool and poison gas three times as fast as Germany thought we could. We won it because we would have been shipping to France last November and December---if the armistice hadn't been signed---enough war material for a new American army as large as the one we already had in France. And Germany knew it.

So we won the war last November.

And now we have some war debts to pay---a balance of some billions of dollars of war debts---for a victory won last November instead of next.

Another year of fighting would have cost this nation twenty-five billions---possibly thirty billions---more in dollars.

And the War Department estimates it would have cost 200,000 more American lives.

That's the sort of victory the United States owes some five or six billion dollars for. Is it worth it?

ARRIVE WITH TANKS FOR LOAN CAMPAIGN

HERE FROM PEACE PARLEYS

Montefiore Judelsohn, Former Vice Consul at Constantinople, Reported at Paris on Armenia.

The transport Philippines, which left St. Nazaire on March 20, got in yesterday, bringing 271 officers and men of the 302d Tank Corps. Some of them are members of the First American Tank Corps, of which the 302d is a part. The unit that arrived was in command of Lieut. Col. Joseph W. Viner of Arden, N. Y. They brought back 34 Renault and 10 American tanks, which will be used in the coming drive for the Victory Loan.

In the Argonne fighting the Corps used two-men Renault tanks, and it was here the unit lost most heavily. In the St. Mihiel and the Argonne its casualties amounted to 60 per cent. of its officers and 30 per cent. of its men. Among the officers who returned were Captain W. Wilcox of Flushing, who served in France seven months and was a Battalion Commander, supervising training at the headquarters at Bourg; Captain Joseph B. Gillen, Battalion Adjutant of the Corps, and Lieutenant R. S. McClelland.

A civilian passenger on the Philippines was Montefiore Judelsohn, who was American Vice Consul at Constantinople under Ambassadors Morgenthau and Elkus. After he was withdrawn from Turkey Mr. Judelsohn went to Switzerland on Government business. He went to Paris and there reported to the Peace Conference on investigations he made into Turkish atrocities in Armenia. Mr. Judelsohn was met at Quarantine by Ensign A. D. Leveridge, who brought him news of the death on Wednesday of his mother, who lived at the St. Andrews Hotel.

Among the passengers who arrived from Brest yesterday on the troopship Heredia were eighty-five nurses. Seventy-nine were from Base Hospital 4, at Rouen, which is the Lakeside Hospital unit, from Cleveland. The unit went to France May 8, 1917. At first they were in charge of Major Harry Gilchrist of the regular army. He was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel and transferred. Colonel Frank C. Bunts was then assigned to take charge. On the trip across the nurses were in charge of Chief Nurse Elizabeth Folckemer.

They were attached to the First British Army, and before going to France they were received by King George and the Queen. They wore on their arrival their insignia, which is a combination of the American eagle and the British lion. Between May 26, 1917, and Jan. 23, 1919, 17,000 patients passed through the hospital.

On Sept. 4 twenty of the nurses, in charge of Miss Betty Connelly of Cleveland, formed Mobile Hospital 15 and were sent to the central clearing hospital in the Argonne sector. They stayed there until December. For services performed in the face of grave danger Miss Nettie Eisenhart of Green Springs, Ohio, and Miss M. J. Roche of Menlo Park, Cal., received the British Ribbon of Merit. Miss Roche was administering an anesthetic in an amputation case when a shell burst outside the operating room. She kept right on with her work. Two days later, while at a clearing station sixty miles from Amiens, Miss Eisnhart performed a similar deed of heroism.

On the Heredia returned Miss Sallie Parker of 270 Park Avenue, who went to France in January, 1918, and served as Nursing assistant at Military Hospital 1, at Neuilly. Other nurses who arrived were from Texas and Maryland.

On the second day out, about 300 miles west of Brest, Captain A. H. Birks sighted a burning ship of about 5,000 tons, evidently a British tramp. He steamed close by, and found the vessel ablaze from stem to stern. She seemed to be loaded with cotton, and had been abandoned.

MAYOR ROLPH SEES HYLAN.

San Francisco Executive Calls at City Hall.

Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, who is in New York City to welcome the returning soldiers from his own city, called upon Mayor Hylan at the City Hall yesterday. The two Mayors talked for a quarter of an hour and when Mr. Rolph left he was asked what he thought of New York's Mayor.

"Your Mayor," he said, "is a very fine, human, big-hearted man. The courtesy he extended me and our troops here exceeded our fondest expectations. We are indebted to him for many kindnesses."

TO HASTEN DISCHARGES.

Pershing Ordered to Release Meritorious Soldiers as Volunteers Arrive

WASHINGTON, April 3.—In formally advising General Pershing that 50,000 volunteers are being enlisted here to replace an equal number of men in his army who want to come home, the War Department has directed the Commander in Chief to return promptly for discharge selected meritorious cases as he receives these volunteer replacements.

The War Department's cablegram made public today, follows:

"We are now enlisting for three years 50,000 volunteers as follows: 25,000 infantry, 15,000 field artillery, 5,000 engineers, 3,000 medical department, 2,000 cavalry. These will be sent you in detachments of 1,000 for assignments to the Army of Occupation.

"Upon arrival of each detachment, return to the United States for discharge an equal number of men enlisted or, drafted for the emergency, selecting most meritorious cases, preferably those who fall under Circular 77, War Department, 1918 and those with Class A and Class B allotments."

WOOD GETS D. S. M. FOR WAR SERVICES

Gens. Scott and Morrison, with Other High Officers, Also Decorated.

JAPANESE COMMANDER CITED

Frank B. Jewett and Charles Eiseman, Civilians, Also Receive Medal from War Department.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—A list of officers to whom the Distinguished Service Medal has been awarded for exceptionally meritorious service during the war, issued by the War Department today, includes the names of Major Gens. Leonard Wood, Hugh L. Scott, and John F. Morrison.

At the same time the department announced the award of the medal to General K. Otari of the Japanese Army "for especially meritorious and distinguished service as senior allied commander in Siberia."

Among other officers to whom the medal is given are:

Brig. Gens. Robert M. Danford, Oliver Edwards, Frank K. Fergusson, Charles McK. Saltzman, Archibald H. Sunderland, E. Eveleth Winslow, Lytle Brown, and John J. Bradley; Major Gens. Willard A. Holbrook and Guy Carleton; Colonels James G. Steese, Bradley Dewey, Robert E. Wyllie, and J. R. McAndrews; Lieut. Col. S. J. M. Auld, British Army, and Colonel E. D. Giles, British Army.

Two civilians received the medal. Frank B. Jewett, late Lieutenant Colonel in the Signal Corps, for his service in connection with the development of technical apparatus for the army, and Charles Eiseman, late Vice President of the Committee on Supplies, Council of National Defense, for his "energy, courage, business ability, and foresight" in enlisting American industry and thus making possible "the proper and prompt equipment of our armies with clothing and equipage."

The citation of Major Gen. Holbrook refers to his "conspicuous service as Commanding General of the Southern Department, where his firmness and tact in handling a threatening situation on the Mexican border materially improved the relations between the United States and Mexico."

General Wood's decoration was based on his service as a department, division, and camp commander during the war. The citation says:

"He has displayed qualities of leadership and professional attainments of a high order in the administration and training of his various commands, and has furthered in every way during the war the system of officers' training schools."

The citation given General Scott mentions the fact that as Chief of Staff he persistently urged the adoption of the selective service law, and as Commanding General at Camp Dix organized and trained the "miscellaneous troops committed to his care."

COL. DICKMAN KILLED WITH MAJOR J. W. BUTTS

Commanding and Executive Officers Fall in Airplane at Souther Field.

AMERICUS, Ga., April 3.—Lieut. Col. Frederick W. Dickman, commanding officer at Souther Field, near here, and Major John W. Butts, executive officer, were killed today in the fall of an airplane in which they were making a flight. Colonel Dickman was the son of Major Gen. Dickman, commanding the Third American Army of the Expeditionary Forces.

The two officers had been up for the customary afternoon flight and had made the last turn of the field preparatory to descending, when their engine suddenly stopped and the airplane came crashing down in a tail spin from a height of 200 feet.

Both officers were graduates of West Point. Major Butts's home was Cisco, Texas.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Lieut. Col. Frederick T. Dickman, who with Major John W. Butts, his executive officer, was killed today at Souther Field, was the only son of Lieut. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, now in command of the American Army of Occupation in Germany. Lieut. Col. Dickman was a Captain of Cavalry in the regular service, and before the war served with the Pershing expedition in Mexico, in pursuit of Villa.

He was ordered to duty with the Signal Corps in Washington, was transferred to the Air Service, and last April went to San Diego and learned to fly, returning to Washington in October for duty under Major Gen. Kenly, the Director of Military Aeronautics.

Both Lieut. Col. Dickman and Major Butts were sent in January last to Souther Field. Major Butts had been on duty here as the Air Service's representative with the General Staff at the Army War College. He was newly married and the father of a young child.

Lieut. Col. Dickman, who is survived by a wife and several children, was born in Kansas City, July 5, 1883, and was appointed to West Point in 1902. On graduation, in 1906, he was assigned to the 2d Cavalry. In August, 1912, he was promoted to be First Lieutenant of the 2d Cavalry, was assigned to the 8th Cavalry in 1914, and transferred to the 15th Cavalry in 1915.

Major Butts was born in Texas, Sept. 26, 1890, and was appointed to West Point from that State in 1910. Graduating, in June, 1914, he was made Second Lieutenant of the 3d Cavalry. He was one of the youngest Captains of cavalry in the regular service, being only 29 years old, but had the rank of Major in the Air Service.

Honor Head of K. of C. War Work.

William P. Larkin, American Director of Knights of Columbus Overseas Work, was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Catholic Club last evening. There were more than 100 guests present and Dr. Harry Swift of the New York Chapter presided. The speakers included William J. McGinley, Marcel Knecht of the French High Commission, William J. Mulligan, Peter W. Collins of Boston, Father John J. Wynne, Congressman Jerome J. Donovan, and William Fox.

The Values Are $50 and $52.50

THERE'S the true Fifth Avenue look in the smart lines of these suits. The fabrics are lustrous Spring weavings, shrunk in the best custom way. The materials and handiwork are of the finest Kirschbaum quality. These garments were constructed to sell at $7.50 to $10 above our figures. But we have scaled down our margin to a point that makes our prices the lowest in New York for clothing of the finer type.

Argonne flannels, Scotch Cheviot effects and Australian wool worsteds in stripes, checks, herringbones and mixtures. Silk quarter lined—skeleton lined—full lined.

ARCH PRESERVER SHOE
TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFFICE

Above Trade Mark on All Genuine "Arch Preserver" Shoes.

Shoes as They Should Be
And Fitted by the Only Scientific Method in the World
For Men, Women, Boys, Misses

What Women Want

When it comes to shoes, most women put "style" above everything else. This, of course, is all wrong

But when you can get style, a perfect fit, absolute comfort and long service in a pair of shoes, this is all right!

You will find this combination in "Arch Preserver" Shoes—and "there's a reason!"

This aristocratic shoe is the outgrowth of forty years' experience in making fine shoes and close observance of the developments of the foremost orthopedists, coupled with the intelligently directed research work of our own specialists.

Nearly two thousand of the foremost shoe dealers throughout the United States and Canada have put their stamp of approval on this distinguished shoe. They, before any one else, were quick to see the advantage of the "Arch Preserver" Shoe. They knew that it would be in a class by itself—and give satisfaction to their customers. Increased satisfaction to customers means a steadily increasing trade for the dealer.

"Arch Preserver" Shoes come in many fine leathers and some fabrics. Priced from $8.50 to $12.00.

We will be pleased to have you try on these shoes without obligating you to buy.

The Arch Preserver Shoe Shop, Inc.

ARE YOU

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW?

This question decides your rating in the world in which you live. It gets you position and promotion. It fixes your salary. It extends or limits your influence with others. It determines the number and kind of friends you have. It achieves or halts your ambitions.

This is equally true of men and women, always of men and far more today of women than ever before, as they have been required to take the places, on account of the war, alongside of men in the industries.

"Knowledge is power"—that is, accurate, practical, usable knowledge. Ignorance is a millstone which holds men and women in the below-the-average class.

The Road to Success Lies Right Before You

Think it over. Ask yourself, "How much do I know?" "Do I know all I can know?"

When you have answered these questions, when you come face to face with the truth that only the lack of easily obtainable knowledge holds you back; THEN ACT.

Make yourself more intelligent—grow. Own a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica, the greatest educational factor ever put into book form, and read. Open this wonderful storehouse of human knowledge and take from it what you need to put yourself in your rightful place.

What Makes the Britannica So Wonderful?

First, within its 30,000 pages every subject under the sun is discussed, including history, religion, art, agriculture, science, politics, inventions, mythology, mechanics, physics, electricity, law, medicine, and everything of any human interest.

Second, it is an accurate and complete record of all knowledge. It is written so interestingly, so fascinatingly, that it entertains and stimulates alike child and college professor. It is the work of 1,500 recognized authorities, each an expert.

Third, the new Eleventh Edition, which is the latest edition, includes 41,000 articles, totalling 44,000,000 words. More than 500,000 separate and important facts are indexed, and easily accessible. There are 15,000 illustrations and maps.

MAJOR T. L. PIERCE CITED FOR BRAVERY

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The Commander in Chief, in the name of the President, has awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to the following-named officers and soldiers for the acts of extraordinary heroism described after their names:

Major Thomas L. Pierce, 325th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Juvin, between Oct. 11 and 14. Although suffering from a machine gun bullet wound, he refused to go to an aid station, but remained in personal command of his battalion during the action. Upon receiving two other wounds three days later, this officer again refused assistance and remained with his command until the afternoon, when he was again severely wounded. He permitted himself to be evacuated only after he had given his successor detailed instructions and information. Home address, H. H. Pierce, brother, 49 Wall St.

Private Barnett Bassman, Co. A, 325th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Juvin, on Oct. 16. When many squads of his company had been broken up and the men scattered, Private Bassman, with great courage, collected fifteen men, who had become separated from their squads, and organized them into a provisional platoon, which he successfully led in the attack, thereby contributing materially to the success of his company. Home address, M. Bassman, uncle, 783 Beck St., New York.

Private Donald H. Pegg, (deceased,) Medical Detachment, 12th Machine Gun Battalion. For extraordinary heroism in action near the Bois de Ogons, on Sept. 30. While engaged in administering first aid under terrific machine gun fire he voluntarily went to an especially dangerous position to care for a wounded soldier, and in so doing was himself killed. Next of kin, George A. Pegg, father, Arlington, N. J.

Private John J. Hanley, Co. E, 326th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Juvin, on Oct. 11. While on duty as a stretcher bearer he was painfully wounded in the head, but he nevertheless continued to evacuate the wounded, crossing and recrossing the Aire River several times under heavy fire, and refusing to secure treatment himself until all of the other wounded had been cared for. Home address, Mrs. Ella Hanley, mother, 208 East Forty-ninth St., New York City.

LAST OF 27TH LEAVES TODAY.

Little Over Four Days Required to Complete Demobilization.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP UPTON, L. I., April 3.—There is little left of the 27th Division here tonight, and by tomorrow its last two units, two small sanitary and supply organizations, will have wound up, by their departure from camp, the gigantic task of demobilizing such an enormous force in a little over four days.

During today there were mustered out the 102d Field Signal Battalion, 105th Artillery, 102d Engineers and their train, the 104th Machine Gun Battalion, and the 102d Ammunition Train. In all 4,300 officers and men were paid off and sent away on special trains as fast as they gathered at the station. The 897 officers and men of the sanitary train and the 462 of the supply train will probably be on their way home by noon tomorrow.

The areas vacated by the units of the 27th have been cleared up and prepared for heavy arrivals of troops that are expected from Hoboken.

Before-the-War Styles Won't Do

BOTH the man who has fought and the man who has served the fighter are feeling the new spirit of the times.

The Reward of Military Training

The strain of war called forth energy hitherto untapped. The man who has given his best is now reaping dividends in a strengthened physique and a quickened mind.

It is natural that The HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER, the leading maker of service uniforms, should be the first to grasp the change in body and spirit.

No maker of clothing can hope to satisfy the present-day man with hastily revised copies of before-the-war patterns.

The HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER foresaw the war-developed figure, and its Spring models have been fashioned from the cloth up, with a sharp appreciation of what the young man wants.

What the Young Man Wants

In variety of fabrics, in authoritative design, and in sheer style, these models are a clear demonstration of KUPPENHEIMER standards.

Good clothes always cost a little more, and they are worth it. It's not what you pay but the clothes service you get that counts.

WILL RECONSIDER STEEL PRICE-FIXING

Industries Board Will Confer with Railroad Administration Today.

BOTH HAVE CABLED WILSON

Railway Department Still Firm in Refusal Not to Buy at the Board's Figures.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Another effort will be made tomorrow to bring about a reconciliation among Government agencies which are now split wide open over the program of the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce for the stabilization of prices affecting various industries, but developments today seemed to supply confirmation for the belief that the Railroad Administration and possibly other Government departments will not buy at the new schedule of iron and steel prices approved by the board unless ordered to do so directly by President Wilson.

The situation has now reached a point where there is an apparent breach in the President's Cabinet over the extent to which the Industrial Board should be permitted to go in price-fixing. Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce and Secretary Glass of the Treasury, it is reported, have sent cables to the President in Paris. Mr. Redfield hopes the President will back up the board's request that the Railroad Administration and other Government agencies accept its findings. On the other hand Secretary Glass has left no doubt that he is utterly opposed to a price-fixing program which would compel acceptance by any Government purchaser, and has intimated that the Railroad Administration is not alone among the Government agencies which are of that mind.

So far as could be learned today the President has taken no action since he first was quoted as giving his approval to the general plan as evolved in the Industrial Board. The opponents of the board assert that this means nothing, as at the time the President was asked for his approval the program did not include compelling the Government departments to accept the prices agreed upon by the board.

Call Price Fixing Unlawful.

The clash between the Industrial Board and its opponents is over whether the board is following a course of mediation or has abandoned mediation in calling upon Government agencies to buy at certain prices, and entered upon a policy of price fixing which would not be countenanced by the Attorney General. Opponents of the board assert that mediation has been dropped and unlawful price fixing substituted. They argue that it is not within the lawful province of the Industrial Board to make an agreement with the steel or other industry which is predicated upon an actual promise that the Government agencies will buy at specifically quoted prices and that these prices must, in effect, be accepted by the private purchasers.

T. C. Powell, representative of the Railroad Administration on the Industrial Board, asserts that in the name of the Railroad Administration he declared that neither the new prices on rails nor on other steel products would be acceptable. Another version is that Mr. Powell made such an announcement in regard to rails, but did not register the same protest against prices quoted for other steel commodities. All are agreed, however, that Mr. Powell served notice that the Railroad Administration would not buy rails at the prices quoted.

In contending that it is not obligated in any way to accept the price schedule, supporters of the Railroad Administration assert that there was nothing in the Industrial Board's statement in announcing the schedule which asserted that the Government departments had made such an agreement.

The position also is taken that the Industrial Board is now acting entirely at variance with purposes announced in statements by Secretary Redfield in February. These statements, it is held, made the point that compulsion was not to be part of the Industrial Board's program. The change in attitude, it is asserted, began about March 10, and since that time the Board has taken the position that the Government departments must accept its agreements with the industries and by making purchases at that level, establish a market. This, the board's opponents hold, is price-fixing in an unlawful form.

Controversy Over Conference.

Secretary Glass today took exception to the fact that Chairman Peek of the Industrial Board had inserted a line into the statement which Mr. Glass issued last night, following the conference held at the Treasury Department. The statement by Mr. Glass ended with the words:

"The matter was recommitted to the board for further consideration." As amended by Mr. Peek, without approval of Mr. Glass, it read:

"The matter was recommitted to the board for further consideration with the Railroad Administration."

"Nobody," said Secretary Glass, "was authorized to add to or subtract from the statement issued by me on behalf of the conference. The amendment made by Mr. Peek was totally misleading. The matter was not recommitted for any specific purpose but the whole subject was recommitted to the Industrial Board for reconsideration."

Secretary Glass made it known that the idea of getting together some such organization as the Industrial Board originated with his office and that he had never intended that it should assume such powers as it now apparently was determined to employ if it could obtain sanction.

The Industrial Board made no statement today indicating that it intended to dissolve. Chairman Peek said he would not say anything which would further muddy the waters, at least until after the meeting tomorrow. As to the change made in the statement issued by Secretary Glass, it was stated that Secretary Redfield and other members of the Industrial Board had been consulted and that they agreed the sense of the meeting was best stated by including the amendment.

Director General Hines of the Railroad Administration issued a statement tonight defining his position in regard to efforts to reach an agreement between the Industrial Board and the coal operators over price schedules. He made it plain that the Railroad Administration was not ready to accept a compulsory price fixing plan. The statement said in part:

"An interesting fiction appears to be receiving some currency as to the attitude of the United States Railroad Administration in purchasing coal. This fiction is to the effect that the Railroad Administration is conducting its purchases of coal in such a way as to force producers to sell to it below the cost of production, thus in turn forcing them to increase their prices to the rest of the community. The assertion of this fiction seems to carry with it the suggestion that in order to prevent the Railroad Administration from accomplishing this purpose, it is important to find a way to remove all competition in bidding for such Government business and instead to fix in the respective mining districts uniform prices at which all producers would be willing to sell and at which the Railroad Administration would have to buy.

"The remedy thus suggested for this fictitious evil would, of course, have the result of giving the coal operators the relatively high prices fixed without any competition, which they could use as a basis for selling to the general public, so that the element of competition would fade from the picture and virtually the whole consuming public would be paying prices which in the aggregate would be far in excess of what would be necessary to maintain existing wages and pay sufficient profits.

"While it hardly seems necessary to do so, I wish to give the country the assurance that the Railroad Administration has no such unjust and short-sighted purpose as to force producers to sell below cost or to impose a burden on the rest of the public.

"As an illustration of the caution which the Railroad Administration is observing, it has established the policy that each railroad shall buy its own coal, thus avoiding any greater concentration of purchasing power than existed under private management. It has also instructed that in purchasing coal, railroads must take into consideration the Director General's policy to make as wide a distribution of the tonnage bought as conditions will permit * * * It has also directed that no railroad should accept any bid which would involve the cutting of the existing scale of mining wages."

Steel Producers Puzzled.

The opposition displayed by Director General Hines to the newly established steel prices came as a decided surprise to local steel manufacturers. While none was willing to comment on the subject, it was evident in the numerous consultations which occurred in steel company offices that the producers were puzzled over the situation, especially as it had application to a possible recission of the price schedule. When the special committee of the American Iron and Steel Institute returned from Washington after the price-fixing session with the Industrial Board a fortnight ago, some of the members asserted that the quotations for rails and certain other forms of steel were bed-rock at current costs and could not be lowered without loss to numerous companies.

The producers were especially disturbed by the hitch over rail prices because of the possible effect on sentiment among consumers of commercial steel. A fairly good buying movement started immediately after the new quotations were announced, and this was expected to gain headway rapidly if the railroads entered the market. Estimates of railroad needs for rails alone just before the price was cut called for at least 1,500,000 tons to be delivered this year. The steel makers apparently had reason to believe that the Railroad Administration would place orders for a large part of the requirements, and that this would stimulate private buying. Yesterday the feeling prevailed that the entire price situation might have to be revised, a process which would take considerable time and tend to check general purchases until a fresh basis had been found to direct the future of the market.

Rickenbacker to Aid Actors' Fund.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, accompanied by Pearl White, the motion picture actress, will fly over the Polo Grounds a week from Sunday, on the occasion of the Field Day in aid of the Actors' Fund. The principal event of the afternoon will be a baseball game in which many well known actors will participate.

The War Camp Community Chorus of 5,000 voices will sing patriotic numbers. Tickets have been placed on sale at all theatre box offices and ticket agencies.

OPERA

By James Gibbons Huneker

A Triple Benefit Bill.

Yesterday afternoon at the Metropolitan Opera House there was a Verdi festival for the benefit of the Metropolitan Opera Emergency Fund. Three acts, representing different periods of the great Italian composer, were sung: Act IV. from "Il Trovatore," with Marie Rappold, Sophie Braslau—who sang wonderfully well—Martinelli, De Luca—who substituted for Thomas Chalmers, indisposed—and Pietro Audisio. Gennaro Papi conducted. Acts II. and III., Scene 3, from "Il Forza del Destino," with Rosa Ponselle, Raymonde Delaunois, José Mardones, and Pompilio Malatesta. Papi conducted. Ballet, Act III., with Rosina Galli, Bonfiglio, and corps de ballet. And Act III. from "Aïda," with Claudia Muzio, Kathleen Howard, Enrico Caruso, De Luca—who again substituted, this time for Clarence Whitehill, indisposed, and Giulio Rossi. Roberto Moranzoni conducted.

Caruso was in magnificent form and Miss Muzio sang her great solo as she had not sung it this season. All the artists were recalled by a large and enthusiastic audience.

Last "Barber of Seville."

"Last time this season" is the red-letter line across most of the Metropolitan Opera billboards on Broadway, and the last "Barber of Seville" was sung last evening, with fine ensemble and familiar cast. Mme. Barrientos was the Rosina, De Luca the Figaro, with Charles Hackett in the rôle of his début, and other parts sung Malatesta and Rothier. Mr. Papi conducted. Tonight the American novelties of the year will be repeated, while tomorrow Caruso and Matzenauer have a final "Samson et Dalila" matinée, and in the evening Farrar sings "Thaïs." Two weeks more will end the season.

The Morris Recital.

Edward Morris, a young American pianist, who made such a favorable impression earlier in the season, gave his last piano recital at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon. His program was well spaced as to contrast, and his playing admirable, especially in the Toccata of the D minor fugue of Tausig-Bach; the fugue suffered a too insistent tempo rubato, which blurred the purity of its line; and there was also a tendency to overpedal. But the two dances of Beethoven were charming. Of the Chopin group the B minor octave study from Opus 25 was the most convincing, especially the legato melody in B; there was excellent cantilena in Chopin's first Nocturne in B flat minor. But, as a whole, the Chopin interpretations of Mr. Morris were rather literal.

KNECHT TALKS ON ART.

Says France Should Be Protected Against German Ambition.

About sixty members of the Architectural League of New York gave a dinner last night at the Academy of Design, 215 West Fifty-seventh Street, to Marcel Knecht, Director of the Official Bureau of French Information and former managing editor of Art et Industrie, published in Paris for the advancement of the arts allied to architecture. Mr. Knecht, who was introduced by H. G. Magonigle, President of the League, talked on "Nature as Expressed in the Arts of Lorraine."

The speaker showed the close connection between local industries and the local art of Lorraine, Nancy, and Lunéville. The natural resources of the country, such as the salt mines, sand, forests, &c., had encouraged and made easier, he said, masterpieces in glass, wood, and pottery. He spoke of the work of such modern French artists as Galle, Daum, Majorelle, Mougin, and Baccarat, all of whose work, he said, should be better known in this country. On the effect of the war regarding French art Mr. Knecht said:

"France needs to be protected not only against German art, but even against German ambition. Some people believe that the revolution pacified the German spirit of domination, but there is still existing danger in this quarter."

MAY FLY 4 NAVY PLANES.

Experiments Being Made with Liberty Motors for Ocean Flight.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Experiments are under way at the Naval Air Station at Rockaway Beach, L. I., to determine the number of Liberty motors which will drive the naval seaplanes on the proposed flight across the Atlantic Ocean next month. The three N-C type of planes now in commission were designed for three engines, but officers in charge of preparations for the flight believe it will be possible to add a fourth motor, giving each plane 1,600 horsepower.

Four motors will be carried by the N-C 4, now being completed at Garden City, L. I., and most officers favor the use of this number on the flight, both because of the increased power and because the planes could be better managed in the event one motor went out of commission.

It was indicated today at the Navy Department that the number of machines to leave Newfoundland would depend largely upon whether any of those in commission were smashed during the preliminary tests or on the trip from Rockaway to the "jumping off" place. From this it was inferred that it was planned to start three and possibly all four of the N-C type craft.

25,000 Have Seen "Veronica's Veil."

The fifth season of the Passion Play, "Veronica's Veil," which is being given at St. Joseph's Auditorium, in West Hoboken, has attracted more than 25,000 people, and is announced to be one of the most successful seasons of the play to date. Additional performances will be given on Friday night, April 11, and Monday, April 14. The season will end on April 15.

Excessive Demands

The demand for advertising space in The New York Times is so great that it is frequently impossible to publish all the advertising offered for a given day, as The Times is limited to twenty-four pages on week-days.

Today 23 columns of advertisements are omitted and 110 columns printed.

There is reasonable assurance that all advertising accepted will be published on Sunday or Monday, but it is difficult to give promise of publication on other days of the week.

$37,000,000 MOTOR PLAN.

Corporation Vote to Extend Plants Includes One at Bristol, Conn.

DETROIT, April 3.—The General Motors Corporation today announced plans for the extension of its plants in various parts of the country, involving an expenditure of over $37,000,000, "as an answer to the feeling of uncertainty in industrial and financial circles over post-war conditions," President W. C. Durant explained.

Of the total budget, $26,000,000 will be expended in Michigan, more than $4,000,000 each in Janesville, Wis., and St. Louis, $800,000 at Muncie, Ind., and $1,028,000 at Bristol, Conn.

FIXED PRICES.

Prices which are fixed in the sense of being compulsory, without economic justification, are rightly odious. An example is afforded by the Post Office's increase of telegraph rates and threat to increase telephone rates. It is true that the plea of economic justification is made, but it is offset by the offer of a responsible company to provide the service without the increase of rates. Where the facts are disputed there can be no agreement on the decision. The prices of coal and iron, which are called "fixed," are only agreed upon by responsible representatives of the industries. That they are not fixed in the sense of being extorted appears from the Director General's refusal to pay them. No law compels him to pay them. He is under no duress other than that of facts and conditions, and they will not yield to the imposition of his will over that of those whose position before public opinion is better than his own. The railroads are not now for the first time seeking to buy their coal cheaper than others. Before now they have worked their own coal mines so cheaply that they destroyed the coal market for private miners. That was why a statute was passed—the commodity clause of the Hepburn act—to forbid railways owning and operating mines. The result of forbidding the railways' economic protection of themselves was that coal was made dearer to the railways, and that everybody was compelled to pay railway rates so much higher that the railways benefited by what was intended as punishment.

It is not surprising that so intelligent and experienced a railway man as the Director General takes a position which is antagonistic to other departments of the Government. It is natural for him to carry into public operation the methods of private operation. But just as the telegraph rates afford an example of compulsory and unpopular increase of prices, so the Corn Products case affords an example of an unlawful and obnoxious cheapness, which the Director General is seeking to carry over from private into public management. The Corn Products Trust cheapened prices by uneconomic competition in methods rightly penalized under the rule of reason. To use an example familiar to the Director General, the case of the weak and strong producers of coal is similar to that of the weak and strong railways. The Interstate Commerce Commission came to grief because it was unwilling to make a rate for the weak railways which would allow what was deemed excessive profit to the strong railways. The commission was appointed to regulate rates, and slipped into the regulation of profits, with disaster wider than its own. There is a like dilemma in fixing a price for coal which shall keep weak producers alive, and not allow excessive profits to the strong coal producers. Hitherto the bituminous producers have not been organized, and the railways thought it to their interest to set the weak and strong against each other and to get their coal near, at, or below cost of production.

That is not in the public interest. Fair profits are in the public interest as much as fair wages. It is difficult to fix a fair wage by law, but it can be approximated and evaded. It is more difficult, probably impossible, to fix a fair profit by law, since there is no such necessity of earning a profit as of earning a living, and no way of compelling capital to work. Capital has retired from railway and public utility enterprises because prices really fixed have reduced profit beyond capital's idea of what is fair. The result is that the public is in the way of losing its accommodations or of providing them at its own cost. Yesterday the Massachusetts Supreme Court decided, in a case which has been suggested for imitation by this city, that it was constitutional to lay taxes to make good deficit of dividends guaranteed by law. There are those who think it better to make those who profit by the accommodations provide their cost. Taxpayers who object to paying dividends with their money have a right to a choice between taxes and fares.

Federal taxpayers are obligated to pay the dividends which railways earned under private management. They are running up a deficit, and the Director General is seeking to reduce it by cheapening his coal cost. He is not entitled to a cheapness which costs too much. Cheapness of coal which would depress that industry, and which would obstruct the general industrial reconstruction necessary to prosperity in peace, comes too high. The coal and iron industries are entitled to a price schedule which shall keep in operation producers whose output is wanted for consumption. The railways could provide themselves with cheap coal if Congress would let them, and could also provide cheaper rates and better accommodations than will ever be provided under public operation. The public is entitled to pay for what it gets in the way it prefers, but it will not long get what it wants by law any more than the railways will get, or should get, coal below a fair agreed price.

SOUND WORDS FROM MAYOR HYLAN.

Whatever little divergencies have occasionally separated Mayor Hylan from numbers of his fellow-citizens, all Americans of this city will applaud his effort to stop the preaching of the gospel of destruction by the aliens whom we too hospitably shelter, to the injury and for the ruin of our form of government, of equal rights, and of ordered freedom. In a letter to the President of the Board of Aldermen, Mayor Hylan proposes the preparation and submission to that body of an ordinance to prevent the holding of meetings "conducted in a foreign language for the abuse of our Government, or by or under the auspices of any person or persons who are not citizens of the United States." This too tolerant and indulgent country, following still the old tradition that it is "an asylum for the oppressed of all nations," has become a camp meeting for foreign propagandists, who seek to destroy its political institutions, who have no sympathy with its free and generous policy, who seek by violence to overthrow democratic republican self-government and to set up in its place a monstrous, intolerant class autocracy. One may differ with the Mayor in believing that these missionaries of disaster are "wild, crazy people." They are deliberate destructionists. Their wildness and their craziness are descriptive only of their theories, which contradict undoubted social and economic fact and the recorded experience of mankind.

In the dissemination of those theories, in the winning over of the ignorant, the discontented, the intellectually and morally weak elements of the community, they are far from being wild and crazy. They proceed with a deliberate plan and program. As Mayor Hylan says, deluding themselves and others with the belief that "they are the apostles of liberty," they "preach murder and destruction as a quick remedy for all the economic shortcomings of the human race." If they preached in English, the reasonable part of the population, the immense majority, would take notice of the poisonous and infect opinions poured out, would be indignant and alarmed, and would take the necessary measures for its protection. As it is, the city is invaded by aliens who come here to disturb it, to emit in a dozen foreign tongues the evangel of overturn and murder. These insolent aliens, essentially enemies as well as aliens, spout revolution, aid and comfort our enemies, are the accomplices and abettors of Germany and Bolshevist Russia at home and abroad. Under the protection of our laws they work constantly for the subversion of those laws, of the Constitution, and for the birth and triumph here of a savage communism that would banish equality, justice, social tolerance, freedom, and establish a class despotism.

"We must not tolerate," writes Mayor Hylan, "those who have not been in this country long enough to learn our language, or who are not citizens, to abuse our hospitality by endeavoring to incite anarchy. The Constitution gives our citizens the right to assemble and speak freely, but I do not believe it was intended to protect aliens in an effort to tear down the Stars and Stripes." The ordinance advocated by Mayor Hylan ought to be passed, and it is a pleasure to find him one in purpose and feeling with the great body of his fellow-citizens.

PROHIBITION AT WORK.

Governor Sleeper of Michigan, who is in this city to welcome the returning Wolverine troops, has been thoughtful enough to tell New York of the legal pleasures that await under the benign sway of prohibition. In his State, much infested by outlanders in automobiles and airships and other tricks and devices to bring in forbidden liquors, it is a felony to be caught with liquor in one's possession. In milder days it used to be an offense to be caught with liquor in possession of one's self. "The maximum punishment for the offense is a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for two years." As an earlier moralist has said, "So let the punishment fit the crime, the punishment fit the crime." Of course, juries willing to find a man guilty of this enormous, though strictly limited, interior and household, crime will be easily selected. Cynics whose cankered minds are quick to infer that this zeal of Legislatures is deliberately intended to make vigorous prohibition "odious" ought to be ashamed of themselves. Prohibition summons us all to a high moral plane; and we shall be glad to breathe, with whatever effort of the lungs, the rarefied atmosphere of its dizzy heights.

Much as Michigan merits praise, old Virginia merits more. If certain facts appear somewhat macabre, one cannot be squeamish when a great cause is at stake. The other day the body of a "member of a prominent Virginia family" was on its way from Baltimore to his home in Norton, Va. The coffin was made safe, so far as anything is or should be safe from what used to be considered desecration, by the certificates of a physician and an undertaker. Federal agents heard a rumor that whisky "was to be shipped through Roanoke concealed in that unusual way." They got a search warrant. They performed their gracious duty. If they found nothing, if the feelings of the dead man's relatives were not pleasant, if in Virginia even the dead cannot escape the sleepless vigilance of the agents of prohibition, why should old-fashioned Virginians or anybody else be angry? "Shall even the majesty and the sacredness of death be no bar to the activities of the anti-liquor agents?" asks The Richmond Times-Dispatch, honestly, no doubt, yet not without a certain smack of wet malignancy. Certainly not. Prohibition outcrows and overrides every consideration, profane or sacred. In fact, nothing else is sacred, or even important. Old delusions and customs, fantasies about personal liberties and rights, fade away in the burning light of this supreme sun of truth. Living or dead, King Alcohol must be hunted down, for the good of the community and the accompanying fees.

VILLA'S MARCH.

Our spirited old neighbor Francisco Villa may be described, in the language of notices of rewards for the capture of members of his profession, as "alive or dead," or should we say "alive and dead"? He is both or neither, according to the state of his business. Sometimes one is tempted to doubt, in spite of his amply documented history, if he is more than a name for a syndicate of gentlemen of the road. Skepticism sags, however, when sedate witnesses, innocent of pulque, depose to seeing him clad in a cheap gray suit, a flannel shirt, no wide-spreading sombrero, but "a fawn-colored hat" on his pate. A business bandit in a business suit inspires confidence in his reality if not in his intentions.

On the other hand, his elusiveness, provided he is himself and not a substitute, must make us sympathetic with, rather than distrustful of, the legend of the peons that, when hard pressed, he changes himself into a little dog and yelps ironically at the heels of the soldiers who have been tracking him. For this reason, doubtless, the design was attributed to the Carranzistas last year of hunting him down with bombing machines, surprising him from the ether and giving him no chance to canify himself. On account of the high price of gasoline or other sufficient reasons, this astute collector of benevolences and industrious Borderer hasn't had to bear the proposed overhead charges; and he is now advertising by means of delightful press agents at Juarez and El Paso, that Capital of Truth, his annual March opening and Spring season.

His advertising campaign has been conducted skillfully. In January he is 165 miles southwest of Chihuahua City, with 150 followers, looting a little, killing four Federal soldiers, hanging a civilian to encourage the others. A month later Juarez sniffs armed Villistas 83 miles to the south, and El Paso is full of American mining men who have fled from the inwards of Mexico to escape Francisco's modest request for $1,000,000 in gold. He feels himself to be a deserving charity. If collections are reported slow, it will be his melancholy duty to wreck the mines in Northern Mexico and kill the mining men. These rare appearances are but the first faint advance notices of his coming. In March the billboard men and pastepots grow more active and numerous. General Angeles's old Chief of Staff is arrested near Socorro, March 19. With eight or ten of his mounted men he is on his way to join Angeles and Villa to fight Carranza. Two days before Villa's men are holding for ransom certain persons, including "Bunk" Spencer, "the American negro ranch foreman," and in Southwestern Chihuahua Francisco is looting Colonia Juarez, a Mormon colony, and makes prisoners three Mormons, one of them a Bishop. March 20 the Mormons have arrived, safe and sound, at a logging camp 182 miles south of the border. Magnanimous Francisco! If he is forced to plunder religious persons, see how kind he can be to them!

March 20 the world hears of a touching manifesto issued by Villa on March 1. He summons all his old "Generals" to his side, there to fight for "liberty, bread, and justice." Hurrah for the Constitution of 1857, the reform of the courts, universal suffrage! "I am willing," he says, in a passage that must have affected him to tears, "to offer my life to see Mexico peaceful, happy, and prosperous." Sorry to spill Mexican blood, but spilled it must be "to overthrow Carranza, the usurper." March 21 the usurper's troops defeat Villa's smugglers of ammunition, according to the official account, and kill fifty-three of them, including Martin Lopez, Villa's lieutenant, said to be the first patriot to dynamite railway trains and plunder the passengers, and one of the raiders on the New Mexican town of Columbus four years ago this month. Federal loss, sixteen. Overthrow of the usurper and even the winning of Northern Mexico apparently postponed a little.

From Juarez, March 28, is sped the most engaging history or poem lately produced. An American, known in Juarez and throughout Mexico "as most reliable," recently a captive in Villa's camp, heard the champion of liberty, bread, and justice say that "he was ready to shoulder his rifle and aid the United States—his neighbor—to repel a foreign invasion, whenever needed." This is a sweet, neighborly spirit. Surely, if the Villistas ever invaded the United States, it was because of their ignorance of geography; and only cankered minds would attribute Villa's friendly sentiments, if he uttered them, to shortness of ammunition or a temporary miscarriage of his lofty plans. The truth or poetry of these Franciscan chronicles the discreet will not too diligently pry into. It is enough to know that Villa's Spring advertising campaign is wide open.

PROPHETS OF GLOOM.

The hard-working correspondents who try to discover what the Peace Conference is doing find the currents of opinion running backward one day and forward the next. Judging from dispatches published yesterday, the night before must have been a time of pessimism. If we believe several versions of the Conference's state of mind at that time, the worst is about to happen. According to The Tribune, the League of Nations is dead and Germany is to be allowed to name the peace terms. Poland, Bohemia, Rumania, and France are to be sacrificed in order to get the Germans to sign a peace promptly, and the world is lost.

The Chicago Tribune sees about the same prospect, though not quite so vividly. Germany is to keep Danzig and the Saar Valley, to have an army larger than the Allies originally intended, and to receive trade concessions. The World says that we are to make peace with Lenine, to refuse to support the Russian Democrats in rebellion against him, and to give Russia food in return for a promise that the Bolsheviki will cease their foreign propaganda—a promise whose lack of worth is evident. The same correspondent says that Marshal Foch, who prefers to fight the Bolsheviki rather than surrender to them, is charged by other delegates with being infected by a militaristic spirit.

All of these prophecies ascribe to the peace delegates the same state of mind—conviction that their peoples are so tired of war that they will not fight again, even to preserve the safeguards won by the military victory of last year, or to prevent the enemy from winning the war next year or the year after. Indeed, there have been many reports from Paris supporting this theory, but it is not likely that the Peace Conference is on the verge of surrender. Some of the delegates may be panicky; but a competent observer just returned from Germany brings the reassuring news that the German people, too, have had enough war. Their Government must sign any treaty that may be presented, though it will doubtless bluster till the last moment.

The reason the Peace Conference is not likely to surrender, to leave to Germany the mastery of Europe, with Poland and Bohemia and France in her hand whenever she chooses to close it on them, is that the peace delegates are men who want to stay in public life. They may or may not be right in holding that their peoples will not fight again, even to save their liberties; but however this may be, they know what would happen to rulers who gave up those liberties to the enemy. A government which signed such a peace would not last a week in France or Italy, and Mr. Lloyd George could hardly go back to face his Parliament even with the German fleet securely tied up in English harbors. The soldiers who won the war would make short work of politicians who lost it, and the politicians undoubtedly have this fact in mind.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

One Ship Brings a Cityful.

New realization, and for a good many people, perhaps, the first, of what a large ship the Leviathan is, follows reading the statistical report made on her last voyage from France. She carried, it seems, 14,426 human beings, of whom 12,287 were American soldiers of various ranks, and the remaining 2,139 her own officers and crew.

No ship, not even this one, ever carried as many people as this, and yet the Leviathan's full capacity was not utilized, for, had there not been a misunderstanding on the part of somebody in Washington, who did not know of all her possibilities, quarters for 600 more men would have been made on one of her decks by the erection there of "standee berths," whatever they may be.

This, it must be remembered, was no ferryboat trip of a few minutes or hours, but a transatlantic journey of seven days, and all of these thousands—more than live in many a self-respecting city, including not a few famous in history—had to be fed, and what that meant for the week is shown by the fact that 320 cooks, divided into watches, worked day and night, and in each twenty-four hours there were consumed, to mention only the more important comestibles, 35,000 eggs, 10,000 pounds of flour, 14,600 pounds of pork, 10,000 pounds of potatoes, and 3,000 pounds of sugar. And at that, only two meals a day were served!

Contented Because Homebound.

None of the Leviathan's passengers has complained of the "accommodations" that were provided, but it probably would not be contended that they would have satisfied passengers less eager than were these to get home. In spite of the missing 600, there was doubtless what would have been called overcrowding by anybody else, and especially by those who knew in other days the spacious life that was led on the big liners.

The soldiers didn't mind. After all, it was discomfort, not suffering, they had to stand, and with veterans of the great war discomforts do not count—when homeward bound.

Though there were on board enough wounded men to fill any ordinary hospital, there was only one death during the voyage, that of a man moribund when he was embarked.

It would be interesting to know how many of the Leviathan's passengers were aware that her tonnage is considerably greater than was the combined tonnage of all the ships in the Invincible Armada that gave England such a scare in the sixteenth century, and that if the whole British Navy of that day had been added the Leviathan's displacement would not have been much surpassed. Times have changed since then, but—well, there probably will be talking and writing about the Armada long after the Leviathan is forgotten.

His Place Is in the Army.

According to reports presumably veracious, a man who not long ago earned in this city a sinister eminence as leader of a gang of particularly vicious and dangerous criminals rendered such fine service as a member of the American Expeditionary Forces that all the officers in his unit, as well as all its privates, unite in praising his soldierly qualities and are going to do what they can to persuade Governor Smith to restore the citizenship forfeited by conviction of felony.

There can be no reasonable objection to that action. The war has done for this man what it has done for many—not only improved him physically, that is, but has awakened him mentally to the better and higher things of life and to a realization that a conflict with the law brings no reward except ruin and prison. The man expresses what seems to be sincere determination to lead an honest life, and as a civilian to deserve the respect won in the army by his courage, his devotion to duty, and his scrupulous observance of regulations the rightness and use of which he was quite intelligent enough to appreciate.

But, after he gets back his citizenship, as he should, and as almost certainly he will, with such claims for it as he can present, why does he not return to the place where his rehabilitation was effected? It will be his privilege, then, to enlist, and in the army his record will be better than clear. In civil life he will encounter difficulties, perhaps insuperable and probably discouraging, in spite of his new ambitions, and many doors will be closed because of transgressions past and repented. The army, if it will take him, will give him exactly the opportunity he needs. There his good qualities will have full room for effective display, and there will be neither temptation nor compulsion to return to old ways.

A Serious Sin of Omission.

That a policeman in the performance of police duty has a right to ask the assistance of any citizen who happens to be near, is a settled principle of law, as it is of common sense. To just what extent the citizen to whom such an appeal may be made is under obligation to give his help, and how much risk to life and limb he should take in doing it—those are questions not definitely settled, but some determination of them is highly desirable.

Take, for instance, the case of Patrolman Dennis D. Gleason, who, to prevent a murder, seized an armed man, early yesterday morning, and then for twenty minutes had with him the fight of his life while an interested crowd stood around watching the struggle. The policeman appealed repeatedly for aid, but none gave it, and only the fortunate arrival at last of another policeman ended the struggle.

If Gleason had been killed, as might easily have happened, every one of the bystanders who held aloof would have shared the responsibility for his death and would have been an accomplice, in reality, of the murderer. They were themselves all either criminals or cowards, and their guilt of gross incivism is obvious. For what they did, or rather for what they did not do, there should be a penalty, and would be one in an ideal State.

Youngest Majors.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Apropos of the very interesting statements regarding the youngest Major in the United States Army, I note that Major Hackett (Vermont University '17) will be 23 years of age in June, and that Major Murray Taylor (Harvard '18) was 23 in December. To these names I wish to add the name of Major James A. Meissner, commander 147th Aero Squadron, A. E. F., (Cornell '18,) the Brooklyn Ace, who will be only 23 on July 30 and who has now gone back to Cornell to finish his senior year.

All honor to these boys that won their high commissions so quickly and so deservedly.

Prohibition and Travel.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I much appreciate your timely warning in this morning's Times regarding the prohibition officers in Virginia. I had just engaged a drawing room and ticket to Los Angeles, via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific, which I immediately changed via Chicago so as not to expose my family and myself to the arbitrary actions of these officers. I would not mind taking the risk if I were to travel through Mexico, but such conditions in a civilized country should certainly be avoided if it can be done.

THE AMERICAN VIEW OF THE LEAGUE.

First Doubts Removed by Open Discussion, Followed by a Recognition of the Duty to Uphold in Peace the Principles We Went to War For.

By HENRY W. TAFT.

The belief undoubtedly pervades the mass of the people of the world that now is the time to find a way to prevent war in the future. The feeling is more or less inarticulate, but it is none the less widespread and insistent, and the statesmen in the Peace Council realize that a serious effort must be made to devise some practicable method to give it form and effect.

The United States has been the foremost nation of the earth in promoting the settlement of international disputes by arbitration and the postponement of war during the process. It has seemed strange, therefore, that a definite project for the avoidance of war should have met at first with hesitation and criticism in this country. But this attitude has been much changed by open discussion and the burning out of the fires of partisanship; and the solicitude lest our implication in European affairs should result in an undue surrender of our independence has been largely removed.

By long-established national habit, based on the warnings of Washington and Jefferson against entangling alliances, we have come to attach vital importance to the condition of political isolation which our geographical remoteness has enabled us to maintain. But the present discussion is making it increasingly clear that the wise policy of a century ago is not applicable to the conditions of today, first, because through cable communications and quick ocean transportation the United States has become geographically no more remote from the Continent of Europe than some of the European nations are distant from each other, and, second, because there no longer exist concerts of powers, offensive and defensive alliances and secret dynastic intrigues, possible only among autocratic sovereigns, and entered into, not to avoid war, but to secure supremacy through the use of force.

Washington's Warning.

The Farewell Address of Washington was delivered in 1796; the Revolutionary War had ended less than fifteen years before; the French Revolution had overturned French civilization and produced chaos and the Napoleonic wars were beginning; and our friendly relations with France, based on her generous and decisive assistance in the Revolution, had been seriously threatened. Our chief interest at that time was to create a self-sustaining nation, not dependent upon foreign nations for the continuance of its national existence. Such a thing as the formation of a League of Nations to avoid war was far from the thoughts of the nations of the world, and even if it had been attempted there would have been little reason for the newly created American Commonwealth to become a party to it.

It was, therefore, obviously true, to use Washington's words, that Europe had "a set of primary interests which to us have none, or a very remote, relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."

But the situation which Washington thus visualized was totally different from that which now confronts the world. The nations in the Peace Council are not striving to sustain some monarch upon a tottering throne or to establish the divine right of kings, or to secure a balance of power by transforming the nations of Europe into permanent armed camps, or to compel weak nations to submit to alien and oppressive rulers. On the contrary, the war and the peace negotiations have been a titanic effort to make all Governments the real representatives of the people, to prevent military autocracy as a principle of government from ever again arising to threaten the peace of the world, and to preserve modern civilization from the horrors of anarchy and Bolshevism.

The Necessity for Making the League a Part of the Peace Treaty.

We find responsible statesmen who still think that this nation has contributed all that it is called upon to do and can now with honor step aside and commit to the European nations the stupendous task of reconstructing the nations of the continent which have been shattered by the war. But what is the situation? When we went to war with Germany not only our national institutions, but also modern Anglo-Saxon civilization, were threatened, and we became as vitally involved as any European nation in the defense of Belgian neutrality and the destruction of military autocracy as a principle of government. For those objects of the war we became irrevocably committed to fight to the bitter end, and it was for that that we assumed a national indebtedness far greater than our people had ever dreamed of creating, and equipped and transported with miraculous speed an army of 2,000,000 men to the field of battle, where more than 50,000 of our young men made the supreme sacrifice and four times as many were grievously wounded.

And we have succeeded in our lofty and unselfish aims. The public opinion of the world, including probably that of the people of the Teutonic nations themselves, condemns forever any disregard of treaty obligations among civilized nations, and military autocracy as a principle of government has been banished forever from the earth. Out of Germany, Austria, and Russia new nations are to be carved and set up upon the principle of self-determination of their people on the basis of race and nationality. The Polish part of Germany, Austria, and Russia is to be transformed into a self-governing State. Czechoslovakia is to be created. The democracy of Jugoslavia is to be created in the south out of Austria and Hungary. New boundaries are to be established on race lines in the Balkans. Upon the same principle Rumania is to be enlarged by adding Transylvania and Bessarabia. Constantinople is to be made international, while the Dardanelles are to be an open avenue for all nations. Independent States are to be established in Palestine, Syria, Armenia, and Mesopotamia.

Thus seven new independent European republics and at least four infant but automatic Governments are to be set up in Asia Minor.

But it is too much to expect that the new nations thus created will in their infancy develop a national self-restraint which will save them from border quarrels among themselves, and already we begin to hear of threatened hostilities. Furthermore, it is doubtful whether a German system will emerge from the existing confusion which can, without the assistance of other nations, preserve order in Central Europe or defend itself against the disturbing effects of anarchy and Bolshevism pressing on its eastern front, although it is to the interest of the world that Germany should have, as soon as possible, a strong and permanent system controlled by the will of the people; for, however oppressive, however mediaeval, however disturbing to the peace of the world the German system was, at least it effectively maintained domestic stability and order in Central Europe; and now that that has been destroyed beyond the hope of restoration, the victors are responsible for finding a substitute or they fail in their duty to humanity. While it is hoped that the interposition of Czechoslovakia, a greater Rumania and Jugoslavia, between Germany and Russia will save Germany and the Western European countries from the destructive influences of Russian unrest, this cannot be assured without the joint action of all the European allies, and without the effective co-operation of the United States.

America's Responsibility.

In this situation this country cannot in honor escape a fair share of responsibility. It would be futile, as it would be dishonorable, for us now to say that the conditions which were exacted from Germany, Austria, Turkey, and Bulgaria were no longer the concern of the United States. However much we may have differed as to the extent to which it would have been advisable for us to become involved in European affairs, it became apparent early in the war, not only that the fate of the war-weary European nations depended upon us, but that the struggle was so desperate and the issue so doubtful that no longer could it be said, in the words of Washington, that Europe "has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation." On the contrary, there was a common danger, where the situation had little relation to the ordinary friendships and enmities and rivalries of the European nations of the eighteenth or nineteenth century.

It was this situation that led President Wilson on Jan. 8, 1918, to formulate as a basis for peace the fourteen points, and while many Americans felt, as I did, that he to an unnecessary extent took the initiative in injecting this country into the internal affairs of the Continent, it was upon the basis of those points (with two exceptions insisted upon by England) that the armistice was agreed to by all of the belligerent powers.

These fourteen points, among other things, included a readjustment of the frontiers of Italy, along "clearly recognized lines of nationality"; the safeguarding of the peoples of Austria, for the "autonomous development" of the nations which they saw fit to establish, (subsequently modified so as to provide for the recognition of a Czechoslovak nation and the nationalistic aspirations of the Jugoslavs and the restoration of the occupied territories of Rumania, Serbia, and Montenegro); free and secure access to the sea to be accorded to Serbia, the relations of the Balkan States to be determined by historically established lines of allegiance and nationality, and international guarantees of political and economic independence and territorial integrity of the Balkan States to be entered into; all the nationalities except those in the Turkish portions of the Ottoman Empire, that is to say Syria, Palestine, Armenia, and Mesopotamia, to be "assured an undoubted security of life and an absolutely unmolested opportunity of autonomous development," and the Dardanelles to be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guarantees; and an independent Polish State composed of territories inhabited by Polish populations with access to the sea "whose political, and economic independence and territorial integrity should be guaranteed by international covenant."

On July 4, 1917, the President added the further idea that the combined power of free nations was to be used to "check every invasion of right and serve to make peace and justice the more secure by affording a definite tribunal of opinion to which all must submit and by which every international readjustment that cannot be amicably agreed upon by the peoples directly concerned, shall be sanctioned."

And, finally, by Article XIV. of the original points it was specifically stated that "a general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small States alike."

With history thus made by the inevitable march of events and with the responsibility of this country thus solemnly formulated by the President of the United States as a condition of peace, and accepted by the victorious and the defeated nations alike, how can this country now withdraw from sustaining to the utmost any responsibility which can reasonably be expected of it to give substantial guarantees for the permanent maintenance of the national structures which are to be brought into being by the Treaty of Peace?

Not only has the matter become the subject of a solemn covenant on our part, but the people of Europe in their desperation rightly look to this country to save them from anarchy and Bolshevism. Indeed, it is not an exaggeration to say that they believe that if we were to withdraw our moral backing and our potential material support, they would be deprived of the chief bulwark protecting them from a threatened destruction of modern Christian civilization and that a League of Nations, however mandatory its terms, would be but a "rope of sand."

It is for these reasons that it is necessary not only to provide for a League of Nations as a part of the Treaty of Peace, but also to retain the principle of Article X.

Will the League Succeed?

The chance that a League of Nations will accomplish something substantial is enhanced by the epochal happenings of this war. In no previous war have so many nations of the world been engaged on one side or the other in war. Never have there been so many men called from their peaceful occupations. Never before has there been such a loss of life or such an enormous destruction of property; never so much individual and collective distress and hardship. No previous war has left so many nations on the verge of bankruptcy, which only many years of rehabilitation can remove.

The people of the world are not likely soon to forget these things, or the possibilities in the development in future wars of scientific methods for causing destruction of property and life; and all of these things have combined to produce an aversion to war far deeper than has ever before existed. But that is not all.

For the first time in the history of the world a situation has been created in which peace is no longer to be dependent upon the will of individual sovereigns or autocratic governments. Practically every nation of the world will from this time forth have a government representing, in one form or another, the people, and it is they who desire to abolish war as a means of settling disputes. This fact gives confidence that covenants, and even expressions of intention for the avoidance of war, will hereafter not be regarded as merely the insincere assurances of autocrats trained in the school of diplomatic intrigue, or as the high sounding but academic expressions of momentary aspirations of good but impotent Peace Commissioners.

ART NOTES.

Benguiat Collection at American Galleries—Museum Gifts.

The Benguiat collection on view at the American Art Galleries is so magnificent in its kind that the degree of appreciation it receives from the public will be a test of connoisseurship.

Unlike most collections in which emphasis is placed on fabrics and weavings, distinct classes of objects form special features of the whole group. Thus, in one of the smaller rooms is found a group of fifty-two English petit-point and stump embroidered pictures produced in England from the fifteenth to the eighteenth century, varied in subject and amusing in treatment, with the skill of the embroiderer rising to great heights in such examples as the fine old pictures in tent-stitch from the early Stuart period.

Another special group consists of Judaic objects, one of which is a diamond and pearl mounted Mezuzah, made by an Italian goldsmith in the eighteenth century. The minutely written parchment scrolls are contained in fluted tubes of Oriental crystal with superb silver mounting at the top and bottom. In this group are also beautiful silver sanctuary lamps, elaborate in design, but with the nobility of the Italian Renaissance in their general contour.

The Italian damasks and velvets, at the touch of which the fingers of a true collector must thrill, were made to be seen under the warm glow of Venetian lamps and in rooms built to be the canvases upon which might be painted great decorative pictures with draperies of these infinitely beautiful colors and the line provided by Renaissance furniture.

There are tapestries of different periods. In the lower gallery is a large historical tapestry, Flemish in origin, and of the Renaissance period. The design is ingenuously narrative in character. Henry IV. and Gabrielle d'Estrées are having a picnic on the grounds of the famous De Courcy Château. A cloth is spread on the greensward and wine and peacock pie are handed about by servitors. In the middle distance a wild bull is chased by a hunting party without at all disturbing the royal lover and his companion. In the background are the château and a fine old farmhouse, with grounds and lake and wooded hills. All this merges in a tender sparkle of silvery blues and golden yellows, faded and blond, yet still possessing the mysterious force of the ancient dyes.

A coarser and somewhat more vigorous tapestry is Flemish of the sixteenth century and represents "a noble company at a rural feast," strongly hatched in weaving, with robust reds, blues, greens, and yellows, and a remarkably fine border with festoons of flowers and fruit on grounds of brown and crimson.

There are silver palace lamps showing in delicate and vivid relief against the wealth of sumptuous color provided by the silks and velvets; there are Spanish ivories and enamels, masterpieces of delicacy and expression; there are laces and linens, temple hangings and bed covers, all of a kind to appeal to the richly informed and appreciative.

Gifts to Museums.

The painting entitled "The Angel," by Abbott Thayer, that recently was shown in the exhibition at the Knoedler Galleries of the works of Thayer and Sargent, has been purchased by Charles L. Freer of Detroit for the Smithsonian Institution (Freer Collection) at Washington, D. C.

The picture by Julius Rolshoven, "The Sun Arrow," from the same galleries, has been purchased by Henry Goldman, who has presented it to the Brooklyn Institute, where it will be shown at the forthcoming exhibition.

THE FEDERAL BOARD FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

Surely 'tis something Godlike to receive
These souls fresh-born and fresh-baptized with fire
And start them safely on a surer path.
Bewildered, some, the world has been too wild
For quick adjustment—and for these the hand
Stretched out in loving-kindness is God's boon.
Some have been stunted in the far-off past—
Far-off, though still a year away, maybe,
Since time may not be measured by its hours,
But by its high emotions. These have served
At tasks unloved, and now a hope has come—
A hope too dazzling to be quite believed,
Hope of a dream, a boyish dream, come true.
The artist-soul, chained to a desk; the youth
Who loves all outdoor things, the smell of soil,
The growing things he fain would help to grow;
The student torn from books ere he was grown,
To earn the needed wage—to these a hope
Dawns like a light in places underground.
And with the hope's fruition comes the thought:
"My country loves me!" Like a gracious warmth
It fills the lonely soul, and nevermore
Will fade the glow.
Thus, surely, will arise
A newer patriotism, of the heart, not head—
A deeper, sure devotion to the land
That by adoption or by birth is his.
Justice and pity mingle, as in Him,
And in the lad a fine sweet thing is born,
A finer love for country and for God.
Yes, it is something Godlike to do this!

ALMON HENSLEY.

MRS. VANDERBILT WEDS SON'S FRIEND

Divorced Wife of Alfred G. Marries Lieut. Paul Fitzsimons, U. S. N., 28—She Is 38.

BIG SURPRISE TO NEWPORT

Ceremony at Harbourview Follows Issuance of License—Bridegroom on Destroyer Evans.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 3.—Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt, one of the most prominent women of society and philanthropic workers, and first wife of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who was lost when the Lusitania was sunk by the Germans, was married here this morning to Lieutenant Paul Fitzsimons, U. S. N., in the library of the bride's residence, Harbourview. The Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, rector of Trinity Church, this city, performed the ceremony.

The marriage came as a great surprise to Newport. The first intimation that it was to take place was when Mrs. Vanderbilt and Lieutenant Fitzsimons appeared at the City Hall this morning at 9 o'clock, where they obtained their marriage license. They stopped at the Red Cross headquarters on their return to Harbourview to tell the officials and workers the news, receiving congratulations from all there assembled. The bride is Vice Chairman of the Newport Chapter of the Red Cross.

Lieutenant Fitzsimons is attached to the United States destroyer Evans, now in New York waters, to which is also attached Ensign William H. Vanderbilt, the bride's son by her former marriage, and they are close friends. Lieutenant Fitzsimons is the son of the late Medical Director Paul Fitzsimons, U. S. N., and Mrs. Fitzsimons of Washington, D. C. He was born in Newport, and is 28 years old. His bride is ten years his senior.

Major French Gives Sister Away.

A small group of relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. Ensign Vanderbilt acted as best man for the Lieutenant, and Major Amos Tuck French, brother of the bride, who returned this week from overseas, after a year's service in France, gave her in marriage. The bride wore a dark-blue traveling suit, topped with a small hat. Lieutenant Fitzsimons wore his uniform.

Attending the ceremony and the breakfast which followed were Mrs. Amos Tuck French, Mrs. Fitzsimons, the bridegroom's mother; Governor and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman of Rhode Island, Colonel and Mrs. Chatfield, Bishop Perry of Rhode Island, Miss Helen North, and a few old friends of the bride who reside in Newport, including Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Terry, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. H. Rowell and Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Van Rensselaer.

After the breakfast the couple sped away in a motor bedecked with white satin ribbons. Their destination is believed to be the bride's farm residence, in Chester, N. H. Mrs. Fitzsimons plans to retain her residence and all her interests in Newport as heretofore. The bridegroom's father some years ago was attached to the Naval Training Station here.

The destroyer Evans, since her commissioning and several visits to these waters for torpedoes and compass work, has been looked upon as a Newport warship, as her commanding officer, Commander Frank H. Sadler, U. S. N., is a Newport citizen.

Graduate of Naval Academy.

The Fitzsimons family is an old one and comes from South Carolina. The Lieutenant recently returned from European waters where he had been since last August. He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1914. The naval records show that he was aboard the Mohican on submarine duty, in 1916.

Although Mrs. Vanderbilt made her permanent residence at Harbourview, Newport, she had a week-end apartment in New York at the Ritz-Carlton, which she gave up some time ago. She has been very active in war relief work, and last October she was honored with a patriotic service medal in recognition of her tireless effort in behalf of the men of the army and navy stationed around Newport. A silver loving cup was also presented to her by the Naval Reserve Regiment. Her son enlisted at the beginning of the war in the naval reserves as a midshipman. He is 17 years old.

It has been frequently rumored that she was about to marry again, and while no formal announcement had been made of her engagement to Lieutenant Fitzsimons, it is said the fact has been known for several weeks by her nearest relatives and intimate friends.

Her First Marriage and Divorce.

Her first marriage, to the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, took place on Jan. 14, 1901, in the Zabriskie Memorial Church of St. John the Evangelist, Newport, and was a large and brilliant affair. It was referred to as undoubtedly a love match, the culmination of an attachment from early girlhood and boyhood.

Seven years later Mrs. Vanderbilt started suit for divorce, which was granted, and the papers ordered sealed. Mrs. Vanderbilt took her maiden name, and received the custody of their only child. After the divorce Mr. Vanderbilt spent much of his time in England, and it was there, three years after his divorce, that he was married to Mrs. Margaret Emerson McKim, who had divorced Dr. Smith Hollins McKim in 1910 in Reno, Nev.

Three years after the tragic death of Mr. Vanderbilt, by whom she had two sons, Alfred Gwynne, Jr., who is now five, and George W. Vanderbilt, aged four, Mrs. Margaret E. Vanderbilt was married to Raymond T. Baker, Director of the Mint.

A distinguishing feature of Mr. Vanderbilt's will was the implied affection for and the liberal provisions in bequests to his eldest son, William H. Vanderbilt, which indicated that he had in mind the custom of the Vanderbilt house to make the oldest male the head of each household. The son of the former Miss French received from his father the $5,000,000 trust fund, the great estate at Portsmouth, and the family heirlooms, including the gold medal voted by Congress to the young man's great-great-grandfather, Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, at the close of the civil war.

Miss Keys to Wed D. C. Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keys of Hastings-on-Hudson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Keys, to Donald Cruickshank Ferguson of this city. The announcement was made at a tea given yesterday by Mrs. Keys at the Biltmore. Miss Keys was a yeoman in the navy during the war. Mr. Ferguson recently received his discharge from the navy.

MOTORMAN WEEPS AT TRIAL

Luciano's Emotion Evokes Protest from Prosecutor in Wreck Case.

MINEOLA, L. I., April 3.—Edward Luciano, the motorman of the Brighton train of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company which was wrecked in the Malbone Street tunnel on Nov. 1, with a loss of ninety-two lives, took the stand this afternoon in his trial on a charge of manslaughter. He had only been on the stand a few minutes and was attempting to tell about the wreck victims when he gave way to tears and sobs. Assistant District Attorney Warbasse, addressing the court, said:

"Unless the witness can control himself I ask your Honor to request the jury to retire. I knew this was coming. The witness has been smiling in court or not, so I used the emergency. I shut my power off on the grade before reaching the Eastern Parkway tunnel and coasted, as I had been instructed. After passing through the tunnel and before reaching Consumers' Park I had the brake handle in the lap position so the brakes could be applied instantaneously. After passing Consumers' Park I put on the reduced speed. Before I knew it the train was in the tunnel."

Luciano admitted on cross-examination that this was his first trip in charge of a train on the Brighton Beach line and that he had not known the names of the stations. His only experience on that route had come from several hours' practice runs on two days with an instructing motorman. He said he did not know how fast the train had moved down grade from the Eastern Parkway to Consumers' Park. Whether there was sufficient compressed air he could not recall, as he did not remember making a test, and admitted he had not signaled to the trainmen for application of the hand brakes.

all day, and I knew this would come."

Attorney Smith for the defense interposed and asserted: "I am amazed at this statement. It is the most amazing statement I have ever heard in a court of record. I ask your Honor not to withdraw the jury."

The court ignored the protests and ordered the witness to go on. After describing some of the details of operating the train, Luciano testified that he had trouble in stopping the train at Dean Street and Park Place.

"I put the train in 'emergency,'" he continued. "I did not know what was the matter, wheher it was the grade

Luciano insisted that he had no idea of the rate of speed of his train. Questioned concerning his statement to District Attorney Lewis at the Snyder Avenue station immediately after the accident, in which, according to the stenographic report, he said that he had passed Consumers Park at full speed, Luciano said:

"I don't know whether I said it or not. I can't recall. I was dazed that night, and I have been dizzy ever since, even at home. I don't know what I am saying sometimes."

Expert testimony concerning the cause of the wreck was presented by the defense through Charles E. Southard, an electrical, mechanical, and civil engineer, who said:

"The cause of derailment would be due to a sluggish, inoperative, defective brakeing system on the train." The witness asserted that the impact-force of the train at the sharpest point of the curve of the tunnel rails would be 14,312,000 pounds, assuming a speed of forty miles an hour. The witness said he had testified against the B. R. T. 150 times and for the railway company fifty to sixty times.

Michael Turner, conductor on the second car of the wrecked train, testified that the speed was normal. Turner said he could not recall telling the District Attorney that the brakes had operated properly.

The defense sought to show that some obstruction upon the tracks was a contributing cause of the wreck. Policeman George Blackwell testified to reprimanding children for throwing sticks and other articles into the tunnel. David H. Ruff, a line inspector, gave similar testimony. The trial will continue today.

ENGAGED TO DR. E. C. JESSUP

Miss Castle of British Red Cross to Wed New York Physician.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Batho Castle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Castle of Kensington, London, England, to Dr. Everett Colgate Jessup of Roslyn, L. I., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Jessup of Brooklyn.

Miss Castle just finished two years' service as a motor driver with the British Red Cross, and was stationed at General Hospital No. 1, B. E. F., supervised by the Presbyterian Hospital Unit of New York, on the staff of which Dr. Jessup was a member. He is a graduate of Princeton class of '11, and recently received his discharge as a Captain from the Medical Corps, U. S. A., after twenty months' service in France.

"Iolanthe" Now Moves Smoothly.

The second performance of Gilbert & Sullivan's "Iolanthe" at the Park Theatre last evening brought out a crowded house. As this is a fairy opera, the complete disappearance of the halts and fumblings of the first performance may be attributed to magic. In any case, the play went like clockwork and the full effect of this remarkable combination of Gilbert's wit and Sullivan's music delighted the audience. It was the same cast of American singers as at the first performance. Their satisfaction at the fine reception given the play was as great as the audience's, and this they had many opportunities to show at the repeated curtain calls at the end of the play.

Pigeons for Ball Escape in Hotel.

A charity costume ball, to be known as "A Revel of Folly," will be held tonight at the Hotel Commodore. Last night while the workmen were bringing in a box holding sixty pigeons, to be used as a decorative effect at the ball, the box opened and the pigeons flew through the upper corridors. After an hour's search all except six were found. Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Caruso, Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, Ben Ali Haggin, Count Eugene Strlecki, Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, and Lieutenant and Mrs. Donald F. Jenks, are among the patrons and patronesses of the ball.

Lieut. Maunsell B. Field Not Dead.

At the office of Russell Raynor, Recorder of the Naval Order of the United States, it was said yesterday that that organization was in error Monday in announcing the death of Lieutenant Maunsell Bradhurst Field, Historian of the New York Commandery, the mistake being caused by confusion of two men of the same name. Lieutenant Field is a well-known lawyer, and lives at 28 East Thirty-fourth Street. The man who died last week was a cousin, but was not connected with the Naval Order.

A Sale for Children's Charities.

A children's sale will be held this afternoon from 2 till 6 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, 4 West 58th Street, the proceeds to be devoted to various children's charities for the coming Summer.

URGES UNITY AMONG AMERICAN JEWS

Rabbi Morgenstern Tells Convention of Rabbis It Would Serve as an Ideal.

WOULD AID DEMOCRACY

Tributes Are Paid by Many to the Memory of Rabbi Wise.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 3.—A plea for the maintenance of American Judaism, devoid of all foreign elements, was made by Rabbi Julian Morgenstern, a professor at the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, in an address on "Were Isaac M. Wise Alive Today" at the session of the Central Conference of American Rabbis at the Hebrew Union College this afternoon.

"The success of American Judaism, which, in the light of recent events, is the only form of Judaism which can serve as an ideal, depends on the success and progress of the United States as a nation," Rabbi Morgenstern said. "Jews throughout the country should concentrate their efforts to this end—the continued progress of the United States."

Rabbi Morgenstern's address was based upon the principles of the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, social justice and individual righteousness, and the support of the Church in its platform for peace.

"Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, having in common in their religion the support of international ethics, should co-operate that this end may be more easily attained," Rabbi Morgenstern said.

"All religious forces should teach along the lines of democratic democracy—this distinction is necessary to differentiate it from various forms of autocratic democracy, which exist in the world today.

"For the Jews, the goal should be the inculcation of the American element thoroughly into the Jew's religion. American ethics and Jewish ideals should be made inseparable. No Palestinian Judaism will answer the purpose."

More than a hundred rabbis, almost all graduates of the Hebrew Union College, and many acquaintances of the late Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, founder of the college, and organizer of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, visited the Jewish educator's grave in the United Jewish Cemetery this afternoon.

An address was made at the grave by Rabbi William S. Friedman of Denver, and Rabbi Isaac L. Rypins of St. Paul. Deceased instructors of the Hebrew Union College, buried in the cemetery also, were honored by the visiting rabbis.

Various phases of the life of Dr. Wise were described by speakers at the morning session. Among these were Joseph Silverman of New York, Gotthard Deutsch of Cincinnati, Tobias Schanfarber of Chicago, Edward M. Calisch of Richmond, Va.; Clifton Levy of New York; Charles S. Levi of Milwaukee, Samuel Wolffstein of Cleveland, and Max Heller of New Orleans.

A reception was tendered tonight to the visiting rabbis and their wives by the alumni of the Hebrew Union College.

Sergt. F. H. King Dies of Assault.

Sergeant Frank H. King, who was assaulted by another soldier as he lay asleep in the barracks at Fort Totten, Willets Point, L. I., last Saturday night, died yesterday in the Post Hospital. Death was due to a fractured skull. Colonel Willoughby Walke, commandant of the reservation, said last night that an investigation was still going on, but that he was not ready to issue any official statement. It was reported that two soldiers were arrested a few hours after the assault. Robbery is said to have been the cause of the assault. Sergeant King is survived by a wife and a 9-year-old son, and only recently returned from France.

TILDEN HAS BATTLE TO BEAT ANDERSON

Defeats Brooklyn Youngster Only After Hard Struggle in Indoor Tennis Tourney.

REACHES FINAL ROUND

Philadelphia Player Will Meet Richards Today for Singles Title—Doubles Champions Win.

William T. Tilden, Jr., of Philadelphia and Vincent Richards of the University Heights and New York Tennis Clubs, reached the final round of the national indoor championship at the 7th Regiment Armory yesterday afternoon, and face each other today for the title. The national doubles champions also came through to the final bracket in the team event, with F. B. Alexander and Dr. William Rosenbaum, the indoor winners of two seasons ago, as their opponents for first honors this afternoon.

Richards defeated Peter Ball easily enough in the lower semi-final, the match going in straight sets, 6—3, 6—2. Tilden reaped a whirlwind in young Frank Anderson, and was lucky to pull out a terrific three-set affair, 7—9, 14—12, 6—3.

This contest was even harder fought than the Voshell-Tilden match of the previous day, and the tennis throughout maintained a higher level. The tremendous importance of the service in the indoor game was again well illustrated, with long deuce sets the inevitable result of the exceptionally effective delivery of both players. Tilden never completely solved the cannonball attack of the slender youngster, and got his breaks only through errors and double faults. Anderson, on the other hand, constantly worried the Philadelphian, and was again and again within easy reach of the match. After Tilden had thrown away a commanding lead in the second set it did not seem possible that he could win, for the boy on the other side of the net was brimming with confidence and outplaying his experienced rival in every department of the game. Tilden kept on trying everything that he had, and flashed his most brilliant shots at the moments when they were most needed.

The history of this remarkable battle of the rackets may be summed up in a few crucial games, chiefly those which came in the second set. There had been a double break in service at the very start of the match, Anderson tieing it up after Tilden had run away with a 2—0 lead. From then on through ten games there was nothing to choose between the two, but at 7-all Tilden gave way to one of his erratic streaks and dropped his serve on errors, ending with a puny mis-hit off his fore-hand. The Brooklyn junior seized his opportunity without a moment's hesitation, and took the set with a love-game, backing up four splendid serves with a couple of perfect volleys.

Tilden was unperturbed, and Anderson, a little flustered at his unexpected success, lost his service on the second game of the new set, his volleys wavering for the moment, although his ground-strokes preserved their wonderful pace and control. The older player increased his lead to 4—1 and at 4—2 still seemed to have the upper hand. But here he embarrassed himself with a double fault, and paid the penalty when Anderson whipped three beautiful passing shots through his court and fairly earned the break. The boy promptly squared the set with a love-game on his own walloping delivery.

At this stage Anderson was truly dangerous and everything was in readiness for an amazing upset. Tilden won his service with difficulty in the ninth game, and Anderson brought the set to a deuce with another four-point whitewash. Then came a glorious opportunity for the tennis hope of the Anderson family. He had his serving opponent tied up in the short end of a love-40 score through a fine placement drive, a lucky net-cord trickler, and a close out. There were three chances to get the break which would almost certainly win the match. Tilden coolly vollied just beyond the youngster's reach, served an ace, and then pounded Anderson's back-hand for the deuce point. A clean pass gave the boy another chance, but he missed the smash which would have meant the game. Tilden pulled out in four more rallies and breathed again.

But Anderson's service was still deadly and for the third time in succession he squared the set with a love game, Tilden showing a generous sportsmanship in reversing a close decision which had been given in his favor. The Philadelphian was again in trouble when he trailed at 30—40 on his own service, but caught up with a virtual ace and then pulled out on a pair of timely errors. Anderson kept up his astounding habit of serving love games, and Tilden again took the lead by brilliant volleying.

The young Brooklynite was directing his fire chiefly at Tilden's back-hand, and these tactics once more put him within a single point of the much-needed break. But Tilden had another service ace up his sleeve, and after Anderson missed an easy kill he made it game with a wonderful fore-hand drive from the extreme corner of the court.

Anderson's inning service brought the games to 9-all, and Tilden, still skating on thin ice, again found himself facing a 15-40 score, Anderson having added two clean back-hand passes to a bad out. The ultimate winner escaped by a clever placement, a marvelous back-hand half-volley, a service ace, and a soft cut-shot, all in bewildering succession. But even such brilliancy did not avail after Anderson had served another winning game. The boy collected three points with sizzling drives to the corners, and, without worrying over a pair of errors, broke through with a fourth tremendous wallop which Tilden could not return.

This should have ended it, for Anderson's service had been a consistent winner, and Tilden's defense seemed shot to pieces. But the youngster was overwhelmed with the sudden prospect of actual victory over the second best tennis player in America. He served a double fault and turned the easiest of kills into a tragic out. At that he was within a point of the match, through an ace, a smash and a good volley, but Tilden kept his head, and slid the ball down the side line for the deuce point, eventually winning on another double fault and an error. This was the turning point, although the service alternated once more, bringing the games to 12-all. Tilden took no chances on his own delivery, and with the help of another costly double fault broke through in a final deuce game, capturing the set, 14-12, and squaring the match.

The deciding session was a foregone conclusion, for Anderson had lost the opportunities which would not come again. Tilden got the jump in the fourth game on his youthful opponent's errors, and was thereafter content to keep his lead by merely winning on service, the set going at 6—3.

The weary contenders in this sensational display of supertennis had to play their doubles semi-finals immediately afterward, and here again the going was hard. Richards had eliminated Peter Ball without difficulty in the singles, but he and his weary partner had their hands full in disposing of Allen Behr and Steinkampf, losing the second set at love and winning the rubber only after the games had gone to deuce. Frank Anderson, partnered by his brother Fred, bowed to Alexander and Rosenbaum in two 8—6 sets, the tennis being spectacular throughout.

Today's finals in singles are scheduled at 11 A. M., with the doubles at 2:30 P. M.

The summaries:

National Indoor Tennis Championship Singles, Semi-final Round.—W. T. Tilden, Jr., defeated Frank Anderson, 7—9, 14—12, 6—3; Vincent Richards defeated Peter Ball, 6—3, 6—2.

Doubles, Semi-final Round.—Alexander and Rosenbaum defeated Fred and Frank Anderson, 8—6, 8—6; Tilden and Richards defeated Behr and Steinkampf, [illegible] 7—5.

SOME SURPRISES AT BOWIE.

Jack Leary Is Easy Winner in Three-Year-Old Event.

BOWIE, Md., April 3.—The third day of the Spring meeting at Prince George Park brought forth several surprises today. Jack Leary carried off the honors in the event for three-year-olds, beating Loyal Peter easily by four lengths. Mumbo Jumbo came through a winner in the first race for four-year-olds.

Oleaster took the opening event for two-year-olds, winning in a driving finish from Calvert by a neck. The entry is owned by Cornelius Fellowes of New York, and ran a pretty race. Calvert set the pace but Oleaster held cloes to the leader, and in a hard drive by Rice to the wire, the Fellowes entry outgamed the Griffith two-year-old.

The sixth race for three-year-olds and upwards found Harry Breivogel in remarkable form. Butwell rode a good race, holding his mount close to the pace until they reached the stretch, when he sent the horse into the lead and won by three lengths. Dolina ran a good race, but Lord Herbert got into a bad tangle at the start.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-olds; selling; four furlongs. Oleaster, 112 pounds, (Rice,) $5.10, $3.30, and $2.60, won; Calvert, 114, (Butwell,) $4.70 and $3.90, second; Fanny Cook, 109, (Mergler,) $3.70, third. Time—0:49. Little Alexander, Foreclosure, Drusilla, and Canvasback also ran.

SECOND RACE.—For three-year-olds; claiming; six furlongs. Jack Leary, 110 pounds, (Butwell,) $6.20, $3.80, and $2.40, won; Loyal Peter, 110, (Rice,) $4.80 and $2.40, second; Tiger Rose, 111, (Robinson,) 2.10, third. Time—2:10. Frank Shannon, Leinster, Hand Grenade II., Toddler, and Cora W. also ran.

THIRD RACE.—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; six and a half furlongs. Margery, 108 pounds, (Sneiderman,) $7.40, $3.60, and $2.70, won; Refugee, 115, (Robinson,) $3 and $2.50, second; Kingling, 113, (Wakoff,) $5, third. Time—1:21 4-5. Gloaming, Safranor, Savilla, and Ideal also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; six and a half furlongs. Sister Emblem, 110 pounds, (Butwell,) $11.10, $4.70, and $3.30, won; Bronco Billy, 115, (Mooney,) $13.40 and $4.10, second; Harry Shaw, 115, (Corey,) $3.50, third. Time—1:22 2-5. Sea Beach, Ocean Prince, Dr. Charcot, and Kewessa also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; six and a half furlongs. Mumbo Jumbo, 115 pounds, (Wakoff,) $5.50, $4, and $3.30, won; Kilmer, 118, (Metcalf,) $6 and $4.20, second; Sosius, 115, (Pauley,) $7, third. Time—1:22. Scaramouch, Little Boy, General, Responde, and Napoli also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; selling; one mile. Harry Breivogel, 111 pounds, (Butwell,) $3.20, $7.70, and $3.60, won; Dolina, 106, (Sterling,) $7.70 and $3.80, second; Lord Herbert, 109, (Sneidman,) $2.70, third. Time—1:42 4-5.

SEVENTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; one mile and twenty yards. Zouave, 111 pounds, $4.60 and $3.40, won; Houdini, 103, $4.70, second; Boxer, 114, third. Time—1:41 3-5.

ROBESON LOSES TO BEALL.

Players Reach Semi-Final in Pinehurst Golf Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 3.—The second match of the North and South amateur championship tournament was disposed of by all twelve sixteens today and play brought down to the semi-final stage. Irving S. Robeson, the titleholder, was defeated by Ned Beall of Uniontown. Beall won by 4 and 2 and will be opposed by J. M. Wells of Kenilworth in the semi-final round. The survivors in the upper bracket were F. C. Newton of Brookline, and Franklin Gates of Moore County.

The summaries:

Championship Sixteen.—F. C. Newton, Brookline, beat Dickenson Bishop, Dowagac, 5 and 3; E. H. Gates, Moore Country, beat Wimberly Bowman, Southern Pines, 1 up, (19 holes;) B. C. Beall, Uniontown, beat I. S. Robeson, Rochester, 4 and 2; J. M. Wells, Kenilworth, beat C. A. Dixon, Jr., National, 4 and 3.

Beaten Eight.—F. S. Danforth, North Fork, beat A. J. Mendes, Siwanoy, 1 up; Donald Parson, Youngstown, beat James D. Standish, Jr., Detroit, 4 and 2; Edward Styles, North Hills, beat L. A. Hamilton, Garden City, 3 and 2; C. G. Waldo, Jr., Detroit, beat H. C. Phillips, Moore County, 5 and 4.

BULKLEY IN SQUASH FINAL.

Defeats F. S. Keeler in Club Tourney at Columbia Club.

H. D. Bulkley reached the final round in the annual club tournament at the Columbia Club yesterday by defeating Fred S. Keeler in a three-game match, 2—15, 15—10, 15—8. Keeler took the first game with ease, but in the second game he became erratic, while Bulkley's game steadied down and he outplayed the veteran all the way.

In the third game Bulkley had his opponent trailing at 9—1, but he, too, became erratic, and Keeler rallied and pulled the score up to 13—8. Bulkley settled down to his steady game again, however, and pulled through at 15—8.

EASY MATCH FOR APPEL.

Reaches Final Round in Tourney for Harvard Club Title.

John W. Appel, Jr., the national squash champion, won his way to the final round in the Harvard Club championship yesterday by defeating A. E. Ells 15—5, 15—4.

Appel was not extended to win, and all his matches through the tournament have furnished only light opposition for the titleholder. Appel in his semi-final match defeated J. W. Burden 15—4, 15—6.

CASEY WINNER AT SQUASH.

Will Play Bishop in Final of New York A. C. Tournament.

The semi-final round of the club handicap at the New York A. C. was played yesterday, J. S. Casey going into the final by defeating Gustavus Piel, Jr., in a three-game match. Casey won at 11—15, 15—8, 15—4.

Charles Bishop reached the finals in the lower half of the draw and the final will be played tomorrow afternoon.

PAULIST CLAIM UPHELD.

A. A. U. Disallows Protests in Medley Relay Race.

The decision of Referee Herman Obertubbesing in the protested medley relay race conducted recently in connection with the Paulist A. C. indoor meet was upheld last night at a meeting of the Metropolitan A. A. U. Registration Committee. The protests of the Morningside A. C. and Brooklyn A. A. were disallowed. The decision gives the Paulist A. C. definite possession of the point trophy. This club's quartet scored a victory in the rerunning of the relay race last Sunday, after having been disqualified in the original running of the race.

COLLEGE FENCERS READY.

Championships Will Be Held Tomorrow Night.

Arrangements have been completed for the intercollegiate fencing championships which will be held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor tomorrow night, to be followed by the annual ball. This marks a return to a pre-war basis and the competitions have aroused great interest among the followers of this sport.

Five colleges are entered for the championships—Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Pennsylvania, and Annapolis. Columbia has already defeated all the other colleges except Annapolis, which defeated the Heights team. Accordingly, interest centres on the Columbia and Annapolis teams.

Jensen Defeats Scudder.

George Jensen defeated F. O. Scudder in a closely contested three-cushion billiard game last night at Daly's Academy in the metropolitan championship tournament of the A. A. B. A. The score was 35 to 24 in sixty-seven innings. Each player made a high run of 3.

BROOKLYN CHASES QUINN FROM BOX

Dodgers Hit Yankee Pitcher Hard in Two Innings and Win Easily by Score of 11 to 2.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 3.—The pitching arm of Jack Quinn had little that baffled the Brooklyn batsmen this afternoon, and the Dodgers won the third game of the series with the Yankees by the score of 11 to 2. After the first inning, when the entire Brooklyn batting order faced the Yankee veteran, there was nothing in doubt except the size of the score. In the sixth the National Leaguers again sent their complete hitting array to the plate and turned the game into a rout.

Huggins gave the Dodgers about the best he had in the pitching line, but this was their day, and they hit almost everything, piling up a total of fifteen safe slams, which included a generous sprinkling of hits for extra bases. O'Mara and Olson led the onslaught, the former with three singles and the latter with a double and two singles. Lew Malone, besides playing a brilliant defensive game, enjoyed the distinction of reaching first base on each of his five trips to the plate. He hit safely twice, drew two passes, and reached first once on an error.

Quinn tried to finish six innings, but the task proved a bit too much for the veteran. He had gone along well after a bad start, allowing only one hit from the first to the sixth inning. In the sixth the National Leaguers jumped on Jack's slants to such an extent that Huggins withdrew him before the second out had been made. Shawkey finished the inning and the game. It was Bob's first start this year, and he did good work, setting Robinson's men down with four hits in his three and two-third innings.

The Dodgers got five hits and four runs off Quinn in the first inning. With one out, O'Mara singled to centre. Ward fumbled Griffith's roller, and this was followed by scratch hits by Myers and Olson. Malone and Miller contributed clean smashes to centre, and the combination netted four runs.

Lewis scored the Yankees' first run in the second inning on his single to centre, an infield out, a passed ball, and Ward's scratch hit. In the eighth another run was scored on hits by Bodie and Hannah, a fielder's choice, and Shawkey's infield out.

LOFTUS MAY RIDE AGAIN.

Jockey Makes Favorable Impression with License Committee.

Johnny Loftus, who is generally considered the premier jockey of the American turf, will in all probability be reinstated in time to ride during the coming meeting at Havre de Grace. This was learned yesterday, following the meeting of the License Committee of The Jockey Club, which considered the applications for reinstatement from Loftus, Lawrence Lyke, and G. Byrne, all of whom were recently set down by The Jockey Club Stewards.

The final decision of the License Committee in the case of Loftus will not be made known until a report is made to the stewards. The decision is expected in about two weeks. However, it was learned that the committee had thought very favorably of Loftus's application, though it was said that Lyke and Byrne did not stand such a good chance of being reinstated.

Loftus was reecntly set down by The Jockey Club after charges had been filed against him by his former employer, alleging that he had violated stable rules. The decision was received as something of a shock at the time as Loftus had always been highly regarded by followers of the turf and besides was the best rider in the country.

The committee which met yesterday, consisting of H. K. Knapp, Andrew Miller, and F. R. Hichcock, listened to the explanation made by Loftus and admitted that no criminal charges had been brought against the jockey. On the contrary, it was said the committee was mindful of what Loftus had done for the racing game, and that they favored his reinstatement. At the same time, he was warned not to get into further trouble with his employers even in minor matters.

Lyke and Byrne have not yet heard what the decision will be in their cases. They were also examined by the License Committee and will now await the decision of the stewards.

BASEBALL BILL PASSES.

Measure Approved in Senate Now Goes to Assembly.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 3.—Bills permitting Sunday movies and Sunday baseball under local option conditions were passed by the Senate today. Both measures are on the order of final passage in the Assembly tomorrow and while the majorities undoubtedly will be small, it is expected they will both be passed.

In the Senate the Sunday Baseball bill passed 28 to 21. It gave rise to considerable debate, opponents declaring that it meant desecration of Sunday, and that it was nothing more than an attempt to commercialize the day. Senator J. Samuel Fowler, Republican, of Jamestown, voted for the bill in order, he said, that clean amusement might be provided for the man who will be turned away from the saloon, the "poor man's club," by the coming of prohibition. Six other Republican Senators voted with the Democrats for the baseball bill.

MANY TURF STARS ENTERED.

Fifty-six Horses Named for Saratoga Cup Race.

The entries for the Saratoga Cup, at a mile and six furlongs, which will be run as the feature event on the closing day of the Saratoga meeting in August, were announced yesterday by Secretary A. McL. Earlocker. Fifty-six horses, including practically all of the turf stars of the three-year-old division and many above that age, have been entered for this classic.

Among these are Escoba, which was the favorite for the Kentucky Derby last year; Exterminator, the winner of that Derby; Billy Kelly, the sensation of last year; Omar Khayyam, Cudgel, Dunboyne, Eternal, Westy Hogan, and Old Rosebud. The number of entries this year was three less than last year. However, a considerable increase in the number of entries for various other stakes to be run at the meeting is shown for this season. Harry Payne Whitney nominated the greatest number of horses in all of the stake events for the meeting.

The following are the entries:

Escoba, Polka Dot, Sweep On, Laddie Boy, Skeptic, Cirrus, Chasseur, Exterminator, Zenith, Barney Shannon, Star Hawk, Nolawn, The Trump, The Wanderer, George Clark, The Young Cavalier, Vulcanite, High Born Lady, War Pennant, Cudgel, Farmingdale, Omar Khayyam, Westy Hogan, Old Rosebud, Vindex, Bayard, Hanibal, Lucy Lee, Dunboyne, Natural Bridge, Orestes, Ginger, Purchase, Sun Briar, Henry G., Papp, Liberty Loan, Ed Crump, Fizer, Friendless, Eternal, Roamer, Midway, Sous Marino, Pride of India, Billy Kelly, Foreground, Musito, Camoufleur, Pibroch, Dominant, Headstrong, The Ferryman, Trompe La Morte, Thunderstorm, Blue Laddie.

BLUFFED BASEBALL HEADS.

Gilmore Testifies He Planned Settlement for Federal League.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Organized baseball was "bluffed" into making peace with the Federal League, according to testimony given today by James A. Gilmore, former President of the latter organization, in the Baltimore Federal Club's $900,000 damage suit against the National and American Leagues and of officers of the Federal League.

Mr. Gilmore, who was the first witness called for the defense, told the jury that he originated the plan for what he termed "a gigantic bluff" to force peace in baseball by inducing the American and National Leagues to compromise with the Federal League when it no longer was able to continue. His plan, he said, was to scare organized baseball into suing for peace by threatening to "invade" New York.

In pursuance of his plan, Mr. Gilmore, who is one of the individual defendants in the suit, said the Federal officials secured a two-year lease on elaborate offices in New York, took options on playing grounds at 144th Street and Lenox Avenue, secured authority from the Board of Aldermen to close adjacent streets, and had plans drawn for a large stadium.

The major league officials, Mr. Gilmore testified, "fell" for the bluff and made overtures which resulted finally in peace and dissolution of the Federal League. The first overtures, he said, were rejected, but later he said he advised his Federal League associates to accept, as he and other Federal officials were convinced that it was futile to continue their organization.

His first demand for $200,000 for Baltimore in the peace negotiations, Mr. Gilmore stated, was laughed at by the major league officials. An offer of $50,000 subsequently was made, but rejected by the Baltimore interests and referred to a commission of seven members, including one from Baltimore.

STARS JOIN YALE SQUAD.

Comerford, Kinney, and O'Connor Return to Nine.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3.—Yale's baseball outlook for 1919 received a boom today when it was announced that Charley Comerford, Orson Kinney, and Gerald O'Connor had rejoined the squad, and that Cal Holmes and Charley Faherty would report in two or three days.

The Yale management is planning to open the season with Wesleyan here Saturday. It was stated tonight that Yale Field would be in shape to allow the match to be played, unless adverse weather prevented.

GIANTS BREAK CAMP TO OPPOSE RED SOX

McGraw's Men in Fine Shape for First Game with World's Champions at Tampa Today.

Special to The New York Times.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 3.—While the Giants do not actually break camp here until next Tuesday night this was moving day in Gainesville. After the usual perfunctory last day practice the club left tonight for Tampa, Fla., where it will begin a seven-game series with the Boston Red Sox. Two games will be played in Tampa tomorrow and Saturday and two more here next Monday and Tuesday. After that the two teams will play games in Columbia, S. C., Spartanburg, S.C., and Winston-Salem, N. C. After that the Giants will tackle Griffith's Washington Senators in a seven-game series, so from now on the team will have its hands full.

This was the last day of general practice and closes the shortest preliminary practice season the Giants have known in years. They were on the field only ten days but had the good fortune to have glorious weather during their stay here, and, as McGraw recently put it in his speech to the local Rotary Club, "we did not miss a minute's training since we got here." From now on till theend of the league season the Giants the Red Sox, the world's championship club and the Washingtons, with the great Walter Johnson, should give New York fans quite a line on the team.

The usual practice game was held this morning. It was only an informal match lasting six innings between the Regulars and the Informals. It was won by the Regulars, as per custom. They won by a score of 6 to 1. McGraw used only kid pitchers with rookie backstops to hold them up. The Regulars had quite a lot of fun with Wilbur Hubbel, the big boy from Idaho, and scored three runs on him in the fourth inning on straight bunting.

This afternoon the Giants had batting practice and the usual infield drill. With the exception of Heinie Zimmerman, who still is favoring a sore arm, the team is in great shape for the Red Sox contests.

The score by innings of the morning game:

Yannigans	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	4

GIANNINI A VOLUNTEER.

Exact Position of Columbia Crew Coach Explained.

It was explained at Columbia University yesterday, in reference to an article appearing in the monthly journal of the New York Athletic Club, that Eugene J. Giannini's exact status in connection with rowing on Morningside Heights was that of volunteer supervisory coach. Because of his business interests, Giannini was unable to promise more than a limited amount of time to the work of directing the coaching of the Blue and White crews which has been in the hands of Fred Plaisted, assistant coach.

Giannini as supervisory coach will have virtually absolute control over the boating of the crew and his suggestions will be carried out by Plaisted as permanent active coach. Rough water kept the crews ashore yesterday.

Rollins Replaces Haughton.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 3.—Wingate Rollins was appointed head coach of the Harvard football team for the Spring practice today. Practice will begin next Tuesday. Rollins coached the informal eleven in 1917 and the 1920 freshman team.

Education Notes.

The Faculty of the De Witt Clinton High School are arranging for the publication of a booklet recording the services of the Clinton students who fought in the great war, and would appreciate information concerning the organization, activity, and experience of students of the school who were in the army, navy, or marine corps. Information should be sent to J. R. Whitsit, De Witt Clinton High School.

Alumnae of the Washington Irving High School will hold a meeting on April 7 at 8 P. M. in the basement gymnasium of the school.

President Linville of the Teachers' Union has called a convention of the school representatives of the union at 70 Fifth Avenue at 3 P. M. tomorrow. They will elect members of a new Executive Board.

Frank Bohn, who has recently returned from Russia, will address the Brooklyn Civic Forum at P. S. 84, Glenmore and Stone Avenues, on Sunday evening.

The Association of Teachers under waiver with service in the seventh and eighth year grades will hold a meeting at 4:15 P. M. on April 8 in the City College Building, 302 Madison Avenue.

There will be an equal pay meeting at 4 P. M. today of the Teachers' Welfare League at the Bedford Library, Franklin Avenue and Hancock Street, Brooklyn.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, April 3.—A marked disturbance is approaching the North Pacific Coast, and rains have set in over that section of the country. Pressure is also moderately low from the lake region southwestward, and rains have occurred over this entire area. There was no other precipitation of consequence.

Winds along the North Atlantic Coast Friday and Saturday will be gentle to moderate southwest to south, fair Friday, unsettled Saturday; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate south, increasing cloudiness Friday, rain Saturday; South Atlantic Coast, gentle to moderate south, except east off the South Florida Coast, partly cloudy.

FORECAST TODAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York—Cloudy Friday; rain in the interior and by night on the coast. Saturday, local rains.

Southern New England—Cloudy Friday; rain in the western portion and by night in the eastern portion. Saturday, rain.

New Jersey—Cloudy Friday; rain by night. Saturday local rains.

Western New York—Rain Friday; slightly warmer in the western portion. Saturday generally fair in the western, local rains in the central and eastern portions.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Cloudy Friday; rain in the northern and western portions and by night in the southeastern portion. Saturday local rains.

Northern New England—Fair Friday, except rain in Vermont; warmer in the interior. Saturday, probably local rains.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Reactionary on Steel Price Deadlock at Washington —Franc Exchange Gains.

Confusion which existed in the steel trade had a complete counterpart yesterday in the stock market, where traders, after bringing about much irregularity, developed a substantial reaction toward the end of the day. When business began the financial district possessed the single impression that the Railroad Administration had refused to accept the newly established steel prices, and later this was expanded into much uncertainty over the entire program of the Industrial Board by the conflicting dispatches received from Washington. The Street heard at one moment that President Wilson would be appealed to to break the deadlock over railway purchases of steel; at another it was indicated that there was nothing for the President to decide. Information to the effect that the Railroad Administration and the Industrial Board were at loggerheads merely over the price of rails was shortly followed by assertions by telegraph that the entire program of the board was to be reviewed, not only in respect to steel but also various other products. The oustanding thing from the traders' point of view, after sifting all the news, was that the Government railroad authorities had declined to buy steel at the quotations labeled a few days ago as minimum prices for 1919, and that thus the market had been left without a leader on the side of consumers. Steel common started off with a decline of a point and later enlarged this recession. The other steel issues followed along and weakness was imparted to oil stocks and members of the equipment group. Nothing in the day's business occurred to show that the public had been moved to liquidate its holdings, and the professional character of trading was emphasized most in the late afternoon.

There was no question in the mind of observers of conditions in the steel market that the new situation supplied a serious obstacle for the early renewal of purchases. This attitude may, of course, be altered when fuller knowledge is obtained of what influenced Mr. Hines to refuse the price schedule. Optimistic expectations were so widely distributed throughout the country when the new prices were decided upon that there could hardly help but be a decided reaction when the entire scheme was apparently overturned. With the railroads consuming 25 per cent. of the steel output in normal years, not only would there have been an important stimulant applied to mill operations by immediate Government purchases, but commercial users of steel have appeared to be waiting only for a signal from the Railroad Administration to place a large tonnage of contracts. The stock market was especially impressed by the effect on sentiment, holding that if general consumers of steel got the idea that the market would be thrown open they would wait for lower prices. Hope was voiced in the Street that the day's uncertain news would prove to be only reflections of surface occurrences and that the outlook for important railroad purchases would be improved within a few days.

The steel price controversy was about the only event to affect security prices. It was noted before the general market became weak that the Mercantile Marine issues were under pressure, and this was explained later through announcement that the proposed sale of ships to the Emergency Fleet Corporation had been abandoned. Call money again displayed ease at 4 and 4½ per cent. Without much business being done, sterling exchange advanced again, following the lead of quotations in London, rising 2½ cents per pound. French exchange moved forward rather sharply, both markets being influenced presumably by the covering of short commitments.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Exchanges Again Strong.

As was the case on Wednesday, sterling exchange was again in very good demand yesterday, with a rise to 4.66, and a closing of 4.65¼ for checks, a net gain on the day of 2½ cents. However, unlike other recent days, francs were very strong, at one time cables sold up to 5.90 and checks were a centime lower at 5.91. At the close French exchange was about 10 centimes higher than the previous day, which is the best showing recorded in some time.

∴

Quick Profit in a New Stock.

Subscribers to the new Endicott Johnson Corporation shares who elected to dispose of their common stock on the Curb, "when issued," were able to turn in a good profit yesterday. The purchasers of preferred stock from the distributing syndicate received one share of common with each lot of four shares of preferred, paying $37.50 for the junior stock, and transactions were made on the Curb at prices between $44 and $50. The first open market transaction reported was at $44, and after rising to the maximum quotation, the issue reacted to $48.

Credit for Copper Purchases.

It is understood that French copper merchants recently received offers of credit facilities in this country up to $50,000,000 to use in buying metal here. The French Government's prohibition against metal imports stood in the way, however, and it is believed that sales to France by American producers will be moderate until the Government's own stocks have been distributed. These stocks are large, as is the case with England's supplies, but producers are unable to fix any time limit for the absorption of this metal as this depends upon the state of industry in Europe. When the period arrives for fresh calls for American copper, the salesmen believe that credit facilities may be very quickly provided.

Copper Company Output in March.

Phelps Dodge & Co. produced 8,834,000 pounds of copper in March. This was a decline of about 7,400,000 pounds, or about 48 per cent. from the output in November, the last month of high production for war purposes. In February the outturn was 9,185,000 pounds, and in March of last year 20,815,000 pounds were produced. The Miami Copper Company reports 4,551,115 pounds in March, an increase of 88,400 pounds over the preceding month.

∴

Copper Market Firm.

The copper market ruled firm yesterday with dealers reporting a fair amount of business. The smaller sellers quoted 15¼ cents a pound f. o. b. New York which means that the consumer paid around 15⅜ or 15½ cents for delivered metal, depending on his location. The big dealers are asking 15½ cents a pound, and are reported to be receiving some comparatively small orders.

∴

Some Copper Stocks Favored.

Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting and Refining, and Greene-Cananea were singled out of the copper group yesterday for attention, and made advances from fractions to more than a point. American Smelters on a fairly good turnover sold up to 72½ and closed at 72 after opening at 70, while Cerro de Pasco showed a net gain at the close of ½ a point, and Greene-Cananea was up ¾. Chino Copper also moved up more than a point on a small turnover.

A Quiet Bond Market.

Bond men are inclined to believe that the market for securities other than those of short duration which offer particular attractions, will continue a comparatively quiet affair until after the flotation of the forthcoming Victory Liberty Loan. In fact, it was said yesterday that prices probably would shade off before the campaign opened, and the character of business during the bond drive would be sluggish, as both salesmen and buyers would be concentrating their efforts on the success of the Government offering. After the Victory bond campaign ends, however, there have been a number of predictions that bond sales, both on the New York Stock Exchange and over the counter, will steadily increase and that some of the long-time issues which have fallen from favor will become active again.

The Rise in Atlantic-Gulf Shares.

The way a number of stocks acted in the afternoon supplied evidence that some comfortable expectations about speculative profits were upset by the reactionary tendency of the leaders. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, for instance, was bid upward early to a new high record for the movement at 124¼ and then shaded off by fractions until only 1 point of the 3-point gross advance was left. The early strength indicated that traders had a particular influence to stimulate their purchases, and while this was not discovered by the general market following during the market session, it appeared later in news that the company was forming a $20,000,000 oil company to supply its steamship fuel in the Tampico fields.

Equipment Stocks Steady.

The steel price muddle at Washington quite naturally disturbed steel stocks from the start to the end of trading, but the equipment issues were little affected. American Car and Foundry lost a half point, American Locomotive was even on the day, Haskell & Barker declined ⅜, and Baldwin, while it dropped back more than a point, was evidently under as much pressure because of its popular standing with seekers of quick profits on the short side as by reason of the company's business. The relative stability of the equipment stocks was difficult for traders to understand for the reason that the Director General's decision to hold back steel rail purchases might have been expected to have reflection in shares of concerns with other things to sell to the carriers.

Brokers' Creditors Form Committee.

A number of creditors of the failed brokerage firm of Toole, Henry & Co. formed an independent Creditors' Committee yesterday at the office of Bernard Sandler, 261 Broadway, to co-operate with the receiver in the bankruptcy proceedings. The committee is scheduled to meet this afternoon at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, West Broadway and Chambers Street.

BOND ISSUE STILL OPEN.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Subscriptions to the $200,000,000 issue of 5 per cent. one year bonds offered by the War Finance Corporation will not be closed before the end of this week, although the offering was oversubscribed on the first day. The various subscriptions will be accepted on an allotment basis.

Federal Reserve banks reported today that sufficient time had been available to make known the offering to all banks and the War Finance Corporation decided to hold the books open until the banks which have patriotically supported the Government's financial operations during the war have had an opportunity to participate in the issue.

U.S. DROPS DEAL WITH MERCANTILE MARINE

President Franklin Receives Letter Declining to Buy Ships That British Wanted.

MAY NOW KEEP TONNAGE

Situation Modified by Armistice—Company Reported in Good Financial Condition.

The $125,000,000 deal between the United States Government and the International Mercantile Marine Company for the purchase of the company's 750,000 gross tons of shipping owned through its British subsidiary companies has been dropped. Official announcement to that effect was made yesterday by P. A. S. Franklin, President of the Company, following a meeting of Directors after the receipt of a letter from official Government sources, which said that acquisition of the tonnage in question could not be considered further. Mr. Franklin's statement follows:

"During the year 1918 we had protracted negotiations with a British syndicate regarding the purchase of the steamships belonging to the British companies in which we are interested. These negotiations culminated in November last in an offer which under the then existing circumstances and conditions, was acceptable to our Board of Directors.

While the details of the transaction were being adjusted we were requested by our Government not to proceed further with the matter, and on November 26 we were informed by our Government that approval of this sale could not be given, and that our Government, under the circumstances, was prepared to take over the ownership of these vessels upon the terms of the British offer.

"Since that date we have used our best endeavor to obtain a consummation of the transaction with our Government. We yesterday received a letter from our Government dated April 1, informing us that they could not consider further the possible acquisition of the ownership of our British tonnage, and that we were free, so far as they were concerned, to deal with the properties as we may consider desirable.

"The conditions in shipping have materially altered since our negotiations with the British syndicate. The armistice has, in the meantime, been signed, and there have been changes in the United States income and excess profits tax laws, and in the exchange situation. All of these matters make it essential that the Board of Directors should carefully review the whole situation before deciding whether it is now desirable to renew the negotiations with the British syndicate; or whether it might not be preferable to continue our ownership of the various properties, with the view of developing them under the American and foreign flags.

"The position of the company is very satisfactory, as the liquid assets, including cash, of the company and its subsidiaries amount to about $73,000,000. Of this sum approximately $41,000,000 represents the proceeds of steamers sold or lost, in replacement of which other vessels must ultimately be secured in order to adequately maintain our services at their pre-war standard. It should be further understood that the larger part of the above cash is in the possession of the British companies, and that the earnings of these companies can only be obtained from them through current dividends.

"While definite figures are not yet available, the most recent estimates indicate that the earnings for 1918 will be approximately the same as those for 1917.

"The tonnage of the International Mercantile Marine Company fleet, including its interest in steamers jointly owned, amounts approximately to 984,000 tons gross, divided substantially as to flags as follows: American 113,000 tons; British, 853,000 tons; Belgian, 18,000 tons."

After the statement had been issued Mr. Franklin was asked if the company considered that the Government had abrogated its contract and if litigation against the United States Shipping Board was contemplated, but he refused comment. He said that the earnings of the company in the first quarter of this year were running at about the same rate as in 1918 and 1917, and that, in his opinion, the future outlook for shipping was good. Rates, he said, were steady, there would be no surfeit of tonnage in the next six months or year, and there were no indications of a rate war developing.

"Is the company negotiating with the British syndicate now?" he was asked.

"No," was the reply.

Mr. Franklin refused to comment when asked if he knew whether President Wilson had decided that the Government should not purchase the Mercantile Marine ships, and said that was a matter for the Government to discuss.

"Preliminary negotiations for the sale of the tonnage in question between the company and British interests began early in 1918. They embraced the acquisition by the British syndicate, which was a private one, the personnel of which has not been divulged, of eighty-five ships owned by the company through the following subsidiary companies: The Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Limited, the International Navigation Company, Limited; the British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation Company, Limited, the Atlantic Transport Company, and Frederick Leyland & Co., Limited.

"The negotiations continued throughout 1918 until the early Fall, when the news was circulated that the British syndicate had made a definite offer of approximately $125,000,000 for the ships and all of the assets of the British companies. A few days later it was admitted that the Government had requested the company to hold up the settlement of the deal, and the subsequent announcement was made at Washington by Bainbridge Colby of the United States Shipping Board that the Government would take over the tonnage at the price offered by the British interests."

FAVOR GREENE NOMINATION.

Senate Committee Reports on New Highway Commissioner.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 3.—After five weeks' delay, the Senate Finance Committee today reported favorable the nomination of Colonel Federick Stuart Greene of Nassau to succeed Edwin Duffey as State Highway Commissioner.

Democrats charged that the committee had held up the nomination long enough to enable Commissioner Duffey to make 900 appointments of employes in the department and get them protected through civil service, and to let practically all the highway maintenance and repair contracts that can be undertaken this Summer.

Colonel Greene will have only thirteen appointments to make.

COTTON MARKET STRONGER.

Prices in Market Rise on Buying Here and Abroad.

The cotton market again rose steadily and easily yesterday and such opposition as was encountered was, on the whole, of little of no consequence. Liverpool was a good buyer, and the Wall Street houses and other local interests also bought. To this was added a continued accumulation by spot houses.

The buying was of good quality and gave the market an appearance of strength which was considerably greater than would seem to be indicated by the day's rise in prices.

Both the new contracts and the old-style contracts benefited by yesterday's strength. In respect to the old-style contracts, it was notable that there was considerable hedge buying and short covering. Trading in the old options is likely to fall off in the very near future and already, in fact, the volume in the new contracts is becoming considerably greater than that of the old ones. The speculative attraction, of course, is in the contracts where the free market obtains, and only in the new contracts is this possible. However, the old ones will move in sympathy for some time to come.

In the afternoon local bulls began to realize on some of their holdings, but this supply failed to break the market more than 10 points or so, as there was a consistent demand from outside sources which more than made up for the local selling. After being up 65 points or more, the market eased off just before the closing, but finished well above the previous day's final figures, with gains ranging from 15 to 36 points for old contracts and somewhat higher for the new contracts.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

GREAT SHOE WORKS WILL DIVIDE PROFITS

Endicott, Johnson & Co. Take in New Capital and Announce Plan to Their Workers.

CAPITALIZED AT $36,000,000

Earnings, After 7 Per Cent. is Paid on Preferred and 10 Per Cent. on Common, to be Split Evenly.

Coincident with news of the refinancing by Wall Street bankers of the shoe manufacturing firm of Endicott, Johnson & Co. came the announcement yesterday that hereafter workers in the company's various factories would divide with stockholders all profits above a certain percentage reserved for the stocks. The features of the profit-sharing plan were not altogether new, but established a precedent, as far as could be discovered, because the arrangement to benefit labor was instituted at the same time that the company undertook to increase its operations through the admission of additional capital into the business. The management is to set aside 7 per cent. of earnings for the preferred stock, 10 per cent. for the common, and the remainder is to be apportioned equally between employes and common share owners.

The business of the company has been taken over by a new concern called the Endicott-Johnson Corporation. The organization has $15,000,000 7 per cent. preferred and $21,000,000 authorized common stock of $50 par value. All of the preferred and a large block of common shares were offered for subscription by Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Brothers and were sold within two hours. Each subscriber to four shares of preferred at $100 per share was privileged to buy one share of common stock at $37.50. It is proposed that $14,000,000 common stock all told shall be disposed of.

A statement by the management posted yesterday in the company's factories had this to say about the new program:

"To Our Workers: Due to our mutual efforts, our leather and shoe business has grown from $600,000 to $75,000,000 annually, with possibilities for future development so great that we feel the business would be strengthened and the interests of all better guaranteed under the form of a corporation than a private ownership. Invested capital and management of this business is entitled to a fair return for its risk and efforts. Labor is entitled to fair wages, good working conditions, reasonable hours, and fair treatment. Accordingly we announce the following plan: Each year after the 7 per cent. dividend has been paid on the preferred stock, and 10 per cent. set apart on the common stock, the balance of profits, if any, shall be split 50-50 between the workers and the owners of the common stock. Every worker who has been in the employ of the company throughout the entire year will share and share alike, which means that the highest paid and lowest paid worker, and all between, receive the same amount either in common stock or cash at the option of the Directors. Divisions made once a year. Plan commences as of Jan. 1, 1919. First division as soon as possible after Jan. 1, 1920."

The statement, which was signed by H. B. Endicott and George F. Johnson, said further that employes would be permitted to buy preferred stock if they desired without affecting their share in the profits. During the first year of the new corporation Mr. Endicott, Mr. Johnson, Eliot Spalding, C. B. Lord, George W. Johnson, and H. Wendell Endicott will receive no salaries.

A letter to the bankers by Henry B. Endicott, President, says that the firm was started forty-five years ago in Boston with a cash capital of $2,800. The new corporation will own plants located at Endicott and Johnson City, N. Y., employing 12,000 hands. The output is approximately 75,000 pairs of shoes a day. The new company will be the largest shoe making concern in the world, and the largest tanning company with possibly one exception. The present management will not be changed.

$6,000,000 GIFT TO WORKERS

Eastman Kodak Company Announces Benefit for Older Employes.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 3.—Announcement was made today of a gift by George Eastman, President of the Eastman Kodak Company, to older employes of the company of 10,000 shares of its common stock, having a present market value of nearly $6,000,000. This stock is to be sold to employes at the par value of $100 a share on an easy payment plan, the proceeds amounting to $1,000,000 to go into an employes' welfare fund.

The company has agreed to set aside a like amount of its unissued common stock, to be sold at par to later employes as they become eligible through length of service.

The Kodak Company has for several years paid to employes an annual wage dividend amounting to nearly $1,000,000, which is to be continued.

How to Avoid Loss in Investments

BY following certain fixed rules the investor can make himself secure against loss. These rules have been determined by definite experience, and are founded on fixed and immutable laws and principles of investment and finance.

In the purchase of first mortgage serial 6% bonds, safeguarded under the Straus Plan, the prudent investor may protect himself from loss and find security, freedom from care, and an attractive interest yield. The best indication of the safety of these bonds is the record of this House—37 years without loss to any investor.

Call or write for our "Questionnaire for Investors." It explains the principles governing the safety of investments. It shows how to distinguish between the sound and the unsound. It outlines the merits of the Straus Plan. It is an invaluable guide to investors. To get this Questionnaire, simply specify

New Issue

Oklahoma Gas & Electric Company

One-Year 7% Gold Notes

Dated April 1, 1919 — Authorized $3,750,000, Outstanding $2,500,000 — Due April 1, 1920

The Company will pay the normal Federal Income Tax not in excess of two per cent., which it may lawfully deduct at the source.

Callable at the option of the Company, in whole or in part, upon thirty days' published notice, at any time prior to October 1, 1919, at 100½ and accrued interest, and thereafter at 100 and accrued interest. Interest payable April 1 and October 1. Coupon Notes of $1,000, $500 and $100 denominations, with privilege of registration as to principal only. The New York Trust Company, New York, Trustee.

The following information regarding these Notes is summarized from a letter signed by J. J. O'Brien, Esq., Vice-President of the Company:

Purpose of Issue The proceeds of these Notes will furnish funds principally for the retirement of the present issue of $2,500,000 Two-Year 6% Notes, due June 15, 1919.

Business The Company organized in 1902 owns and operates modern and efficient plants for the manufacture and distribution of electricity and gas, serving ten communities. In addition, the Company owns all of the Common Stock (except qualifying directors' shares) and $1,280,900 of the $1,543,600 Preferred Stock of the Muskogee Gas & Electric Company.

Earnings Net earnings of all properties for the year ended December 31, 1918, after deducting the annual prior charges, are equal to over three times the annual interest requirements on these Notes. Net earnings for the same period are equal to over one and three-quarters times the total charges, including interest on these Notes.

Restrictions of Issue Additional Notes may be issued only when net earnings of the Company and income received from stocks, bonds and securities of subsidiaries, paid out of net earnings, after deducting interest on all of the Company's outstanding bonds, shall equal at least two and one-half times the annual interest charges on the Notes then outstanding, the Notes applied for, and all floating debt of the Company. No new mortgage may be created upon the property of the Company without equally securing these Notes.

General The properties of the Company have a present replacement value estimated to be in excess of the total Bonds, Divisional Preferred Stock and these Notes. The territory served is having a remarkable growth in population, wealth and prosperity.

All legal matters in connection with the issue of these Notes will be passed upon by Messrs. Cummins, Roemer, Flynn & McKenna of Chicago, and Messrs. Winthrop & Stimson of New York. The accounts of the Company have been audited annually by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, and the physical properties have been examined and reported upon by Messrs. H. M. Byllesby & Company.

The above Notes are offered, when, as and if issued and received by us

At 99½ and Interest, to Yield over 7.50%

The right is reserved to reject any and all applications, and also, in any case, to award a smaller amount than applied for. Temporary Negotiable Interim Receipts will be delivered, exchangeable for definitive Notes when, as and if received from the Company.

FOR BUSINESS AS USUAL.

Campaign Begun to Stabilize Trade at Present Price Levels.

In an effort to stabilize prices, lower the cost of living and stimulate business reconstruction a "National Prosperity Campaign" under the Chairmanship of Philip H. Gadsden, Chairman of the National Public Utilities Committee, will begin today. The object will be to bring business men to the belief that it is within the power of industry to resuscitate itself. A statement issued at the headquarters of the campaign, Room 700, Hotel Commodore, says:

"That the stabilization of business at present price levels rests within the power of industry itself is the belief of the National Federation of Building Industries, and is the message that is being forwarded to members of the War Service Committees and the Chambers of Commerce of the United States, as well as by leaders of business, by the National Prosperity Campaign.

"Regardless of Government attitudes toward the present price situation, there is a realization of the necessity for the upkeep of production and the absorption of the unemployed, and the distribution of such propaganda as will stimulate confidence as well as activity in business projects. Several hundred firms throughout the country have wired their approval and co-operation, the sponsors of the movement including Franklin T. Miller of the Department of Labor, John J. Arnold, Julius Rosenwald, Alexander C. Brown, Charles F. Lang, E. T. Trigg, E. P. Albrecht, Joseph E. Davies, Frank A. Sieberling, Cardinal Gibbons, James H. McGraw and others.

"Granting that general retail buying by the ultimate consumer is still enjoying its usual boom even at present prices, the fact remains that industry has been waiting, and is waiting for basic prices to strike a permanent level that would justify going ahead and still be protected against los sby a drop in prices. Present prices are here to stay, so far as price levels are concerned; we cannot await the industrial adjustment of the entire world. Factory fires must be kept burning and wheels turning, and labor must be employed at a scale of wages commensurate with the prices of commodities."

Appeals have been sent to the Governors of the States and Mayors of principal cities by the committee, requesting conferences with their business interests that are now awaiting building and highway construction.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Selling in heavy volume in the final hour of trading on the Consolidated Stock Exchange yesterday made for a sharp reaction in values throughout the active list, with the exception of the copper stocks. The confused situation in regard to the prices for steel products, with the contradictory reports from Washington relative to the matter acted adversely on the steel stocks, and through them on the market in general.

No Blank forms are furnished by the Government for this purpose.
We have engaged George C. Holton, Esq., of the New York Bar, an expert in Tax Law, to collaborate with our accountants, and under their united supervision have prepared a complete set of some twenty-five Schedules and Balance Sheets, arranged in accordance with Government requirements.
The entire set is suitably indexed, printed in triplicate, and bound in book form, perforated so that any or all the forms may be detached. This provides an original to file with return, a copy to retain, and a triplicate for working sheet purposes. We also include a work sheet which gives an accurate and ingenious formula for computing the Corporation Tax.
A SET OF THESE FORMS, USED TO PREPARE AND FURNISH THE MASS OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION REQUIRED BY THE GOVERNMENT, WILL BE OF GREAT ASSISTANCE TO TAXPAYERS AND WILL SIMPLIFY THE PREPARATION OF THIS MOST INTRICATE AND IMPORTANT RETURN.

Mexico Said to Approve the Deal—Tankers of Large Capacity to be Acquired.

The Atlantic Gulf and West Indies Steamship Line, the holding company for the Mallory, Clyde, New York and Porto Rico, the Ward, and the Southern lines, has acquired a controlling interest in a Tampico oil field which is to be utilized for providing fuel for its own ships and bulk cargo for transit. This announcement was made yesterday by an official of the company, who said:

"After an investigation of the oil situation covering a period of two years, the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship Line has acquired a controlling interest in the very valuable property of Gibson, Zahniser & Vincent in the Southern Tampico oil fields, on which are now located two flowing wells with a minimum estimated daily production of more than 100,000 barrels of '20 beaume' oil. This property includes an exclusive pipe line concession to the Gulf Coast, where a 600-acre terminal site is located."

The oil property will be operated by a company capitalized at $20,000,000, to be known as the Atlantic, Gulf Oil Corporation. No announcement was made yesterday as to the officers of this new concern. It will, however, be financed by the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies line.

The details regarding the concession were withheld, but, it was said, that the matter had been under negotiation for some time, and the authority of the Mexican Government had been given for the new corporation to proceed. In addition to the pipe line the company will have to build storage tanks and a pumping station at the terminal. To convey the oil to American and foreign ports the company intends to acquire a number of steel tank steamships having a carrying capacity of 10,000,000 barrels a year. Some of the steamships operated by the lines are oil burners, but the majority are not.

The Royal Dutch Petroleum Company has bought a large block of the 4,150,000 shares of the Mexican Eagle Company, according to dispatches received at the local office of the latter company yesterday, which confirmed rumors current in London for some time. The amount of stock bought is not yet known, but it is understood to be 2,500,000 shares at an aggregate cost of about $75,000,000. The Mexican Eagle Company was founded and controlled by Lord Cowdray and his associates.

The stock is expected to be divided between the Royal Dutch Company and the Shell Transport Company, allied concerns, in proportion of 60 per cent. for the former and 40 per cent. for the latter.

The Mexican Eagle properties comprise some of the largest producing wells of the Tampico fields, from which approximately 1,000,000 barrels of petroleum are exported per month. It owns 180 miles of pipe line and a storage capacity of steel construction capable of holding 5,000,000 barrels. The concern's tank steamer fleet consists of seventeen ships of 200,000 tons. In the year ended June 30 last the company earned $10,000,000 above all expenses.

DELAY IN TREASON TRIAL.

O'Neill, Fricke's Counsel, Near Suspension in Federal Court.

After the examination of a few talesmen yesterday for the trial of Albert Paul Fricke, a naturalized citizen, indicted for treason, a capital offense, Federal Judge Mayer adjourned further proceedings until Monday morning. The postponement was due to the physical condition of Fricke's counsel, Thomas J. O'Neill, who appeared in court after having served in a trial for murder. He asked for delay, but Judge Mayer declined the request.

On Wednesday the court declared that Mr. O'Neill would have to show cause for his absence or be punished for contempt, and yesterday the lawyer told the court that there would have to be further delay or he would be compelled to withdraw from the case.

Judge Mayer thereupon directed the District Attorney to prepare contempt papers and lay them before the Bar Association for action. Then he suspended O'Neill from further practice in the United States Court, with the exception of the case at bar.

TAKE NOTES FROM HINES.

Railroad Administration Finances $40,000,000 Due Equipment Companies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Certificates of indebtedness to the extent of $40,000,000 will be issued to companies which have made contracts with the Railroad Administration to furnish equipment, and in this way some of the obligations of the Administration will be taken care of. The certificates will cover moneys already due. In all, contracts have been signed with the equipment companies amounting to about $244,000,000.

Announcement of the financial arrangement was made today in the following statement by Director General Hines:

"After conferences between a group of representatives of equipment companies with which the Railroad Administration made contracts early last year for the construction of locomotives and cars, and on which there are considerable amounts yet to be paid the companies for locomotives and cars already delivered, and representatives of the Railroad Administration, a plan has been adopted in connection with the liabilities to the equipment companies of the Railroad Administration.

"The plan announced was similar to that adopted for taking care of the April 1 requirements of the railroad corporations that was recently made public and involves the issuance by the Director General of his certificates of indebtedness to the equipment companies on account of amounts now due to the equipment companies."

It is understood that the equipment companies will endeavor to negotiate the certificates chiefly through banks and trust companies rather than by seeking the services of the War Finance Corporation, whose funds will be used principally to aid the railroad systems and American exporters.

AT WORK ON PLANS FOR FLEET ARRIVAL

STRONGEST UNIT EVER HERE

Thousands Will Get Shore Leave During Visit of Atlantic Naval Force.

Major Randolph Coyle of the Marine Corps, the executive officer in charge of fleet entertainment during the visit of the Atlantic Fleet from April 15 to April 30, has established headquarters at 9 East Fortieth Street, and yesterday gave some details as to the plans for the fleet's reception.

The fleet that is due here from Guantanamo on April 15, he said, will be, from the standpoint of gun power, the most powerful fleet that has ever been anchored in the vicinity of New York. It will consist of fourteen battleships of the latest type, sixty destroyers, ten submarines, and ten ships of the train, including supply ships, repair ships, and mother ships for the smaller craft.

An important object in the fleet's stay in these waters will be attained when shore leave will be granted to 8,000 to 10,000 of the 28,000 to 30,000 men of the fleet. For many of the men it will be their first real vacation in several years, as during the last two months at Guantanamo the fleet has again, according to Major Coyle, returned to its status as a fleet in being. He explained that during the war many of the ships were separated from the fleet and sent to places where they were of the most service, and in that way the identity of the fleet as a unit was for the time submerged in the necessity of the moment.

At Guantanamo, however, the strict regime of target practice, manoeuvres with airplanes, submarines, battleships and destroyers has served to restore the fleet to its former condition. The only recreation the men had at Guantanamo was baseball, basketball and any of the other field sports available there. They had no shore liberty.

The plan of entertainment, said Major Coyle, will include informal sightseeing, theater and dancing parties and other special features being prepared by the welfare organizations assisting in the welcome.

The great attraction of the visit for the public will be the sixty destroyers which played an important part in wiping the U-boats off the seas. Heretofore there have been but two or three destroyers here at any one time but on this occasion sixty destroyers will anchor in the Hudson. The total tonnage of the fleet is about 500,000.

The fleet will be commanded by Admiral Mayo, whose arrival on this side is expected any day. No official reception or parade has been planned, Major Coyle said yesterday. He presumed that the fleet would be open for inspection by visitors.

The six battleships that were with the British Grand Fleet from December, 1917, to December, 1918, and which will be here with the fleet, are the New York, Texas, Wyoming, Arkansas, Florida, and Delaware, under Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman. Other ships that were in European waters and which will take part in the visit include the Utah, Nevada, Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and North Dakota.

The ships of the Sixth Battle Squadron that were with the British Grand Fleet were here in January and after leaving New York went to the Atlantic Coast navy yards and thence to the rendezvous at Hampton Roads and so to Guantanamo, where they went through a schedule of drills. Major Coyle returned from Guantanamo two weeks ago.

TO GREET ADMIRAL SIMS.

Mayor's Committee Plans Dinner to Welcome Fleet Commander.

The plans for the welcome to Admiral Sims upon his arrival on the Mauretania were announced yesterday. With him are coming Captains R. H. Leigh, J. R. P. Pringle, and D. W. Knox; Commanders J. V. Babcock, H. R. Stark, A. P. Fairchild, and W. A. Edwards. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt has directed that a division of destroyers and air craft meet the Mauretania off this port and escort her into the harbor. Rear Admiral G. H. Burrage and his aid, Lieut. Commander F. S. Hatch, will come from Washington to greet Admiral Sims and his staff officially, on behalf of Acting Secretary Roosevelt, and to escort him to the Navy Department.

The commander of the Third Naval District has been directed to arrange for Mrs. Sims to meet her husband on his arrival. Grover Whalen, secretary to Mayor Hylan, said that the latter had placed the police boat Patrol at the services of Mrs. Sims and the families of the officers who are returning with the Admiral. If the Admiral elects to stay for a brief time in New York, Mr. Whalen said, the Mayor's Committee will tender him a dinner on behalf of the city.

Upon completion of his temporary duty in the Navy Department, Admiral Sims will proceed to Newport, R. I., to become President of the Naval War College, which duty he has requested.

Admiral Sims left the United States on March 31, 1917, proceeded to England, and arrived at Liverpool on April 7, 1917, one day after the declaration of war. He represented the United States Navy in preparation of plans for conducting all naval operations, and upon arrival of the first destroyers was made commander of the United States naval forces in European waters.

TO AID DISCHARGED SAILORS.

Offices Opened to Epedite Payment of Travel Funds.

Acting on instructions from Franklin D. Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of the Navy, Commander B. G. Barthalow, U. S. N., yesterday opened offices in the Grand Hotel, 1,236 Broadway, to systematize the return of discharged sailors to their homes and also to straighten out difficulties in obtaining the men's bonus and travel allowances. About 200 men applied at the office yesterday and last night Commander Barthalow left for Washington with about 100 discharge applications to rush them through.

"The object of the office," said Commander Barthalow, "is to give first aid to stranded sailors who have received their discharge or their release. With thousands of discharged men from the navy walking the streets of the city and many of them without employment, the question of what to do with them has become serious. Today the Police Department were instructed to look out for straggling sailors and to direct any that needed help to this office. The police also were asked to turn over any sailor who may be picked up for a minor offense, so that the Navy Department may deal with them.

"Any sailor who has been discharged from the service since No. 11 last, is entitled to the $60 bonus and transportation at the rate of 5 cents a mile from the point of discharge to his home or place ofenlistment. Many of the boys have received the bonus and spent it seeing the sights, while many more have thus far been unable to collect this bonus money. It is our purpose to see that such things are rectified."

Commander Barthalow will be assisted by the Red Cross, War Camp Community Service, Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and the Jewish Welfare Board.

CITY DRY ONCE-ON-A-TIME.

State Prohibition Declared Unconstitutional in the Fifties.

The fact that the City and State of New York once were dry for nearly a year was recalled yesterday to officials of the Association Opposed to National Prohibition, 19 West Forty-fourth Street, by Arthur L. Cruickshank of Chicago, who was born here nearly eighty years ago. The experience of New Yorkers under arid conditions came just before the outbreak of the civil war, said Mr. Cruickshank, and after the law had provoked turmoil throughout the State, the Court of Appeals declared it unconstitutional and inoperative. For an account of the State's experience Mr. Cruickshank referred to Roberts's History of New York, which says:

"Maine had enacted its law of prohibition in 1851, and its example attracted much attention in New York. In the session of 1854 the Legislature passed an act for the suppression of intemperance, which aimed to prohibit the sale of intoxicating drinks. Governor Seymour interposed his veto on March 30, 1854, having previously warned the Legislature not to act in opposition to the rights of the citizens.

"The measure, however, finally was put on the statute books and its enforcement caused a protest from one end of the State to the other. While the indignation was at its height a Gubernatorial election was held, and Governor Seymour, opposed unitedly by the press and the clergy, failed of re-election, but only by 309 votes.

"Eleven months after its passage the constitutionality of the law was called into question and the Court of Appeals handed down a decision that the measure could not stand."

CALLS SCHOOL 70 A MENACE

Report of Public Education Association Assails Health Conditions.

Revelations of deplorable conditions in Public School No. 70, in Fifty-fifth Street, just east of one of the best residential districts of Fifth Avenue, were published yesterday by the Public Education Association of New York. The report asserts that the conditions are a menace to the health of the children, and asks if it is not a serious indictment of the administration of our forty-five-million-dollar-a-year school system. The report reads in part:

Nearly 2,000 children are crowded into class rooms having a total seating capacity of scarcely 1,000. Out of forty-seven classes, 14 are on double session, or part time. Space is so precious that in many rooms four children must be huddled in two double seats pushed close together. In one room on the top floor, which has no windows and is completely surrounded by other rooms, there is only one isle in the middle of the room, the seats on either side being jamed tight against the wall. The mere thought of fire under such conditions is enough to make one's blood run cold.

On the first floor, there are no permanent partitions between three of the rooms—only curtains. Over 150 little children, just beginning school, are crowded into these improvised rooms. In addition to the inevitable distraction due to the recitations of the classes on either side, which are separated only by the curtains, there is ever present the almost cruel eye-strain. It is doubtful whether such conditions would be tolerated under our factory laws, in even the poorest sweatshop!

William L. Ettinger, Superintendent of Schools, when shown the account of the conditions of the school, said yesterday:

"Some of these criticisms may be slightly exaggerated, but the Board of Education is trying to take care of these conditions. These old buildings are inheritances. We would be glad to awaken the people so that it would be demanded that sufficient money be appropriated to alter these very things."

Mr. Ettinger said that there were other public schools in which the conditions were far from perfect. He showed a chart and pointed out that the money appropriated for the purpose of altering school buildings was less than at almost any time in the past ten years.

OPPOSES MEMORIAL PLAN.

Hirsch Proposes Pershing as New Name for Park Avenue.

Nathan Hirsch, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation, issued a statement yesterday opposing the plan to have the city turn over the site of the old Grand Union Hotel at Fortyschond Street and Park Avenue as a public park memorial to the American soldiers who fought in France. He said it would be of more value to the city if sold as a site for a hotel or a department store.

"There is no reason on earth," Mr. Hirsch said, "why there should be a park established at this point. Park Avenue, stretching for at least half a mile south of this, is a park. Grand Central intervenes, and from Forty-fifth Street to Ninety-sixth Street we again have an open plaza, a street more than 100 feet wide. The city needs the revenue from the improvement of this plot. Why not call Park Avenue Pershing Avenue? We all desire to honor General Pershing, and there is no reason why Park Avenue, by the simple act of the Board of Aldermen, should not be called Pershing Avenue."

expenditures the Government has had to resort to unusual sources for its revenue. The receipts and estimated receipts to meet over $47,000,000,000 of appropriations are, excluding postal revenue and certificates of indebtedness, obtained from the following sources:

From customs, internal revenue, &c.:
For April, May, June, 1917.	$580,739,358.70
For fiscal year ended June 30, 1918.	4,180,425,155.99
For fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, (estimated)	6,746,658,988.71
For fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, (estimated)	5,150,000,000.00
Total	$16,657,823,503.40
From bonds, notes, and War Savings Stamps:
During June, 1917	$1,385,018,756.38
During fiscal year ended June 30, 1918	7,926,790,119.61
During fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, (estimated)	13,927,145,590.53
During fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, (balance under present authorization)	2,650,000,000.00
Grand total	$42,546,777,969.92

"It will be observed that the appropriations by Congress available during the war, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, total more than $47,110,000,000. The revenue to meet these extraordinary expenses must come from customs receipts, income and other taxes, the sale of bonds and War Savings Stamps. Of this $16,657,000,000 is derived through customs receipts and income and other taxes, while $25,888,000,000 (in round figures) is raised from the sale of bonds, notes and War Savings Stamps.

How Expenses Have Grown.

"Persons urging a return to normal conditions must remember that the Government will never return to a pre-war basis of Government expenditures. That is impossible. Before the war our national debt was less than $1,000,000,000. July 1 will find us with a national debt of about $24,000,000,000. From the close of the civil war until 1916 our annual expenditures never exceeded $1,150,000,000. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, the interest on our debt alone will amount to more than $1,050,000,000, a sum almost equal to the total annual expenses of the Government prior to 1916.

"The next Congress will be brought face to face with many new and intricate problems, and many of them will call for large expenditures of money. It is impossible to estimate what expense will be involved in the future in the administration of the railroads, the operation of our merchant marine, the War Risk Insurance payments, and to provide homesteads for our soldiers.

"While difficult to make a reliable forecast as to what the expenses of the Government will be for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, it is reasonably safe to assume that the executive departments will most earnestly urge appropriations at least as large as those appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, for such appropriations were made to administer these departments on a peace basis. If we assume, however, that both the military and naval programs will be greatly reduced, and that our standing army will be limited to 250,000 men, it will require rather strict economy to bring the regular annual supply bills under $2,150,000,000. To this must be added the permanent and indefinite appropriations of approximately $1,650,000,000, or a grand total of more than $3,800,000,000, necessary for the various government activities.

"It must be borne in mind that strong pressure will be brought upon Congress by several of the executive departments to continue certain activities for which no appropriation was made in the last Congress. New problems will constantly arise that will make demands upon the Treasury. Necessary reconstruction legislation will carry necessary expenditures, but no reliable estimate can be made at this time as to the amount of such financial requirements.

"To pay this enormous expense we will have approximately $400,000,000 from postal receipts; increased tariff rates should bring $280,000,000 from customs duties, and there will be due us as interest on loans to foreign countries approximately $500,000,000. Unquestionably large sums will be realized in salvaging war material, but on the shoulders of the taxpayers will fall the heavier part of this burden.

"During the war large appropriations have been made to carry on war activities. For example, approximately $3,500,000,000 has been appropriated for the Emergency Fleet Corporation, $500,000,000 for the War Finance Corporation, $100,000,000 for relief in Europe, $100,000,000 for housing for war needs, and $150,000,000 for the United States Grain Corporation. From these and other similar sources the Government should receive within the next two years large sums of money, and legislation should be enacted whereby receipts from such sources should be used to retire Government bonds.

"It will require the exercise of strict economy to hold the expenditures down to approximately these figures. No committee having jurisdiction of appropriations can bring about practice of the economies that are necessary unless Congress is in sympathy with the program for economy. Congress cannot be expected to be in favor of any greater degree of economy than the public will demand, and, unless an intelligent public sentiment is aroused throughout the entire country for the inauguration of a businesslike administration in Government affairs and for strict economy in Government expenditures, these estimates of expenditures will be found to be too low."

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

JACOB PRIZER, a salesman of 506 West 177th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $5,307 and no assets. Among the largest creditors are Metropolitan Wool Company, $620; L. Sheinbaum, $411, and S. Field, $298, claims for merchandise sold and delivered in 1914.

SELLS PLANES AND MOTORS.

War Department Accepts Curtiss Company's Offer.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The War Department announced today that a contract had been signed with the Curtiss Airplane and Motor Corporation of Buffalo for the sale of 4,608 Curtiss O X-5 motors, 1,616 J N-4 planes, without motors, and 1,100 standard planes, without motors. The contract calls for the payment of $2,720,000 for this property, which, the War Department announced, from the standpoint of use by the army is obsolete and worn out.

The O X-5 motor is of the eight-cylinder type used extensively in training. Most of these motors have been used to such an extent that they would have to be rebuilt. The J N-4 planes were the machines used in elementary training, and are now in such condition that much overhauling, and in most instances rebuilding, would be required before they could be used further. The Standard planes had been condemned by the Air Service, and have only a scrap value.

In accordance with the policy of the War Department, manufacturers of this material were requested to submit bids, and the best offer received was that of the Curtiss Company.

STOPS WILKINS'S TRIP HOME

Attorney Refuses to Let Physician Be Escorted by Detectives Only.

MINEOLA, L. I., April 3.—Charles N. Wysong, attorney for Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins, charged with wife murder, declined today to permit Dr. Wilkins to go to the Wilkins Long Beach home with detectives unless he could accompany the physician.

"I don't want them to put anything over on him," said Wysong. "I want to be there. If he goes I am going with him."

Dr. Wilkins had asked permission to go to the house to get more clean linen and District Attorney Charles R. Weeks had granted permission. County Detective Carman Plant and A. O. Myers, a Burns detective, were going to accompany Dr. Wilkins.

An effort is being made to break down Dr. Wilkins' story that he bought his new watch and chain after the death of his wife. Dr. Wilkins said that the burglars who killed his wife took his old watch. If it could be shown that Dr. Wilkins bought the new timepiece before the murder of his wife, another bit of circumstantial evidence, it is claimed, would be obtained against the physician.

CARPET AND RUG SALE.

Auction Ends with Total of About $3,000,000 Worth Sold.

The auction sale of carpetings and rugs started on Tuesday by the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company was concluded yesterday with total receipts approximating $3,000,000. It was regarded by officials of the company as one of the most successful in the history of the concern. In view of the disturbed conditions of the trade, there was exceptional interest shown in the progress of the auction, and the scarcity and desirability of merchandise were made clearly evident.

The last hour of yesterday's session showed the buyers in a scramble for merchandise the equal of which has perhaps never been witnessed at a similar function. The big jobbers were again in evidence with bids for balances, but the retailers still continued to take a good share of the offerings. There were 15,214 bales disposed of yesterday for a total of $955,000.

Following is the list of lots offered yesterday with size, description, and the high and low price on each item:

Size.	Description.	High.	Low.

Fall prices were announced yesterday by the same concern. These were above the sale prices, but somewhat lower than those named in October. Some of the principal numbers in the 9x12 size were quoted as follows: Alpine Axminster, $31.20; Ardsley Axminster, $33; Carlton Axminster, $40.20; Yonkers Axminster, $45; Kirman Axminster, $46.80; Hudson Tapestry, $17.10; Manor Tapestry, $19.80; Nepperhan Tapestry, $24; Katonah Velvet, $24.30; Palisade Velvet, $33; Colonial Velvet, $40.80; Wilton Velvet, $54.

BUSINESS NOTES.

David N. Mosessohn, Executive Director of the Associated Dress Industries of America, is to represent that organization in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, of which it recently became a member, and will attend the annual convention at St. Louis on April 27. Some time during the latter part of the month a mass meeting of dress manufacturers will be held in this city, at which several movements for the betterment of the industry will be started.

Mark Werthmann, who was recently mustered out of service which included ten months in France, is now Treasurer of Werthmann & Co., Inc., converters of cotton goods, at 66 Leonard Street. Previous to entering the national service Mr. Werthmann was engaged in a similar business under the name of the Maypril Co., Inc.

LEGAL NOTICES.

GEORGIA COAST & PIEDMONT RAILROAD COMPANY

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to a Final Decree entered in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern Division of the Southern District of Georgia, on March 8, 1919, in a certain cause in Equity pending in said court entitled "David Loewenthal, Plaintiff, against Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company, Defendant; Columbia Trust Company, Complainant in Cross Bill, against Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company, Defendant," I, J. W. TALBERT, in and by said Final Decree appointed to be the Special Master therein referred to, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder or bidders at the general office of Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company in Brunswick, Georgia, upon the property to be sold on May 6, 1919, at 1 o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time) the property in said Final Decree described and therein directed to be sold, the following being a brief description of said property to be sold at said sale:

All and singular the entire line or lines of railroad constituting the property of Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company, in the State of Georgia, extending from the City of Darien, in McIntosh County, Georgia, northwestwardly through the Counties of McIntosh and Liberty to Collins, in Tatnall County, Georgia, and also all the line or lines of said railroad as extended including the line or lines of railroad extending from the City of Darien in McIntosh County, Georgia, in a general southerly direction to the City of Brunswick in Glynn County, Georgia, and along the routes authorized in the Charter of said Railroad Company as now existing, including any and all branch or subsidiary line or lines; together with all lands acquired and used for said railroad or for any purpose in connection with the construction, maintenance or operation thereof, and all the rights of way, water or riparian rights, easements, roadbeds, tracks, docks, piers, wharves, bridges, viaducts, culverts, switches, turnouts, sidings, turn-tables, fences, depot grounds, station houses, station grounds, yards, terminal property, freight houses, warehouses, engine houses, car houses, fuel houses, sheds, machine shops or other shops, water tanks and all other structures, erections and fixtures of every kind and rights and all such real and personal property, rights of way, easements, and appurtenances, as may be germane to or necessary for or in connection with the construction, operation or maintenance of said several lines of railroad, now owned and possessed by said Railroad Company; also all the locomotives, engines, cars, rolling stock of every kind, tools, machinery of every kind, rails, spikes, joint fastenings, timbers, ties, superstructure and material of every kind necessary to be used in or in connection with the construction, maintenance and operation of said railroads, now owned and possessed by said Railroad Company; also all tools, implements and machinery, instruments, furniture, safes, books, accounts, maps, field notes, surveys and charts belonging to said Railroad Company and used or intended to be used, or capable of being used, in connection with the construction, completion, operation or equipment of said railroads; also all materials and supplies of every character owned or possessed by said Railroad Company, designed to be used or capable of being used in or in connection with the construction, completion, equipment, use or operation of said railroads, or any portion thereof, together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in any wise appertaining; and also all the rights, powers, privileges and franchises of or belonging to said Railroad Company and also the tolls, income, rents, issues, profits and avails thereof.

Also $568,000 face value of First Mortgage Forty-Year 5% Gold Bonds of the Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company, dated March 1, 1906, maturing March 1, 1946, secured by the Mortgage or deed of trust to the Morton Trust Company, Trustee, dated March 1, 1906.

For a more particular description of the property to be sold and of the terms of sale, intending purchasers are hereby referred to said Final Decree and to the record in the above-mentioned cause wherein said decree was entered.

As more fully provided by said Final Decree, to which reference is hereby made:

I. Said sale will be made without valuation, appraisement, redemption or extension.

II. The right is reserved to the Court to adjourn or postpone said sale and to direct the Special Master to proceed with the sale without further notice or advertisement on any date to which the same may have been so adjourned.

III. Any party to said cause or any holder of bonds issued under the Mortgage of said Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company dated April 1, 1912, (said mortgage being hereinafter referred to as the First Mortgage and said bonds as First Mortgage Bonds) may bid or purchase at such sale.

IV. Said property will be sold subject to any lawful taxes or assessments upon said property and subject to the lien of the mortgage or deed of trust of the defendant Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company to Morton Trust Company, as Trustee, dated March 1, 1906.

V. The Special Master will receive no bid from any one offering to bid who shall not first deposit with the Special Master as a condition precedent to his right to bid and as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid in case of its acceptance by the Special Master and confirmation by the Court the sum of $30,000 in cash or by certified check upon any national bank or trust company in the State of Georgia or of the City of New York, acceptable to the Special Master and made or indorsed payable to his order, or, in lieu of said deposit in cash or by check, $300,000 face amount of First Mortgage Bonds in bearer form, bearing coupons appertaining to such bonds maturing April 1, 1916, and subsequently.

In lieu of the deposit of First Mortgage Bonds and coupons with the Special Master, the Special Master may accept the Certificate of the Columbia Trust Company of New York that it holds subject to his order the amount therein specified of First Mortgage Bonds in bearer form, accompanied by the coupons therein stated.

The deposit received from an unsuccessful bidder will be returned to him when the property has been struck off. The deposit received from any successful bidder will be held by the Special Master subject to the orders of the Court and upon confirmation of the sale will be applied on account of the purchase price of the property.

The Special Master will not accept any bid for the property offered for sale less than the sum of $300,000.

VI. In case any bidder, after the acceptance of his bid by the Special Master, shall fail to comply within a period of twenty days with any order of the Court requiring or relating to the payment of the balance of the purchase price, then the sums deposited by such successful bidder whether in cash or by check or represented by First Mortgage Bonds, will be forfeited as a penalty for such failure and will be applied to the expenses of a resale and toward making good any deficiency or loss in case the property shall be sold at a less price on such resale, and to such other purposes as the Court may direct. If the Court shall not confirm any sale the deposit made by the accepted bidder will be forthwith returned to such bidder.

VII. The purchaser or purchasers on the confirmation of the sale by the Court shall make such further payment or payments in cash on account of the purchase price as the Court may from time to time direct. So much of the purchase price as may not be required by the Court to be paid in cash may either be paid in cash or any purchaser may satisfy and make good such residue of his bid in whole or in part by turning over to the Special Master to be cancelled or credited First Mortgage Bonds and coupons thereunto appertaining. In lieu of so turning over to the Special Master First Mortgage Bonds and coupons the Special Master will accept the Certificate of Columbia Trust Company of New York, that it holds subject to his order the amount therein specified of First Mortgage Bonds in bearer form and accompanied by the coupons therein stated. A purchaser will be credited on account of the purchase price for First Mortgage Bonds and the coupons thereunto appertaining turned over in part payment of the purchase price such sum as would be paid in cash upon such Bonds and coupons out of the proceeds of sale if the whole amount of the purchase price had been paid in cash. The Court reserves the right to resell the property sold upon such notice as it may direct at the risk and cost of the purchaser in case such purchaser shall fail or omit to make any payment on account of the purchase price within twenty days after the entry of any order requiring such payment.

VIII. Any purchaser and his successors or assigns shall have the right to elect not to take or accept any of the property or franchises struck off to him by written notice to the Special Master given at any time prior to the execution and delivery of the deeds or instruments of transfer from the Special Master provided for in said Final Decree. No such election by the purchaser shall diminish or affect the purchase price of the property.

As provided in Article XXXII of said Final Decree any purchaser and his successors or assigns will have the right for the period of six months after the delivery of the Special Master's deed, to elect whether or not to assume or to adopt as part of the property embraced in such deed, any lease or contract made by the defendant Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company appertaining to the property purchased by him.

IX. Upon confirmation of sale and the payment of the purchase price by any purchaser, his successors or assigns, or upon making such provision for the payment thereof as the Court may approve the Special Master making the sale will execute to such purchaser, his successors or assigns, a deed or deeds or other proper instruments conveying, assigning and transferring the property sold to such purchaser (except such part thereof, if any, as such purchaser, his successors or assigns shall have elected not to take in accordance with the provisions of Article XXXII. of said Final Decree.) Upon the production of such deed or deeds and assignments or transfers, or of a certified copy or copies thereof, the grantee or grantees therein named will be let into possession of the property so conveyed or transferred. The purchaser, his successors or assigns, shall, after such delivery of possession, hold, possess and enjoy the property conveyed and transferred and every part and parcel thereof, free from the trust and lien imposed thereon by the First Mortgage, and free from any claim, right, interest or equity of redemption of, in or to the same by or of the defendant Georgia Coast & Piedmont Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, and by or of the creditors and stockholders of said Railroad Company, and by or of any party to said cause, and all persons, partnerships and corporations claiming by, under or through said Railroad Company, its creditors or its stockholders, or any party to said cause; subject, nevertheless, to the conditions that the Court may retake and resell the property conveyed or transferred in case such purchaser, his successors or assigns, shall fail within the time limited to pay any balance of the purchase price remaining unpaid.

X. By said Final Decree the Court reserves for future adjudication all questions not disposed of by said Final Decree.

For further particulars reference is hereby made to said Final Decree and to the record and proceedings in said cause on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern Division of the Southern District of Georgia.

Dated, March 14, 1919.

J. W. TALBERT,
Special Master.

Children's Capes Doing Well.

Makers of the better class of children's wear report a good demand for capes, this being a reflection of the business that is being done in these goods at retail. Capes for small children, especially in the 2 to 6 range, are taking well. Some of them are made with little hoods attached, but for the most part they are designed along the lines which mark the capes that women wear. They are offered in practically the same fabrics and colors that are being bought by grownups, and not a few of them cost almost as much as capes for the latter.

Woolens Almost Sold Up.

Practically all the desirable lines in the men's wear piece goods market have been sold up or withdrawn for revision. Some few Fall lines have yet to be opened and, according to the trade opinion, they have lost no business through their delay but will probably profit. From a canvass of the market it appears that the mills will have to cut down on the amount of business they have taken. This, it is pointed out, will also enable them to obtain a better distribution.

⁂

Leather in Place of Fur.

A clothier expressed the opinion yesterday that the leather-lined overcoat may to some extent replace the fur-lined coat for the next season. The vogue on this type of outergarment has reached quite a prominent place. The reason he advanced for the leather-lined garment was that it is warm and waterproof and yet not as bulky as the fur garment. Besides this, he added that leather coats have been placed in the hands of men who set styles, which, to his way of thinking, ought to give good assurance of their popularity.

New Method of Pilfering.

A new method of pilfering silk has been reported to the Lost Property Bureau of the Silk Association of America. The only way to account for several losses that have occurred recently is that drivers or helpers on passing trucks have passed close to a silk wagon and used their bale hooks to haul off a package of the valuable goods. Only a short time ago a package was taken by this method right under the eyes of a driver. Dealers are warned that it might pay to have a man on guard constantly while a load of silk is being taken off or on.

⁂

Retail Sales Show Big Gain.

While there was a difference of opinion expressed as to the trade deterring effects of last week's small blizzard and the blustery days that followed, it was asserted by the store executives questioned that consumer buying was snappy enough yesterday and that it gave promise of continuing that way at least until Easter. Another thing brought out was the fact that, despite the early Easter last year and the trade-stimulating effects of that day, the business done this year in the weeks corresponding to last year's pre-Easter season was the greater. In view of this, a marked increase in trade over 1918 is expected in the next three weeks. In the business done yesterday all kinds of outer and inner garments, hosiery, and millinery had a large share.

Gray Goods Sales Fair.

While a large business in all widths and constructions of sateens and twills was done yesterday in the local gray goods market at prices reached in the recent advance, the call for the other fabrics was so limited as to bring the volume of cloths disposed of during the day to a size hardly more than fair. First hands continued to hold 39-inch 68-72s at 11 cents, and goods in the North sold at that price. They also maintained their demands for 9⅝ cents for 38½-inch 64-60s, although some small lots of this construction were sold by second hands for immediate delivery at 9⅝ cents. In the sheetings, which were rather quiet, April delivery business was done on five-yard goods at 9 cents, 5.50s at 8 cents, and 56-60 four-yards at 11⅝ cents. Fine goods transactions were bare of features.

Fur Men to Start Early.

While the drives for the forthcoming Victory Loan do not begin officially until April 21, an arrangement has been made whereby the Victory Loan Committee of the Fur Industry will begin its work Monday morning at the opening of the annual Spring sale of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation in the Masonic Hall. It was said yesterday afternoon that the buyers assembled for the sale, who in previous loan campaigns subscribed heavily, would probably be addressed by a speaker to be chosen by the Speakers' Bureau of the General Loan Committee. The Fur Trade Committee is headed by Fred Kaufman of Kaufman & Oberleder. It will hold a luncheon meeting at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the Hotel McAlpin to shape plans for its work.

Fall Hose Well Sold Up.

Leading lines of fine silk hosiery for women have met with such an active demand since prices were made for Fall that it is expected they will be largely sold up by May 1. In at least one instance no Fall goods will be available in a week or ten days. With the men's goods the situation is different, though the demand for these hose has by no means been light. Practically all types of women's stockings are in demand, and the fancier they are the more they are wanted. One of the surprising things in the color demand is said to be the large call for African brown. It had been predicted that this shade would be passed this Fall, this assertion being based on the belief that the women of the country had become "fed up" on it during the war. However, it is said to be running a strong second to black, with silvers third.

Raw Silk Prices Improve.

The Yokohama raw silk market reports an active demand for American account, which has considerably reduced the visible supply and boosted prices to the basis of 1,510 yen for Sinshiu No. 1. The available supply there is now estimated at 16,000 bales, with high-grade double extra white silks reported missing. Information received from Canton by H. L. Gwalter & Co. of this city says that the market there has improved somewhat and that prices have advanced 10 cents a pound for all grades. Shanghai is unchanged, but firm, with a fair business reported in steam filatures. Tsatlees have moved up slightly. At Milan the situation shows no change, but the Lyons market is becoming more active. Locally, prices have gone up sharply, in sympathy with the rise in Japan. Stocks are generally light here.

TO FREE WESTERN GRAIN.

Railroad Administration Ends Embargo, Except on Seaboard Shipments.

CHICAGO, April 3.—The Railroad Administration today canceled the embargo on all grains for all primary markets and discontinued the permit system. All conflicting embargoes of individual roads were also canceled. The markets affected include Buffalo, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Minneapolis, Chicago, and Kansas City.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Removal of the embargo and permit system, which has controlled the movement of grain to primary markets since last Fall, was announced today by the Railroad Administration. Officials said the action was due to the improved condition of storage facilities, which now permits the receipt of grain without restriction.

The embargo was placed during the Fall rush and many elevators became congested, so that it was necessary to institute some system of control which would relieve that condition. The removal is to save the time and expense of operation of the permits.

The permit system for movement of export grain to seaboard points still is in effect. Removal of the embargo on the movement to primary points affects points only in the Middle West.

Critical buyers of Boys' Clothing will be interested in the opportunity offered by this sale because they are familiar with the excellence of the ABR. BAUMAN product.
This sale is held—and the merchandise is being sold—without reserve, because the firm of ABR. BAUMAN has been succeeded by the BAUMAN CLOTHING CORPORATION.
This new concern will make a line of Boys' and Children's Clothing embodying distinctive and unique features that are not contained in the former ABR. BAUMAN product; therefore this old product can have no place in this new line, and must be sacrificed at public auction without reserve.

DYEMEN EXPECTED MOVE BY GERMANS

Declare Teutons Want to Dump Vast War Accumulation on Market.

FAVOR LICENSING SYSTEM

Would Let In Materials Needed Here and at Same Time Protect Young Industry.

The statement of Secretary of State Braun of the new German Government to a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, and cabled from The Hague, that Germany was soon to open negotiations with the United States and England for the exportation of dyestuffs was received with interest yesterday in the now growing American dye industry and in the textile trades. There was not, however, much disposition to discuss the resumption of dye importations from Germany as the German Secretary of State was discussing a plan rather than an accomplished fact. Such an action on the part of the German Government has been expected and already petitions have gone to Washington from textile manufacturers and others asking that the ban be not lifted.

These petitions point out that to import German dyestuffs would be a decided disadvantage to an industry that the Government has been instrumental in fostering and developing in war time. Men in the industry said that a self-sustaining dye industry is a national necessity and that it cannot be sufficiently protected by a tariff wall. Many favor the exclusion of all dyes and insist that the industry here must have at least five years in which to get upon its feet. In this process it was said yesterday that patriotism must play no small part and that manufacturers and users alike must help to maintain the embargo against German dyes. In this respect it was said that there has been a change in the sentiments of many dye users who were at first inclined to hail the return of the old order.

It was pointed out by a man interested in the industry that the United States will have to take rigid measures to prevent German craftiness from upsetting the manufacture that was sent up primarily as a wartime necessity and is now getting under way. Great Britain, he said, has already seen the importance of establishing an industry free from German dominion, and has prohibited the mportation of all dyestuffs except by license. These licenses, he said, are issued by a commission made up of dye manufacturers, dye users, and one representatve of the Board of Trade.

He favored the license plan contending that under that system no materials considered essential would be kept out of this country and at the same time the bars would be up against any attempt to injure the American industry. Again, he said, such a plan could be operative entirely separate from any tariff law.

The German patents sold by the Alien Property Custodian will protect those who manufacture under them, and these include patents for some of the best German vat dyes. They do not, however, represent more than one-third of the German patent methods, and against the remaining two-thirds there would be no protection. Dye men here know that during the war, under Government protection, the German plants were at work, and they fear that there is now in Germany a vast accumulation of dyestuffs ready to be dumped upon the market. The system of licensing imports under the supervision of the Department of Commerce, they say, would prevent this being done. A tariff, no matter how high, it is feared, would not act as a barrier to Germans whose trade system has been to stifle competition by underselling, which they could do under Government subsidy even though it involved a loss.

See Industry a National Asset.

Too much importance cannot be attached to the dye industry as a national necessity, it was said yesterday, and perhaps the greatest reason is that two and a half billion dollars' annual production in many and varied lines of industry is more or less dependent on dye, to say nothing of the by-products. Again, plants where dyes are manufactured can almost instantly be adapted to the turning out of explosives in time of war, a fact which Germany recognized, and which was one of the reasons for Governmental interest in the industry. The development of manufacture means also that hundreds of men will get technical training and skill to make high explosives. The encouragement of this industry here means, also, it was pointed out, the carrying on of research work which leads into the realm of medicine and other branches of science.

Asked yesterday what the effect would be if the Braun negotiations are carried to a successful conclusion, a man who has made a study of the situation in this country said that it would place in the path of the new industry an almost insurmountable obstacle, which might be fatal to it. Even those who had been awaiting the flood of German dyes, he said, have come now to the belief that it is better not to be under the German thumb, even though we have to pay more now, than to pay less now and have to pay more as soon as Germany has stifled competition. "What person," he asked, "is going to buy German dyes or dyed goods if by so doing he is undermining an industry on which the progress of medical and industrial science depends?"

Under the German patents just sold the American manufacturer can keep from the country products manufactured under these patents, but this is not enough, for there is reason to believe that in the years just past the Germans have invented new processes and have new dyes ready for the market.

At present there is a feeling of unrest in the trade, an uncertainty as to what the Government is going to do. Already there are some who believe that the negotiations the German State Secretary anticipated are really under way. Several weeks ago it was reported here that an agreement had been reached to admit certain dye stuffs into this country. This was denied. Now comes this report of negotiations and the question is repeated: What is the Government going to do? In the meantime the manufacturers are planning how to meet the situation, and it was said yesterday that when the issue comes they will be prepared to face it even though the fight is taken to Congress.

N.W. AYER & SON CELEBRATE

Ex-President Taft Speaks at Advertising Firm's 50th Anniversary.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Nearly a thousand advertisers, advertising men, publishers, and captains of industry celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the N. W. Ayer & Son advertising agency tonight by a banquet in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The speakers were ex-President Taft, Victor Lawson, publisher of The Chicago Daily News; Earl D. Babst, President of the American Sugar Refining Company; N. C. Kingsbury, Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; Edward W. Bok, editor of The Ladies' Home Journal; Edward S. Jordan, President of the Jordan Motor Car Company, and members of the firm, Albert G. Bradford, Jarvis A. Wood, Wilfred W. Fry, and William M. Armistead. F. Wayland Ayer, who, with his father, Nathaniel W. Ayer, was the original founder of the firm and is now active head of the business, presided as toastmaster.

One of the features of the jubilee was the presentation of a portrait painting of F. Wayland Ayer to the organization. Mr. Ayer received a testimonial of appreciation signed by all the guests and employes of the firm.

SUGGEST INCREASED PENALTY FOR CRIME

Grand Juries Say More Severe Punishments Will Deter Criminals.

The regular and additional Grand Juries recommended more severe punishment for robbery and other crimes of violence in presentments to Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions yesterday. Part of the presentment by the regular Grand Jury, of which Thomas F. Farrell is the foreman, sets forth these conclusions concerning amendments to the penal law as likely to have a deterrent effect upon crime:

"After an experience of five weeks' hearing and passing upon various crimes of robbery and violence, we are of the opinion that the punishment of robbery in the first degree and of robbery in the second degree should be increased by an amendment to the penal law. Under our system of jurisprudence one of the most important elements underlying punishment for crime is that such punishment should be regarded as a deterrent and as calculated in some measures to prevent or diminish similar crimes in the future."

The jury pointed out that section 2,125 of the penal law provides punishment not exceeding twenty years for first degree robbery, and not exceeding fifteen years for second degree robbery, and advocates increasing the maximum. There is no minimum as to punishment, however, and the jury advises that a minimum in each degree of crime be established by law at not less than ten years.

The additional Grand Jury, of which Albert Ullman is the foreman, advised support of Assemblyman Barra's measure to establish a maximum sentence of twenty-five years and a minimum of ten years. This Grand Jury followed the recommendation with this comment:

"It is the opinion of this Grand Jury that any means which may be taken to assist the duly constituted public officers charged with the enforcement of the criminal law and to cut down the apparently increasing number of crimes and robberies should be aided and encouraged. We believe that if a minimum term of ten years was provided, and if defendants knew that the court had not the power to sentence to a term less than ten years, it might act as a deterrent to the criminally inclined."

This Grand Jury also recommended reform in bail bonds, particularly with reference to closer co-operation between surety companies and the prosecuting officers concerning the security accepted and investigation of the character of those seeking bail. The jury said criminals had often used proceeds of crime to furnish bail.

Judge Rosalsky, reviewing the work of the Grand Juries, complimented them on the importance of their services to the community. The panel of grand jurymen of the county now numbers 1,200 members.

INCOME TAX LOSS ON ALIENS

Customs Officers Now Holding Up Departing Munition Workers.

It was learned at the Custom House yesterday that probably 100,000 aliens had returned to their native lands with savings accumulated in this country during the war without paying their income tax, many having failed to make a return for 1917. It was estimated that more than 90 per cent. of them, through ignorance of the law or intent, had failed to consider the income tax among their obligations, so that during the last week the Passport Bureau has been collecting an average of $20,000 a day in arrears.

The State Department has amended the passport rules, it was announced, causing all persons applying for passports to present a receipt for paid income tax from the District Internal Revenue Collector. Hundreds who have come to New York recently to sail for their homes have carried with them sums ranging from $2,000 to $15,000, chiefly in gold certificates. Under the new ruling they are forced to exchange their gold certificates. The customs authorities also search the departing aliens and in many cases a definite attempt to conceal the amount of their savings has been revealed.

An officer of the Passport Bureau said yesterday that about 1,500 aliens, principally Greeks, Italians, and Albanians, were being investigated daily at the Custom House. If they are unable to produce a receipt from the Collector of their district they are not permitted to board the ship. Most of the men, it was said, have been munition workers, and in making their statement declare that their incomes for their work during the last two years has been on the basis of from $8 to $15 a day.

An attaché of the Passport Bureau said yesterday that many of the aliens with good jobs in munition factories had accumulated fair-sized fortunes in the last two or three years, and that they were now returning to their home countries to establish themselves in business and live in comfort for the rest of their lives. Many of the men, he said, were ignorant of our language and our laws.

REFUSES TO NAME GUNMEN.

Cardinale May Be Tried for Complicity in Barnet Baff Murder.

Further efforts to learn the identity of two gunmen suspected of the slaying of Barnet Baff failed yesterday at the continued investigation before Judge McIntyre, at the Criminal Courts Building. Antonio Cardinale, who fled to Italy after the murder and was brought back after an agreement was reached with the Italian Government, had admitted he had hired one of the gunmen, but he refused to give the names of the alleged murderers. He persisted in this refusal after numerous warnings by the court.

Following a brief conference between Detective Joseph di Martini and Assistant District Attorney Pecora, who is conducting the investigation for the District Attorney's office to determine if perjury was committed at the trial of Joseph Cohen, one of the convicted Baff conspirators, Mr. Pecora told the court that he wished it to be noted in the record that he had just received information to the effect that Cardinale could be tried for complicity in the murder, or for any other crime here, unless the witness voluntarily placed himself under the jurisdiction of the Italian Government. Mr. Pecora announced that he would endeavor to define the exact status of Cardinale by a conference with a representative of the Italian authorities.

Cardinale insisted he would be able to clear up the case and tell the truth if permitted to have his counsel present. The court offered to assign counsel. This offer he declined, asserting that he wanted his own attorney, W. R. Deuel. Judge McIntyre repeatedly ordered Cardinale to answer the questions, informing him that each refusal to do so meant a contumacious offense and made him liable to punishment for each separate offense.

It was mentioned that Cardinale was costing the State and the county $34.50 a week. These payments, which began when he came here, in November, 1916, are for the support of his family while he is in custody as a witness.

Hylan Vetoes Increase for Justices.

Mayor Hylan yesterday returned to the Legislature, unapproved, the bill passed by both houses increasing the salary of Municipal Court Justices $2,000 a year. In order to make the bill effective the Legislature must pass it over the Mayor's veto. The present salary of a Municipal Court Justice is $8,000 a year and it is estimated that the increas would have meant an increase in the city budget of $100,000.

HOISTING ENGINEERS QUIT HARBOR STRIKE

Boat Owners' Terms Acceptable to Committee—Ratification Is Expected Today.

LIGHTER CAPTAINS GO BACK

Policemen Placed on Tugs Taking City Refuse to Dumping Grounds.

Following a conference of the private boat owners and a committee representing the hoisting engineers, Alfred M. Sarrell, President of the Engineers' Union, announced last night that the owners' terms were acceptable and that the men would be asked to accept them at a meeting today. The lighter captains formally made peace with the owners yesterday and if the engineers follow suit this morning, less than 2,000 harbor workers will be out on strike.

"We will receive $130.50 and $132 per month, according to the class of work, and the same working conditions," said Mr. Sarrell, "and I will place the proposition before the members of our union at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at our rooms, 137 Court Street, Brooklyn. The committee agreed that they would recommend acceptance of the offer. There are about 200, hoisting engineers still on strike."

Notwithstanding the defections in the ranks of the Marine Workers' Affiliation, Captain William A. Maher, Vice President of the Affiliation, last night asserted that the main organization was as strong as ever. "We are standing pat and we will win out," he said. President Delahunty also was optimistic about the outlook, declaring that the unions would fight to the end.

"Over This Week," Says Bonynge.

"The harbor strike will be over this week," was the laconic comment of Paul Bonynge, counsel for the boat owners, after the peace pact had been agreed upon.

Further tribulation for the strikers was indicated yesterday as the result of a virtual defiance of the Federal Railroad Administration by the strike leaders. Early yesterday union Captains of railroad tugs received orders to refuse to tow privately owned coal boats, despite the fact that the tidewater boatmen operating the barges had already made peace. At the headquarters of the Marine Workers' Affiliation it was contended that the orders were issued because no official notification of the tidewater boatmen's agreement had been received.

When asked about this, Mr. Delahunty said he had received a telephone call from A. H. Smith, Regional Director of the Eastern District of the Railroad Administration, asking why the unions had issued the orders to railroad tugboat men. Mr. Delahunty said he had told Mr. Smith that the union would stand pat on its decision and that the men could not see their way clear to tow boats, properties of private boat owners, even though manned by union crews, while the owners of the boats were on the union's "unfair" list.

Up to last night no decision had been reached as to whether the boats would continue to deliver coal to the railroads today. John Brennan, President of the Tidewater Boatmen's Association, said he had been assured that the Government would "make the Captains tow the boats, or would put them off if they refused." T. V. O'Connor, President of the Longshoremen's Union, and responsible for all the agreements thus far reached in the controversy, said it was his opinion that the skippers would have to tow the coal barges or stand guilty of a violation of an agreement.

Turns Over Pay for Boats.

J. J. Kelly, one of the owners of the B. McLain Transportation Company of 1 Broadway, who leased ten coal boats to the Government on March 18 and then announced his determination to turn over all the pay for the boats to the New York Boat Owners' Association to be used in financing the fight against the strikers, yesterday carried out his promise when he sent a check for $1,540 to the association.

Three scows loaded with city refuse were taken to sea yesterday morning by tugs of the Cahill Towing Company, manned by Cahill officials and policemen from the Marine Division. The decision to place policemen on the tugs was reached at a meeting of Mayor Hylan, Street Cleaning Commissioner MacStay, Health Commissioner Copeland, and representatives of the towing company.

Two of the scows carried garbage from Brooklyn and the third refuse from Manhattan. Three more scows will go out today, but even with this relief the city dumps are still too overloaded for public safety. With this situation in mind, Commissioner MacStay announced yesterday that no collections of garbage would be made throughout the city today. He added, however, that he was certain that the crisis in the refuse situation had passed.

TO RUN JITNEY SERVICE.

Connecticut Trolley Company Seeks to Meet Competition This Way.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, April 3.—Practically bankrupt, according to a report just sent to the Legislature, the Connecticut Company, which operates all electric railway lines in the State, will put into effect soon an extensive jitney system covering many parts of the State.

The Legislature has before it a bill giving the company relief from taxation for two years and providing for other financial assistance, and the statement is made that if the recommendations of the committee are not accepted, parts of Connecticut will be without trolleys soon, the jitneys having cut into the trolley company's revenue to the extent of several million dollars during the last few years.

The President of the company, Lucius S. Storrs, said today that jitneys would be put into operation on many lines as a starter.

West Virginia Bandits, However, Left $250,000 in Wrecked Vault.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 3.—Robbers dynamited the safe of the First National Bank of Ansted, seventy miles east of here, and escaped with $50,000 in cash and War Savings Stamps early Wednesday, according to a message received today by Huntington police asking that a lookout be kept for the bandits, who are believed to have come to this city. The robbers, the message said, obtained the loot after blowing the locks off the doors of the vault, but failed to penetrate the inner chambers, which held $250,000 in currency.

The robbery was not discovered until the bank was opened for business Wednesday morning. So well did the robbers muffle the sound of the explosion which wrecked the safe that persons sleeping in a building fifty feet distant were not awakened.

Railway Receiver Names Counsel.

Federal Judge Mayer yesterday authorized Job E. Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, to retain the law firm of Winthrop & Stimson as his counsel in the receivership proceedings. All legal questions connected with the operation of the surface lines will be submitted to the counsel for adjustment, and all orders for action by the court will be prepared by them.

PETER B. OLNEY,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Contracts were signed yesterday by Mme. Caroline Genet, who was housekeeper for the late J. P. Morgan, to purchase the Clarenden, a ten-story apartment hotel on the northwest corner of Fifty-eighth Street and Park Avenue.

The structure, which occupies a plot 50.5 by 100 feet, was sold by the United States Trust Company as trustee for the late David H. King, Jr., from whom Mme. Genet leased the property about eight years ago.

It was built about thirteen years ago, and was held at about $400,000.

High-Class Private Dwellings Being Altered Into Apartments.

S. A. Fatman sold to an investing client of Douglas L. Elliman & Co. 45 East Sixty-third Street, a four-story and basement private dwelling on a lot 16 by 100. It will be altered into small apartments at once by the buyer. This is the seventh private dwelling in the Sixties that has been sold by the same brokers for remodeling into apartments during the last four months.

$750,000 Deal in Cathedral Parkway Section.

A. Milton Napier, as President of the Southern Holding Company, sold the Louisiana, Illinois, and Michigan, three eight-story elevator apartments, held at $750,000, and renting for over $120,000, at 507, 511, and 517 West 113th Street, between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway, through James E. Barry of Knap & Wasson, and O'Reilly & Dahn. The houses, which were built by Paterno Brothers, occupy a plot 200 by 100, two of them having a frontage of 75 feet and the other of 50 feet. Henry B. Hammond represented the purchaser as attorney, and McLaughlin & Stern acted for the sellers.

Morgenstern Brothers Buy Regent Court.

The Morgenstern Brothers Syndicate bought Regent Court, a six-story elevator apartment on plot 105 by 100.11, held at $250,000 and renting for $35,000, at 125 to 135 West 111th Street, from the Surety Realty Company, S. H. Stone, President.

H. J. Kantrowitz was the broker in the deal. The property was taken over by the sellers in foreclosure proceedings against the builder, and has been held free of mortgage.

The same syndicate resold the five-story apartment house on plot 80 by 100, held at $95,000 and renting for $15,000, at 894 Beck Street, through Schoen & Weiss Company.

Buys Iradell Apartments.

The Rockville Holding Company, Charles Kimmelman, President, bought the Iradell, a six-story elevator apartment on plot 115 by 100, renting for $37,000, at 420 West 119th Street, from the Ira Realty Company through William S. Baker. Samuel Wacht, Jr., represented the purchasers as attorney.

Institution Sells Holding.

The Home for Incurables sold the seven-story elevator apartment house, held at $75,000, at 338 and 340 East Fifteenth Street, which it acquired through foreclosure proceedings last November, to a client of the Wagner Realty Company.

Heights Apartments Resold.

Dr. W. Spiro bought from Joseph Schwartz the five-story apartment on plot 75 by 100, held at $125,000 and renting for $16,000, at the northwest corner of Northern Avenue and 179th Street, M. I. Strunsky, through whom the seller recently acquired the property, negotiated the deal.

Isaac Portman, resold to Frederick Brown, operator, the Rockforest apartment on the southeast corner of 171st Street and Fort Washington Avenue. J. Scott negotiated the sale of the property to I. Portman.

Private Dwelling Buyers.

The two private residences at 554 and 556 West 182nd Street were sold to a client of Charles M. Anderson and A. Van Deventer. The purchaser was compelled to buy the two houses in order to get one for his own occupancy and will resell the other at once.

The four-story and basement dwelling at 159 West 136th Street was sold to an investing client of Albert H. Stout.

The three-story and basement brownstone dwelling, 18 by 45 by 100.11 feet, at 324 East 124th Street was bought by an investing client of Shaw & Co.

Downtown Lofts Sold.

Willie Wilkstrom sold the seven-story loft building on lot 25 by 68 at 97 Crosby Street, between Spring and Prince Streets to an investor.

The Franklin Building Company sold the five-story store and loft building, 25 by 75.10, assessed at $45,000, at 117 Chambers Street, through William H. Whitney & Co.

The Grohman Realty Company, Inc., operators, bought the loft on lot 20 by 80 feet, at 148 Spring Street, form Edith Witt for $25,000, through M. Cohen. Elwood J. Harlam, attorney, represented the purchaser.

Tenth Avenue Plot Sold.

The estate of Thomas Stokes sold the plot of seven lots, 100 by 75, at the southeast corner of Tenth Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street to a client of William A. White & Sons, who will make permanent improvements at once.

Tenement Deals.

Jetty Dall sold the five-story tenement at 240 West Sixty-third Street to William Kreisberg through Chr. Volzing & Son, Inc.

Nathan Halperin resold the four-story single flat at 216 East Thirty-ninth Street to Dr. J. Cudmore through Henry Hof.

Albert Rosenblatt sold 96 Orchard Street, 26 by 88.6, and 97 Orchard Street, 24.10 by 88.6, two five-story tenements, to the M. R. Helpern Realty Company, Inc. It was a cash transaction.

The Village Realty Company sold the five-story building with store, on lot 19 by 81, at 800 Bleecker Street, to a client of Van Vliet & Place.

The Bronx Market.

Joseph Glass bought from G. Steinmuller the four-story brick dwelling, on plot 16.8 by 100, at 454 East 138th Street, through E. M. Phelps.

The two-family brick house, on lot 25 by 100, at 1,215 Gilbert Place, near Hunts Point Avenue, was bought by a Miss Silberstein through Samuel Cowen.

Frederick Brown sold the two five-story apartment houses, on plot 100 by 60, renting for $10,000, at 425 and 429 East 161st Street, to Charles Kroetz. In part payment the buyer gave six lots on Moshulu Parkway between Fieldstone Road and Newton Avenue, Riverdale.

Leonard Weill bought from the 152d Street Construction Company the five-story new-law apartment house, on plot 42 by 100, held at $45,000 and renting for $7,000, at 1,285 Brook Avenue, through J. Roberts.

Otto C. Hupfel sold 4,308 Martha Avenue, southeast corner of 230th Street, to Gustave Schwenk, and 4,306 to Robert D. Clark, two dwellings, each on a lot 25 by 100.

Brooklyn.

H. Danneman sold the four-story duplex, on lot 20 by 100, at 254 Brooklyn Avenue, between Sterling and St. John's Place, held at $15,000, to a client of Bulkley & Horton.

A. Miller sold the property at 1,437 Thirty-sixth Street to a client of A. Q. Orza.

Queens Borough Sales.

R. M. Rhoads sold a dwelling, on plot 40 by 100, on the south side of Norwich Avenue, Jamaica, L. I., to William E. Keys, for immediate occupancy. The Stanley Agency negotiated the sale.

Theodore Taylor bought the dwelling, on plot 40 by 100, at 83 North Thirty-first Street, Flushing, from Pease Brothers through J. Albert Johntra.

The Klemt Realty Company of the Bronx purchased a plot, 100 by 100, with frontages on Paynter Avenue and William Street, Long Island City, in the industrial zone adjacent to the Queensboro Bridge Plaza. The sellers were E. McParlan and S. Fowler.

E. Keet purchased from J. E. Watts a plot, 100 by 114, at the northeast corner of Bergen and Shelton Avenues, Jamaica.

The Emerson Construction Company purchased from B. Miller a plot, 61 by 90, at the northwest corner of Emerson and Queens Avenues, Elmhurst.

Suburban Sales.

Captain T. H. Leary bought from S. F. Rothschild a country place, consisting of twelve acres, with modern house and outbuildings, gardens, and water front with yacht landing, situated between the Belmont and Havemeyer estates at Bay Shore, L. I. The property, which cost the purchaser about $125,000, was sold through Jeremiah Robbins.

Dr. Jackson M. Mills bought Brookside Homestead, on the Boston Post Road and Richards Avenue, Darien, Conn., consisting of fourteen acres, with modern dwelling, from L. Walter Lissberger, who purchased the property last year at a voluntary auction sale conducted by Arthur C. Sheridan.

Baker Crowell, Inc., sold for Edwin W. Willets his estate situated at Roslyn, L. I., consisting of eighteen acres, with stucco house, barns, stable, garage, &c., to Dr. Mozart Monae-Lesser of Manhattan.

The Seward estate at Montrose Point, Westchester County, N. Y., consisting of fifty acres of developed water-front property, with residence and outbuildings, was sold by Frederick Brown to Adolph Pricken through George Howe and the Charles F. Noyes Company.

Recent Buyers.

Caroline King is the buyer of the dwelling 828 West Seventy-first Street.

Bing & Bing, operators and builders, are the buyers of the dwelling 36 East Sixtieth Street.

The recently formed Amerigus Realty Corporation is the buyer of the sixteen-story Hudson Building at 32 Broadway, sold recently by the Mutual Life Insurance Company. The incorporators of the new company, which is capitalized at $500,000, are A. Bragadin, A. L. Hillyard, and W. Heerdt.

Charles Hensle, builder and operator, is the buyer of Florence Court, a seven-story apartment house, at 47 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn.

ALDERMEN AROUSED BY MAYOR'S LETTER

President Moran to Seek Legal Advice on Stopping Seditious Meetings of Aliens.

NEW ORDINANCE PLANNED

More Bolshevism Here Than Many Realize, Says Zettler—Lee Questions Hylan's Sincerity.

Keen interest was displayed at the City Hall yesterday over Mayor Hylan's letter to Robert L. Moran, President of the Board of Aldermen, in which the Mayor urged Mr. Moran to take some action to restrain aliens from holding mass meeting here, in which foreign languages are spoken, for the purpose of abusing the American Government. Mr. Moran said he would lay the Mayor's letter before the board at its meeting next Tuesday.

"I can't say, of course, what action the board will take on the Mayor's letter," said Mr. Moran, "but I intend to lay it before them on Tuesday, and I am certain some action will result. It will probably be referred to the Committee on General Welfare, and that committee will seek the aid of the Corporation Counsel to tell us just what power we have to act in the case. There is a question of obeying the Constitution, you know, before we pass ordinances regarding the right of people to hold meetings.

"You will note, of course, that the Mayor refers in his letter to aliens, and I do not know whether or not there is anything under our law or in the Constitution to permit people who are not citizens to get together and abuse the country they have adopted out of personal inclination, and to whose shores they have come to take advantage of the very institutions they seem to dislike. It may be we will find that the police have power to deal with the situation.

"It may be we will have to call on the State Legislature for aid, although I don't think that will be necessary. At any rate, the only thing to be done will be to wait until the Committee on General Welfare goes over the entire business."

Aldermen Agree with Him.

In his letter the Mayor spoke of some of the aliens who have been conducting meetings here as "the wild, crazy people who in every land, deluding themselves and others that they are apostles of liberty, preach murder and destruction as a quick remedy for all the economic shortcomings of the human race." From what they said yesterday it seems that the majority of the Aldermen other than the Socialists agree with him.

Alderman William P. Kenneally, majority leader of the board, said he intended to introduce an ordinance on Tuesday which would hold owners and lessees of buildings and halls responsible for seditious remarks in foreign language or in English made at meetings in them.

"I have absolutely no sympathy with Bolshevism or Bolsheviki," said Alderman Kenneally. "I don't care where they come from or how intelligent they may be. And let me say in this connection, I despise an American Bolshevik just as much as I do an alien Bolshevik. I would like to see every one of these aliens who have been abusing our country's hospitality by preaching anarchy and sedition sent straight back to where they came from. Aside from their ingratitude, I think they are a positive menace to our nation.

"Why, just the other day when a woman, one of the audience at one of these meetings, appealed to the speaker because one of the attendants at the hall had requested her not to be disorderly, she was told by the speaker to bring a long hatpin with her the next time and stab any man that tried to make her be orderly and quiet. When a speaker begins to preach like that, it seems to me we ought to stop him.

Alderman Charles A. Post, Republican, said he was emphatically in favor of some such ordinance as the Mayor suggested.

"Why, I have listened to those street orators speaking in English," he said, "and I tell you they don't believe in anything. 'Whatever is is wrong,' seems to be their motto. They preach against God and against organized Government, and the only remedy they offer is violence. I hope we can do something to curb them, and I am emphatically in favor of taking action."

Agitators Professional, Says O'Rourke.

Alderman John J. O'Rourke said he hoped that action would be taken to stamp out every trace of Bolshevism in New York, whether preached in English or in a foreign tongue, and whether preached by American or alien. He declared that through the efforts of the professional agitators, in the thing for money, Bolshevism was growing in New York.

Alderman Louis J. Zettler, who is said to be closer to the Mayor than any other member of the board, said that he hoped the abuse of the Government in Bolshevist meetings in this country would be stopped because of its bad effect on children around the ages of 12 and 14 who were attending them.

Alderman Algernon Lee, Socialist leader of the board, took an opposite view. He said:

"No one will suspect Mr. Hylan of being a very intelligent or well-informed person. We must not hold him to too high a standard of responsibility for his utterances, but even he must know that the statements contained in his letter to President Moran are without foundation. I confidently challenge him to name a few—even half a dozen—of the aliens whom he alleges are 'preaching murder and sedition.' He cannot do it. He knows that his sweeping accusations are false.

BARON VON ROSEN HERE.

Former Ambassador from Russia Indorses Wilson's Peace Views.

Baron Roman von Rosen, Russian Ambassador to the United States from 1905 to 1911, arrived here yesterday with his wife and daughter on the Swedish-American steamship Stockholm, which left Gothenburg on March 22. He went directly to the Hotel Netherland.

Baron von Rosen said that last May, apprehensive that he and his family might be molested by the Bolsheviki, he went from Petrograd to Murmansk. There the British authorities offered him the use of a small vessel, and on this he and his family made the voyage to Sweden, where they have resided ever since. He said he was in thorough accord with the views of President Wilson in the peace negotiations and expressed the hope that the negotiations would be brought to an early conclusion. He paid tribute to Ira Nelson Morris, United States Minister to Sweden.

Sylvester Rothschild of Lexington, Ky., American Vice Consul at Gothenburg, said that there was no fear of Bolshevism taking hold in Sweden because conditions did not warrant unrest.

Drys Fight Referendum in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 3.—George S. Hawke, a Cincinnati attorney and Anti-Saloon League leader, filed suit in the Franklin County Common Pleas Court today to enjoin Harvey C. Smith, Secretary of State, from submitting to a vote of the people a referendum on the resolution adopted by the Ohio General Assembly ratifying the national prohibition amendment. Hawke in his suit contends that thirty-five other States having ratified the Federal amendment and the result having been once announced by the Secretary of State at Washington, no State can now reconsider its action on this amendment.

Weinstock on Prison Commission.

ALBANY, April 3.—Leon C. Weinstock of New York City was nominated as a member of the State Commission of Prisons by Governor Smith today. The nomination was confirmed immediately upon receipt by the Senate, as Mr. Weinstock was formerly a member of the commission. He succeeds Frank E. Wade of Buffalo.

France Permits Entry of Our Cotton

PARIS, April 3.—A decree has been issued authorizing the importation of cotton from the United States.

DEBS MAKES LAST APPEAL.

Application for Respite Is Received at White House.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Application for a respite preliminary to a petition for pardon of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist leader, sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for violation of the Espionage act, has been received at the White House and will be referred to Attorney General Palmer.

The request is signed by Frank P. Walsh, Charles Edward Russell, and Alan Benson. It has not been brought to the attention of President Wilson, it was learned today, but the Attorney General has been advised of its receipt.

The Entire Lot at One Price—
Regulars, Longs, Shorts, Stouts. In Sack and Newest Waistline Models. Sizes 32 to 48.

That we have marshalled such a vast and varied aggregation of new Spring Suits—every last one of them made to sell for no less than $25, and some as high as $30—all at the one flat price of $18.50, right at the beginning of the season, is a glowing tribute to the GEORGES idea, which has developed a business of its size second to none of its kind in these United States.

If it were not for the enormous outlet we offer to 40 of the leading makers of nationally advertised clothes—if it were not for the tremendous economies we have effected in rent, window trimming expenses and managerial costs over our 3 former ground floor shops in Greater New York—such a Sale as this would be out of the question, an absolute impossibility.

In order to celebrate the first anniversary of this mammoth enterprise, we determined to forego our own margin of profit and to ask these 40 makers to do likewise. They consented to do so for this special occasion. It is a huge collection of fine Suits we have succeeded in bringing together for this extraordinary Sale, which is now in full swing. Don't fail to come. The savings are too magnificent to overlook.
